Dear Folks:

Just a line to let you know that I'm O.K. Was out last nite with Cliff, Bert, and Stastny, and Harry showed us the prize hot-spots of his town, which were pretty nice, except we had to get in early.

It's good to finally get down to the real type of work we were only marking time for in England and France. I think I'll like it, as I do my new officers and buddies. Right now the living conditions aren't bad, and a real bed and mattress and dishes to eat out of are a real treat. Lastly, no more KP to worry about.

The weather isn't too good, but it's at least warm, and not raining.

With this change of address the main bad thing is that it'll take my mail 7-10 days to be re-addressed and catch up with me. But when it arrives there'll be a lot of it.

Got a few things to do now,
So will close.
Love, Bob
