Classes Move Into West Wing
Next Semester
by Jim McGovern
Though outward signs of restoration are few, the west wing of Kettel Hall will be ready in the fall for U.S. Faculty and staff members will have time to move into the rooms first to prepare the student.

Plastered walls probably will not be painted by that time, but work will be completed on the west wing, new lights, blackboards, doors, floors, and laboratories are in will be installed shortly.

Though the north section is sealed and painted, will not be changed in appearance, except that the west end of the new ceilings will be blocked off.

Exterior Change
Kekic will continue to look much the same outside. The only major exterior change in the area, which is the opening of the center of the building to simplify passage of students to quadrangle towards the gymnasium.

The ramp will lead directly to the west side of the building, the west across the hall to entrance.

Work on these more interior additions will be done along with work in the east wing of Kekic.

Plans show that all on three fives the projecting elf will be done, and the west section of the classrooms. New corridors will eliminate the need of going out-

Language Lab
In addition to classrooms and lecture rooms will be a large language lab area furnished with audio equipment, a well-equipped reading and listening room is planned for the third floor of the hall.

An attic in each wing will make the building more comfortable.

New forsyrew staircases in each wing. The staircases will be Kekic such as and make its more accessible. Each of the staircases will be used by students while construction is still in progress.

Greek Girl To Get Sewing Machine Via Save-The-Children Federation

A sewing machine for Theodora Mihalis, the 17-year-old Greek girl sponsored by the WSGA through the Save-the-Children Federation, was visited by former Dean of Women, Marjory S. Gold, of the Hopkins Graduate School, of Greece last summer.

Fund Start

Imposed by Theodora’s sewing ability, Mrs. Gold has started a fund to purchase a machine which will enable her to contribute to the support of her mother and sister. The following excerpts are from the letter dated Aug. 14, ’54: My dearest Sponsor: We are all very well and hope you are well too . . .

There used to be a saying, “Put Christ back into Christmas,” I guess that’s been abandoned, for Commercial Xmas is up on again. Yes, it’s that part of the year when to calculate in spending days until Xmas. The lands of the American people should be reflected in the happiness and tranquility of the read. In that case, Xmas means the gifted gift that establishes $106.00, home is abundance and ride for a holiday for Navaz. Newhilly, of course, has tried them to the situation that has discovered Christ. He’s done needs for them in return. He’s made them into more, he behaves, according to Time, He’s “big hot boss.” Since there is fear of our temperature, my dear brother: Xmas lights are going to get us all long enough to encourage bigger happiness. I guess I’ll wish you a Happy Xmas.

The case for doing what we can, where we are: It was Teddy Roosevelt who urged his supporters to “do as we see it, do as we can, as we can.” People are rarely called upon to be heroes in a problem, but always, or usually, by it some distance—partly because the distance is far to make the problem unanswerable.

Interviewing Bow

This congressional district, this county, these towns are great cases in point. The Fosse had the fortune to be able to interview Congressman Frank T. Bow when he was here on an interview. They were able to disagree, on most things without hurting each other, disapprovingly, nevertheless we disagreed. There are many others in this congressional district who can agree with you too, but on a slight day they do not agree with any meaningful alternatives, in any system this is a bad thing in a democracy this is a tragedy. Incidentally, to those of us of particular inclinations, Mr. Bow’s propensity to “act” and be answerable to the people when they demand.

Two the night before vacation, and all through the damp of sleep I kept warm. The stockings were stowed by the door with care. So he has little bed into a feather. The guys were sealed up all their beds. With visions of the party still clinging their heads. We started back. To enjoy but another short winter’s sleep.

When out the court there anon such a clatter— I spring from my bed as was the matter. With the ire— I fear a flash. And tripped off the footstool as I reached for the shack. As I looked out the window, the main lit the scene Of half exiled snow and outdoors snows. When in my wondering eyes should come clear But a huge pile of gnomery stacked very sure! walking about it a quiet little man With a white hat on his head and a sign in his hand. He was dressed all warm for the cool weather; But in his little bed he poured a feeder. There at his side stood his tools in a stack: He looked like a picker jack opening his pack. His eyes found me quickly, he laughed in my face. And as he addressed him, his forehead wrinkled.

The last descents I have down already know I’m known to be a man of conciliating feelings. He laughed and he joked as he talked for a minute. And his features were drawn wide with a happy smile. "Well, the shiloh’s all over; the decoration’s done; You’re a Christmas to go to; but—"Happen I haven’t finished my work as you pack for holliday." He turned the gnomery tight as another day, at another place. Is it the ‘fence black’ communications system so impacted that the need is for ever constant reasoning? If not, by the weather, Bob Reiver

Tankmen Place Third In Conference Relays

The Scot swimmers did "a commendable job" as they placed third at the seventh annual Ohio Conference Swimming Relays, according to Coach John Swigert. The tankmen moved from their fourth position from last year's six.

Kenyon and Ohio Wesleyan swam away with 91 and 87 points, respectively. Wooster finished up 60 points to outsprint Wittenberg 59, Alfred 55, Mount Union 49, Marietta 44, Oberlin 36, Case 34, Otterbein's 22, Muskingum's 21 and Hiram 17.

Place in Six

Wooster placed in six of the nine meets of the season in the 500-yard freestyle and were identical in the 100-yard backstroke. Since they have not defeated the Scots in seven years, they may be the ones to watch in the driving competition.

Clint Schoen and Frank Little, both seniors, along with sophomore Jim Pipa and junior Eamonn in the 200-yard medley, the 500-yard medley and the 200-yard freestyle, placed third with a time of 2:16.31.

Third in Medley

Another third place came in the 400-yard medley. In this three-man event, Dave Shuster, Dave and Hank Swab streaked this stroke, the Pipers' stroke, with the Wooster medley team of 2:32.61.

Meet Case Next

With the swimming season over and winter meet next, the boys meet with Case on Dec. 14. This is the Dec. 14 meet with Muskingum. The first home meet is with Muskingum Jan. 9.
