Business Man

Gives Lecture on Economics

Prof. Richard Ellis will lecture on "The Changing Productivity of the Business Man" in the Chapel Monday, March 13. Mr. Ellis is currently president of the Baltimore Pamper, a corporation of employees and freedom of speech for company employees. Mr. Ellis helped the study group grow eight years ago and has been a leader of the movement for economic and political reform for over 15 years.

The cancellation of the Student Government's "Annual Spring Conference" last week was due to a small student protest against the small influence of the Student Union and the Student Government in the Student Body. The cancellation of the conference was due to the student protest and the need for a change in the student government.

The conference was to be held on April 15 at 11:30 A.M. and was to feature a discussion of the current state of the Student Union and the Student Government, as well as a presentation by a former student president. The conference was to be held in the Student Union Building.

The cancellation of the conference was due to the student protest and the need for a change in the student government.

Editor's Note: As a reminder to our readers: the opinions expressed by our columnists are their own and they are responsible for their own writing. (Serendipity [end of third line] is William Lange, also author of the micrograph小说 short stories that we have been featuring.)

To the Editor:

We would like to mention to pass on our stripes the honourable system, and disparaged if there wasn't some feller there apsoom pass out papers if you is. The persom what is there was. Matter of fact, if you'll how to call a spade a spade, they was the Wooster For Fort Wayne.

Now, that air blood up our right away, and was on natural enough. I guess, I'd high enough, can't miss it or how come didn't get over every bastard's face. Don't got to go.

Chadli Milk Money

The time has come to us! —who's a-pity for this piece of goodness to you, that's a case of milk money, has the sight of sight of milk powder to pay for the paper, or the pot, or the dandy, or the diary, or the penny, or the potato, or the potato pie. All together, or all by ourselves, or all at once. Or all at once.

Suggest, as somebody asks you, "how low can it go? How low can it go? How low can it go?"

What I mean is that when you buy milk, you don't expect the power of the Wooster come out your pocket. You pay that. I pay that. You do that. And as, whatever the prettiest idea of a few honourable men, you put that in your pocket, you've shoved your milk this week.

Before Election

This time around, the voters' begins, as it doesn't make no sense to wash the same water in the same bottle. The old "blooded" notion.

But one thing does make a mighty difference, a mighty difference to what's going up wind in the hill for "type", print in "setters."

No sir, it don't make the least bit of difference what the question is, them fellers got no right to submit that question. It's their all their ideas is twice or three times as good as our farm laws.

The waitresses, for example, were dressed in long white dresses at American drive-in restaurants, there was real American white bread, and the familiar ketchup and sauerkraut were offered by waiters.

The bread, incidentally, caused complaints from some customers, because the texture differed from the rolls in the bread. Time to the business of the country, the main course centered around hamburgers and "instant" coffee.

DISHONORABLE PRACTICES

I find it difficult, however, to reconcile the honourable intentions of the men who urge it, with their proposed means. At one time, the opposition party worked under the principle that the honor code was the key to their campaign.

One Viewpoint

In the Friday chapel program before the voting on Monday, there were two speakers who spoke in favor of the honor system, but only one who opposed it. Why? In the view of the student association, there are few opportunities for expression, and that was enough for us to view

Right to Publish?

I also ask by right the Wooster Voice and all newspapers in the honor system. The student association has no right whatever to take sides in an argument. It is a publication paid for by the students, written by the students for the students. Therefore it must be unbiased and represent all views objectively and fairly. It is a public right.

Anyway, the Wooster Voice is an even more important institution to us than the honor system. The purpose of the Wooster Voice is to know its position and to discred...
Track Outlook Brightens; Place Fifth In OAC Meet

The Wooster track team showed unexpected strength to place fifth in the Ohio Conference Indoor Track Meet last Saturday at DePauw.

Head Coach Carl Mindl had feared that, with the smallest number out since 1922 and the athletes who had worked hard, the Scott foot-sooters might be headed towards the cellar of the league.

Defending Champions
Wooster entered the meet as defending champions, trailed four places back in field position with 4541, Kenyon with 2051, Middletown with 24 and Mt. Union with 28.

The Scott tied with host DePauw for 19 while Ohio Wesleyan, Amoson and Oberlin each had 16, Ohio to four and Blinn 251 and Heidelberg 257.

The meet scored 7 out of 15 events. Senior John Harley semored the only Wooster first place when he ran the 440 in 5:19. This was a surprising time in the preliminaries, however.

Harriet Outstanding Junior Art Harriet took part in four of the events that the Scott placed and won in the broad jump with a marked second in the field events.

The Scott again journey to Division three where they will take part in the Livestrong relay.

This meet is attended by athletes larger than those in the OAC.

Lansky Runner-Up

in NCAA Matches

Sophomore Ted Lansky, Ohio State Conference 130-pound wrestling champion, came within two points of winning the NCAA small college 130-pound championship, losing 6-3 to Bob Cox of the University of Chicago in the final round.

The loss was only the second in Lansky's career, the first coming in the final match of last year's OAC championship.

Lansky drew a bye in the first round of the small college meet and took two wins and defeated Waverly of Ball State, 11-6, to move on to the finals.

In the final of the first round March, Cox managed an escape and a take down on Lansky and a take down in the second round. Lansky countered with an escape and a take down in the third round but was unable to score a pin.

Faculty Committee Suggests Changes

The faculty committee on ad-ministerative standards has recommended revisions of the "X" and "Z" grades and that any change in course after the first two weeks of a semester be subject to a $20 fine.

The "X" grade, which signifies final exam not taken, would be marked plus or minus depending upon whether the student is passing or failing the course at the time of the exam.

If investigation reveals a valid reason for missing the exam, arrangements for taking a final exam would be made immediately by the student.

The "X" or "Z" grade must be changed to a regular grade by the end of the fourth week of the following semester.

The "W" grade, which signifies withdrawal from a course, would be marked with a "P" if the student withdraws during the first four weeks and has been doing passing work.

An "F" will accompany the "W" if the student withdraws after four weeks or if his work during the first four weeks has not been passing.

Betsy Gould To Go

To Hebrew School

It all began in the Tuscany mountains with Betsy Gould's enthusiasm for folk music.

In June, a scholarship will send her to the center of her favorite culture at Jerusalem's Hebrew University.

Setting out with her guitar, a portable tape recorder and all the Hebrew she can learn between now and then, sophomore Betsy will spend a year in Israel.

Arriving in time for the upcoming, the University's summer session, she will study Hebrew 30 hours a week. In addition, she hopes to spend a week working in a kibbutz, one of the Hebrew labor conservatories of Eretz Israel.

During the academic year, Betsy will be taking 14 hours of Jewish related studies, 10 hours of other subjects and her Wooster 1-5.

A history major, she will write first political-social, then cultural aspects, of the kibbutz mainly from primary sources.

Although she hopes to live in a dormitory, Betsy will be completely independent in Jerusalem as exchange student's organizations being strictly academic.

This semester Betsy has been taking advantage of the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Menahem Lass, Wooster's new student couple from Israel.

Before giving her firsthand information about the University and the country, they have been helping her with some modern Hebrew.

Betsy is looking forward to having a whole new repertoire of Jewish folk songs by this time next year.

How would you forecast your next few years?

Today, the young man planning his life realizes that he never before that in today's world future is tied inevitably to America's success.

How can he serve both?

Many college graduates, both men and women, are looking for rewarding careers on the Aerospateam - as officers in the U.S. Air Force. Here is a career that is compelling in its challenge and opportunity. And it is a way of life that holds the unmeasurable satisfactions that come with service to country.

As a college student, how can you become an Air Force Officer?

If you have not completed Air Force ROTC, Officer Training School provides an opportunity to qualify for a variety of enlisted positions in the Aerospace Age. A graduate of this three-month course earns a commission as a second lieutenant. Also open to college men is the Navigator Training program.

Museum Exhibits Chinese Paintings;
Spans 2,000 Year Period

"A History of Chinese Painting," a unique collection of 60 life-sized reproductions of important works from the period of the Song Dynasty, will be displayed in the University Museum until April 9.

The paintings and rubbings on display cover a span of 2,000 years from the Han dynasty in the 2nd century B.C. to the Ming dynasty in modern times.

Some outstanding prints are the delicate ink brush portraits of the Ming dynasty, with exquisite boars and monkeys. There are also polychrome prints of the Han dynasty and realistic portraits of the Ming dynasty.
