Symphony Closes '42 Co-op Series

Senior Students Balloon, Fissell, and Parmelee To Play Solos

By GRACE OHKI
The Wooster Symphony Orchestra, now in its twenty-sixth year, will present the last in the season's series of Cooperative concerts, Wednesday, Apr. 22 in Westminster Chapel. The concert will begin at 8:00 P.M., under the direction of Prof. Dan Parmelee.

The orchestra, this year an 85 piece organization, will open the program with the "Carnival Overture" by Dvorak. Scored for full modern symphony, it injects into the mixture of wild mirth and boisterous gaiety, which reigns throughout, romantic strains of straying loves.

Orchestra Plays Two Movements

Following the overture, the orchestra will play two movements from the "Classical Symphony" by the Russian modernist, Prokofeff. Says Boris Asafiev to whom the composition is dedicated: "The composer's idea in writing the work was to catch the spirit of Mozart and to put down that, which if he were living now, he might write. This he does with a degree of sophistication which might lead one to believe that he had his tongue in his cheek when he created it."

Of the three Senior music students who will appear on the program, Mary Balloon, a pupil of Mrs. Clarice Parmelee, will play the first movement of Tchaikowski's familiar piano concerto in B flat minor.

Two Soloists

Also as soloists, the orchestra will present William Fissell and Paul Parmelee, honoring them for their years of service to the organization. Fissell, who has been a member of the orchestra for six years, has been studying under Wallace Franks and will be heard in a trumpet solo, Rossini's "Inflammatus," one of the few great compositions written for this instrument. In the less florid vein, it is filled with dignity and power.

Parmelee, a tenor soloist and pupil of Miss Eve Richmond, has been with the group for eight years as a member of the cello section. His vocal interpretation of a Strauss favorite last year with the orchestra had great popular appeal. His selection for this concert is "Rudolf's Narrative," one of the most well-liked arias from the opera "La Boheme" by Puccini, an aria made famous by Martinelli.

As a recital of honors' work in both orchestration and conducting, Jean White, also a senior, will direct the first public presentation of her group (Continued on Page 4)

Eight Students Play In '42 Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament

Wooster College will be represented by a team of eight in the nation-wide Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament this year, which is being conducted entirely by mail between Apr. 20 and 24, 1942. National sponsor for the tournament is the Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament committee of New York, while the local "game captain" in charge of play will be Bill Orwick.

Red Cross Gets Check

First prize this year will be a check for $100 made out to the American Red Cross, which the winning team will have the honor of presenting to its local chapter. Small individual cups will also be awarded, however, as well as the permanent Intercollegiate Challenge Cup, which will go to the winning pair. The challenge cup was won by Harvard in 1941 and by Radcliffe in 1940.

Teams Play Same Hands

All colleges will play the same hands in the tournament, with scores sent in to the New York committee for scoring and national ranking. Scoring is done by the "par" system of bridge competition, so that a pair's ranking will be unaffected by the bidding or play of its opponents.

Comprising the Wooster team in the tournament are the following undergraduates: Bill Devitt and Wilfred Osberg, Max Denton and Tom Cortelyou, Howard Webb and Ed Merkel, and Dick Crandall and John Strahan.

Big Four Gives Movie Proceeds To Aid Draftees

As a climax to its year's activities, the Big Four will sponsor a movie, "The Vanishing Virginian" at Schine's Wooster theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, Apr. 28 and 29.

This project is being carried out in cooperation with the American Bible society for the purpose of raising money to buy religious literature for the men in service. In launching its recent campaign on campuses all over the nation, the American Bible society has appealed to Wooster college for a $2000 contribution. Realizing that it would be impossible to raise

BIG FOUR ELECTION

The election for president of the Big Four will be held April 23.

this sum at the present time, the Big Four undertook the sponsorship of the movie in order to contribute some amount to this worthy cause.

Students Take Part

Students who see the picture will not only have the satisfaction of knowing that they are taking part in a worth while venture, but they will also enjoy an exceedingly entertaining movie of unusually high calibre. "The Vanishing Virginian" was adapted from the book of the same name which was a recent best seller and concerns the life and homely every day existence of a lovable, southern family.

With a cast including Frank Morgan as the domineering, soft-hearted old Virginia colonel and head of the family; Spring Byington, the sweet, understanding mother; and Virginia Grayson, Mickey Rooney's former sweetheart in the "Andy Hardy" series, as the center of love interest, the picture has been surprising critics and movie goers everywhere who have given it unusually high recommendations.

Big Four Committee

Sarah Jean Ferguson, Mary Smucker, and George Mulder comprise the Big Four committee responsible for the promotion of the project. Tickets will sell for regular box office prices and may be obtained from representatives in all the dormitories next week, or in Kaue entrance Friday, Apr. 24, and Monday, Apr. 27, from 1:30 to 4 in the afternoon. Stype's drug store will handle the sale of tickets for the downtown area.

Six Music Students Give Spring Recital

Six music students are scheduled to give special recitals before the present college semester closes in May.

Eileen Palmer and Priscilla Hughes, juniors, will each give vocal programs. The date of Eileen's recital is not yet definite, but it will be in the Conservatory sometime within the fortnight. Priscilla will give her program on Tuesday, April 28, in the chapel.

Other recitals set for the first week in May are: Friday, May 1, Naomi Jury on the piano; Monday, May 4, Mary Balloon on the piano; Tuesday, May 5, Pauleen Smith on the violin; and Wednesday, May 6, Bill Fissell on the trumpet.

Sometime during exam week there will be a program given by all senior music students and those juniors who have done outstanding work toward a degree in music.

Chorus Presents Secular Concert, Features Opera

Under the direction of Eve Roine Richmond the Girls' Glee Club will present its annual concert in the chapel, Thursday evening, Apr. 16.

This year the club will undertake a group of Grand Opera selections including the "Love Duet" from "Madame Butterfly" by Puccini. Following this is the well-known "Bell Song" from "Lakme" by Saint Saens sung by Virginia Witzler. Paul Parmelee and Martha Milburn will sing an aria and scene from "Samson and Delilah". The climax of this group will be the "Quartet" from "Rigoletto" by Verdi, with Virginia Witzler, Martha Milburn, Paul Parmelee, and James Rowe.

Probably the most colorful and spectacular number of the evening will be the singing of "The Slave's Dream", one of Longfellow's ballads set to music, by Matthew. The solo parts will be taken by Priscilla Hughes.

Another feature of the program will be the singing of several numbers from the famous Gilbert and Sullivan light operas. These are "Braid the Raven Hair" from "The Mikado" with Gloria Spencer singing the solo, "Gaily Tripping" from "Pinafore", "List and Learn" and "Dance a Cachuca" from "The Gondoliers" with Jean Stratton as soloist in the latter one.

According to Miss Richmond the girls have worked long and patiently to make this program one of the outstanding events of the year and they deserve much praise for the results they have obtained.

Classes Will Elect Officers; Petitioning Forms Due Monday

Class officers for next year will be elected on Thursday, Apr. 23.

Don Coates and John Smeltz of the class of '44 have been nominated for president. "Scotty" McIntyre and Margaret Gibbons are running for vice-president. Bill Bingaman has been nominated for treasurer, and "Dutch" Alsberg for secretary.

Petitions for officers for the class of 1945 include: "Hank" Rutledge, president; Ned Shreffler, treasurer; Pat Kline, secretary.

This year's junior class has been slow in starting petitions. Theirs and others will be circulated.

The petitions must be handed in before chapel on Monday, Apr. 20. Primaries will be held Tuesday.

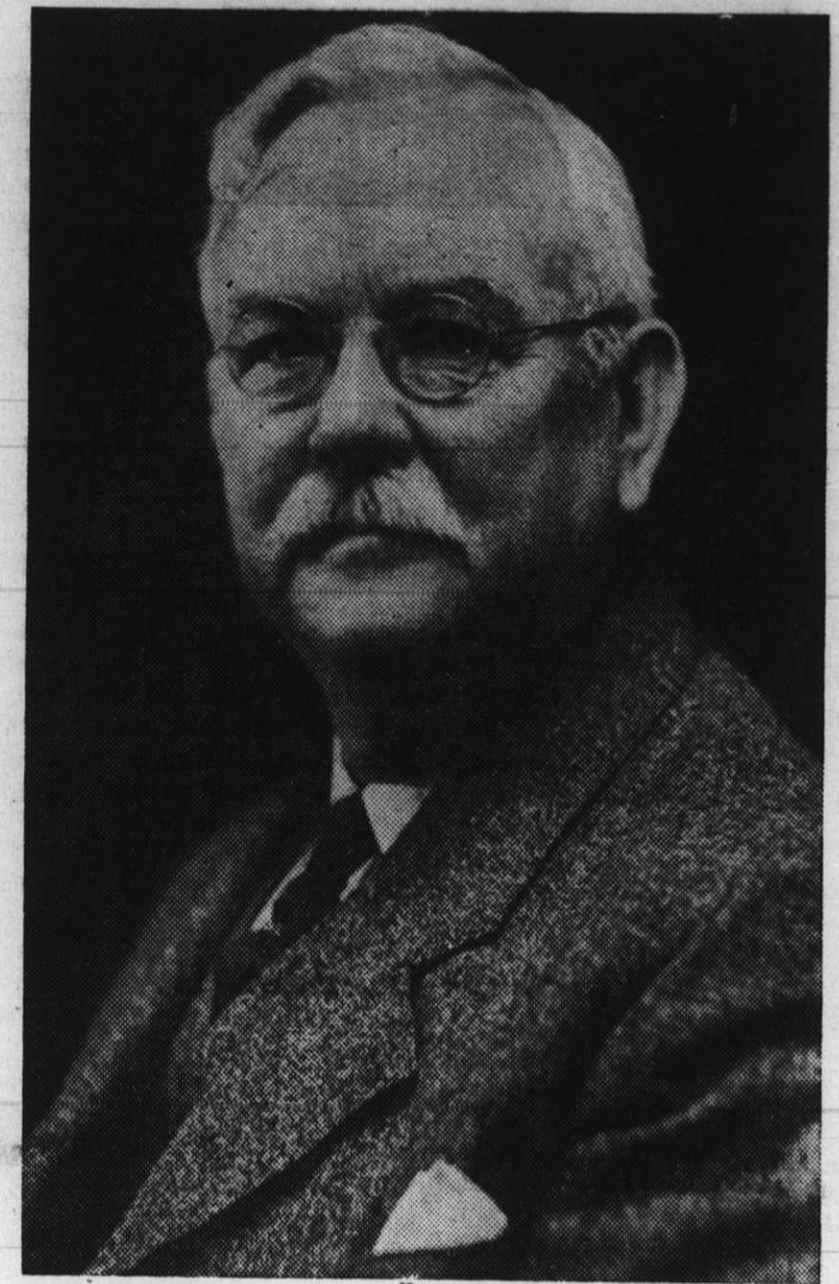

Presidents of the classes this year were Jim Vitella, '42, Harry Eicher, '43, and John Bathgate, '44, and Don Meisel, '45.

Pembroke to Select New Heads, Members Tonight

New members will be chosen and new officers elected at a regular meeting of Pembroke Literary society tonight at 7 in Babcock basement.

Members of the organization will vote on papers turned in by freshman women. Freshmen who are admitted into Pembroke will be initiated at the club's final meeting, April 30, at which time the new officers will take charge.

Wooster Mourns Death Of Dr. Louis E. Holden, President and Rebuilder

Christian Educator Dies After Long Sickness In City Home

Dr. Louis Edward Holden, president of the College of Wooster from 1899 to 1915, died at his home in Wooster Sunday evening, April 12. Dr. Holden is best known and loved by Wooster students as the rebuilder of the college after fire destroyed Old Main in 1901.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 9 a.m. at Westminster chapel and burial was made at South Charleston, Ohio. Dr. Charles F. Wishart, president of the college; Dr. Curtis R. Douglass, college pastor; and Dr. James M. Vance, oldest member in point of service of the college faculty, were the officiating clergy at the funeral service. All college classes were dismissed until 10:30 Wednesday morning.

President for 16 Years

Dr. Holden was president of the College of Wooster for 16 years, from 1899 to June 1915. From 1917 to 1920 he was associate secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education; for three years he was president of James Millikin university; and then served as vice-president for 10 years at his alma mater, Beloit college.

When Old Main was destroyed by fire on Dec. 11, 1901, Dr. Holden was away from the college and the two telegrams that he sent then have been quoted to Wooster students many times as an indication of the spirit of Dr. Holden.

Telegram to Students

The telegram to the students and faculty read, "We have lost our building. Let us stand together until we shall rear another."

The other telegram which was sent to such wealthy and influential friends as Andrew Carnegie, Louis H. Severance, and Henry Clay Frick, said, "Yesterday I was president of a college. Today I am president of a hole in the ground. Our main building was burned to the ground this morning."

When Dr. Holden and the college and community worked together to raise $40,000 in Wayne county and $100,000 elsewhere in 60 days, Mr. (Continued on Page 4)

Librarians Give New Course For Future Teachers

To meet the state educational requirement that all teachers who are assigned library responsibilities in the small high schools should have at least six hours of special library training, a new course in library science is being added to the curriculum next year. This course—three hours each semester—is designed primarily to qualify prospective teachers to care for the high school library in addition to their teaching duties.

The course will include a study of classification, simplified cataloguing, and basic reference books, with accompanying problems, book selection aids, high school library organization and management, and the training of students in the use of library materials.

The course is to be taught by Miss Maudie Nesbitt of the present College library staff. She has her A.B. degree, summa cum laude, from the College of Wooster, her B.S. in L.S. from the Western Reserve Library school, and has studied in the graduate library schools of Columbia university and the University of Illinois.

The class will meet in one of the library rooms.

Fortnightly Holds Annual Formal Banquet April 20

Fortnightly, the college music society, will hold a formal banquet on Monday evening, Apr. 20, at 6:30 in the Black and Gold. Jim Bean is in charge of the entertainment at the Conservatory after the dinner.

New members recently invited into the club are: Gloria Spencer, Priscilla Hughes, and Betty Miller, juniors; Donald Sonnedecker and John Sproul, sophomores; and Helen Freund, Dorothy Dunlap, Logan Findley, Arthur Palmer, William Steiner, and Clark Weygand, freshmen.

Freshmen Lose To Soph Team In Final Debate

At the final Freshman Debate meeting of the year, held on Monday evening at seven o'clock in Taylor hall, the freshmen debated against the sophomores. The question was, "Resolved: that the civil liberties of free speech and free press be restricted by the federal government during periods of national emergency." The affirmative, upheld by the sophomores, was taken by Margaret Baysor, Jim Glasgow and Don Coates, and the speakers for the negative were the following freshmen: Marjorie Page, Dick Rejman, and Tom Lykos. There was a large audience to hear this hotly contested debate.

The judges, who are all members of the advanced seminar course in debate, were Lucie Simon, Mary Ann Riddle and Robert Kerr. The decision they reached was three to nothing in favor of the sophomores.

A debate between the freshmen and the sophomores has been held annually for about twenty-five years and comes as a climax to the season of regular Monday evening meetings for the Freshman Debate club. Although the sophomores also won the decision last year, the freshmen have a large percentage of victories over the sophomores in the entire history of these debates.

Professor Emerson Miller, faculty advisor to all of the debate clubs, announced that freshmen who were members of Freshman Debate club this year will be eligible to take the course in debate seminar to be offered by the speech department next year. This is contrary to the policy observed in the past.

V-7 Program Terminates; Navy Postpones V-1 Exam

The Bureau of Navigation announces: "The present Class V-7 program will be terminated about May 1, 1942. After that the only method by which applicants will be taken into Class V-7 will be via the Class V-1 Accredited College Program."

Sophomores enlisting in Class V-1 will not be required to take the examination determining their fitness for transfer into V-5 or V-7 until Mar. 1, 1943. Therefore, they may enlist at any time during the current school year if qualified in all other respects.

Y.W.C.A. Asks Girls To Aid '46 Freshman

"More than 170 big sisters are needed for next year's freshman girls", said Betty Gourley, Y.W. cabinet member in charge of assigning the big and little sisters. All freshmen, sophomore, and Junior girls are urged to sign up. Papers for this purpose are posted on the bulletin boards in Hoover and Holden.

Any girls knowing some one planning to enter Wooster next fall whom she would like to have as a little sister should indicate this on the list. In this way some of the neophytes could have girls they already know.

Big sisters write to their sisters during the summer and give them helpful tips on answer questions. As soon as the girls arrive, they are met by committees who greet girls at the trains, buses, and dorms. Their next duty is to show the girls around the campus and help them get acquainted. The big event is the Big Four reception; however, this is not the last of the friendship. The upperclass women can often give advice on current problems, such as what to wear to Mrs. Wishart's tea and to the Home-coming game.

All the girls are asked to support the Y.W. in this project.

Spring Formal Will Feature Hal Nelson, Victory Decorations

Hal Nelson, whose band enjoyed a favorable initiation at the Fifth section formal, will make his second appearance on campus tomorrow evening at the annual all-college Spring Formal. A V-for-victory theme will be carried out, and all proceeds will be turned over to the Red Cross for war relief.

To carry out the war rationing precedent, no corsages are on the bill and no programs will be issued. Formal clothes will be in order; no doubt an early debut of white coats will be noticed because of the shortened term, but this is not an essential.

Dance bids are 95 cents, balcony bids are 10 cents—both of which will be sold only at the gate. Hours for the dance are 8:15 to 11:45. Jim Bean is general chairman of the affair assisted by Betty Lacy, chaperones; and Lois Scott, decorations. Chaperones will be Dr. and Mrs. Cowles, and Dr. and Mrs. Ford.

McSweeney Retires

Miss Melaine S. McSweeney, '36, professor of French in the College of Wooster, will retire from active service at the end of this school year. For nearly 40 years Miss McSweeney has been a teacher at Wooster. After her graduation from Wooster Miss McSweeney spent a year in Berlin in study with Frau Hempel. She was a student at the University of Besancon, France, during the summer of 1922. She studied for three summers at the University of Chicago, for two at Western Reserve university, and one at McGill university, Canada.

She did most of her work for her master's degree at Chicago, but completed it at Wooster under Dr. Notestein.

From 1902 to 1918, with a few absences, she was instructor in the Preparatory department in Latin, German, and Greek. She came into the college teaching field in 1918 and in 1924 was appointed to the French department. Here she attained a full professorship in 1928.

Miss McSweeney has become one of the famous Wooster pros to all of the college students. To those in her French classes she has been a personal friend as well as an excellent professor. Miss McSweeney will always remain a part of Wooster college life as long as one student or one prof who has known her remains to sing her praises.

Tales By a Shack Rat

The speaker at the Voice banquet the other night emphasized the necessity of establishing a point of contact with one's readers. This is very easy for a columnist to do—only the point of contact is usually the end of his chin.

I'm afraid Japan may simplify England's India problem somewhat.

Note to the student with the haircut:—people without ears look queer, too.

A strange thrill ran through me as I looked at your hand. Never had I seen a thing so beautiful. My breathing became irregular. Leaning close I whispered into your ear a daring message, "bid four no."

And if you have a friend in the service—write to him. He'll love it.

Advice To The Late-Daters

By ELEANOR HOMAN
 Open letter to the wisdom-worn:
 Dear people,
 In view of my talented predecessor, June Whitmer, it is with due humility that I undertake this task. No doubt there will be many criticisms of this column, but I would welcome any advice toward its betterment in exchange for the advice (?) I am going to give you. Dear Conscientious Objector,

Yes, you do have a problem, but I suggest that you forget it on Friday night from 8-12 and dance out of the difficulty in the gym. Lois Scott is commanding the decoration troop for the SPRING FORMAL, and the latest communique from the front says that the dance promises Victory. There will be no draft, (unless you bring it), and it will be legal to draw the number you wish, (if she isn't already asked). C.O., lay down your resistance, take up "arms", and sign up for a wonderful evening.

Dear Brenda,
 You will have a chance to brush up on your BRIDGE Friday afternoon at 3:30 in the Bennett House when the PEANUTS entertain the IMPs. If you don't take advantage of these opportunities, then there is no other advice I can give you on how to be a Phi Beta in extra-curricular activities.

Dear Fisherman,
 Unaccustomed as I am in giving advice on such matters, your case warrants attention. Fish will not bite for a slackened "line", so why don't you cast it out farther from the campus short-line. You may hook an invitation to CRANDELL's "whale" of an evening on Saturday from 5:30-11. In this fishing, however, Sara Jean Ferguson, chairman, says the girls will supply delicious bait with a spaghetti SUPPER, followed by a merry chase to the THEATER and back to OPEN HOUSE. You may find that this Leap Night will net you a coed from the "school".

Dear Disturbed,
 Ask her to the FIFTH SECTION INFORMAL on Saturday night from 8-11 in Douglass. No more needs to be said because that will patch up all your difficulties!

Dear Late Lizzy,
 Of course he refused your invitation to the HAYRIDE on Saturday given by the TRUMPS and their guests, the PYRAMIDS. With your policy of procrastination, he probably visioned your tracking down the wagon from 7-10:30. Lord Nelson once said, "I owe all my success in life to having been always a quarter of an hour beforehand". Try this, and you'll find he won't refuse a hayride again.

Drysdale Describes His First Crackup

A/C Drysdale, A.T., 12D-1
 A.C.A.F.S., Army Air Base
 Lubbock, Texas

Dear Munse,

I just had to write, seeing as how at the present moment I feel like a "Sunday morning after a Muskingum game." Last night I had my first crackup. I wasn't injured except my front teeth stuck out through the skin above my lip, my nose mashed in but not broken, and my forehead cut, skinned up, etc. I had the presence of mind to cut off the gas as I hit and there was no fire. It felt just like being in the line, bumped up and excited, being in a hell of a spot and having to do something quick.

Flight to Fort Sill

We flew up to Fort Sill yesterday afternoon, and took off to come back in the dark in the formation. For over two hours I flew an intensive close formation. I love formation flying above all the rest. We peeled off over the field and land individually. We were supposed to reassemble at the end of the runway, but the lead ship taxied off up to the ramp. When I landed my landing lights failed and I made a perfect landing in the dark and taxied over to the spot where we were to assemble. Had the lead ship waited it would have been o.k. I could have followed him in, using his landing lights for head lights. As it was, I turned up the runway and followed as best I could. I thought I turned on to the taxi strip at the same spot he did but had gone about 10 yards further and crash! right into a wide five foot deep drainage ditch that had no lights on it at all.

Class Liable for Anything

Furlough? Hardly. I don't expect to go east of the Mississippi in the next few years unless sent there for tactical purposes. . . . Our class is liable to do anything from being instructors to entering tactical units, we don't know. I don't care an awful lot, since after all, if our faith in God has any foundation, "locale" is not an important item. I figured that about India. It's not so much a question of where a guy is but what he's living for there.

CURRENT COMMOTIONS

By JACK MELLIN

To date, except for a "minor" setback in Russia, Hitler's plans have come off like clock work. Now the time has come for his promised spring offensive. Certain events have happened in the last week or so which seem to indicate that the action is about to begin. The Nazis are organizing all their eastern forces for the big drive into Russia. Supplies have been moved across to General Rommel in Africa. Malta, the Mediterranean Bataan, has been subjected to its heaviest attacks of the war in a final effort to remove the British from Benito's sea. In the North Atlantic the Germans have sallied forth repeatedly to attack the New York-Murmansk supply line, while in the East the Nipponese move perilously close to India during her time of indecision. After their blitz on Ceylon failed, the Japs "dug in" on the China side of Burma and are now pressing an offensive to the West perhaps hoping to meet Hitler's victorious legions coming East.

The Asset Side

So much for the asset side of the Axis ledger. Now let us take a quick look into their debit column. We see that the Russians are bracing themselves to repel any German thrust. In fact, they are still moving forward in places in order to get key positions which will help to soften the Nazi blow when it comes. Man power is running low in Germany. Hitler's mechanized units are fairly efficient, but the machines still have quite a lot of trouble with "Stalin".

American and British supplies are now reaching Russia in larger quantities. Moreover, for the first time since the war began the production ratio of the United Nations to that of the Axis is one to one. We have remedied last year's mistake of being caught with our "plants down". If Hitler couldn't take the Reds when he was at his height and they were without our supplies, it will be even tougher now.

Possible Offensive Move

Laying plans for a possible offensive move, the British are actually making land excursions by night into Norway and France. Mussolini has hit a new low. It is rumored that he is constructing a giant glass bottomed boat so that he can review his navy! In Geneva there is still a skeleton staff of the league of nations on call should the United States and Russia care to join and present a grievance. Then we have "Mac" in Australia. There he is as great a symbol of fear to the Japs as he is a symbol of hope to us.

Patrolling the Wooster Beat

By THE MADCAP CRITIC

The editor tells me that this is the last issue of this semester's Voice, so before all you cats truck on home there're a few things I'd like to get off my chest. And before I start I'd like to have you note that any resemblance of this week's column to last week's or to anything else living or dead is purely coincidental. This is the first time you have your foot in the groove with the one and only "Madcap Critic" (some darn ghost writer stole my stuff last week when I didn't make the deadline, seems as if I was detained down south).

Tossin' an Orchid

Although it hasn't been the general policy of the Voice's former columnist to comment on past dances I can hardly refrain from tossin' an orchid in the direction of the boys from First and Seventh. Maybe I'm prejudiced, could be, but irrespective of that the Beta's and the Tri Kappes, with their combined resources pulled in one of the country's up and coming young bands. You've all heard of Bunny's chronic weakness, but that is taboo now, I think, and with this new bunch of kids behind him he really ought to go places. Even though Bunny is up in years as a bandleader, he still sets a terrific pace for his men to follow, but their talents seemed capable of keeping right with him. Ask any of the kids at the dance, or Asia Minor. (He was knocking himself out up in the balcony.) In case any of you cats missed Mr. Berigan you might dash over to The Elms in Youngstown, he's playing there tonight.

Now to get down to a big event of future interest. I can't quite figure out whether I should criticize the senior class or compliment them on the band they're havin' for the Senior Prom. When I think of the bands that they passed up I begin to wonder about them, yet I realize that this is Wooster College and they did pretty well considering this hindrance. How ever the next senior class that snubs Harry James and Mugsy Spanier, I'll explain in more classical terms.

shall not even bother so much as to speak to them. With their dilly-dallying, half — (censored) around they were lucky to get Stan Kenton as it was. Of course I know that you ickies have never heard of Mr. Kenton but never fear, any cat will assure you that he has a terrific outfit that really jumps. The band has just finished a six week stand at the Roseland Ballroom in New York and is now touring the East. Frank Daily has booked him for 10 solid weeks at the Meadowbrook this summer. This ought to be conclusive evidence in itself that the band really has something behind it. You know, the Meadowbrook doesn't pick wrong numbers very often. So in spite of my nasty remarks, the situation is not as bad as it could have been (but I still think you seniors should be jivin' with James, May 7).

The Last Time

Well, cats, this is the last time this semester I'll be diggin' with you. Keep your ears open during the summer for all the local schmaltz bands, maybe you can persuade them to play here on the hill. Wooster is notorious for good schmaltz. Also watch the wax works, there's a bare possibility that some solid stuff may be recorded this summer. So 'till next semester, I'll be seein' ya. Keep goofing it up.

All those ickies who don't dig my hep talk can see me in person. I'll explain in more classical terms.

Seniors Object To Tradition Smashing

Dear Editor:

We as seniors are sick and tired of tradition smashers. The latest assault, that of ridiculing senior chapel, was the last straw. We are accepting a shortened senior week and are seeing many of the senior customs eliminated without complaint. The fundamental reason for the accelerated program is that you, as underclassmen, may receive your degree in a shorter time. It seems to us that you are showing poor sportsmanship, therefore, when you attack senior tradition. If, when you are seniors, you wish to dispense with senior chapel that is your privilege. But, for the time being, let us enjoy our last few weeks in Wooster in the way we choose.

Sincerely yours,
 The Babcock Women

To the Babcock Women.
 The greatest fear that an editor has in writing an editorial is that the people to whom it applies do not stop to realize the purpose of the editorial.

Our idea in writing this editorial was not to demand that senior chapels be abolished, but to suggest that the seniors have a few practices before they make their first public appearance. Our editorial went on to say that if the seniors did not have enough class pride to practice before the regular Friday chapels, these practices should be made compulsory.

We agree with you one hundred per cent when you say that senior chapel is a fine tradition and we would like to see it continued. Our point is that we would like to see the conduct and the number of seniors present improved.

Sincerely,
 The Editor

To A Great Man

A GREAT MAN has just passed away, yet his spirit will live forever. This college owes much to a fine Christian man, Dr. L. E. Holden, who through his untiring efforts helped build the Wooster College of today.

During his term from 1899 to 1915 as president of this college, Dr. L. E. Holden, faced many hardships including the fire in 1901; yet he had the will and the desire to drive on and overcome these hardships. Four buildings, Kauke, Scovel, Severance, and Taylor, erected one year after the burning of Old Main, now stand as proof of this man's genius. One building, Holden Hall, bears the name of one of Wooster's greatest presidents.

It was he who championed the Christian college; it was he who gave up chances for fame and fortune so that he could devote his time to making the College of Wooster an outstanding institution.

After retiring from the presidency, Dr. L. E. Holden did not lose interest in the college he loved so dearly, but he devoted a great deal of his time to the task of raising funds for new buildings and a larger endowment.

In our own humble way we would like to pay tribute to a great friend of Wooster College.

IF THE SENIOR chapels are such a fine tradition, where is the spirit, both faculty and student, behind it? At the first of this year's senior chapels last Friday, there were twenty-five faculty members in caps and gowns. There are seventy-seven active members listed on the Wooster faculty of instruction. In the senior class itself fifteen men participated in the chapel service — there are eighty-five men in the class.

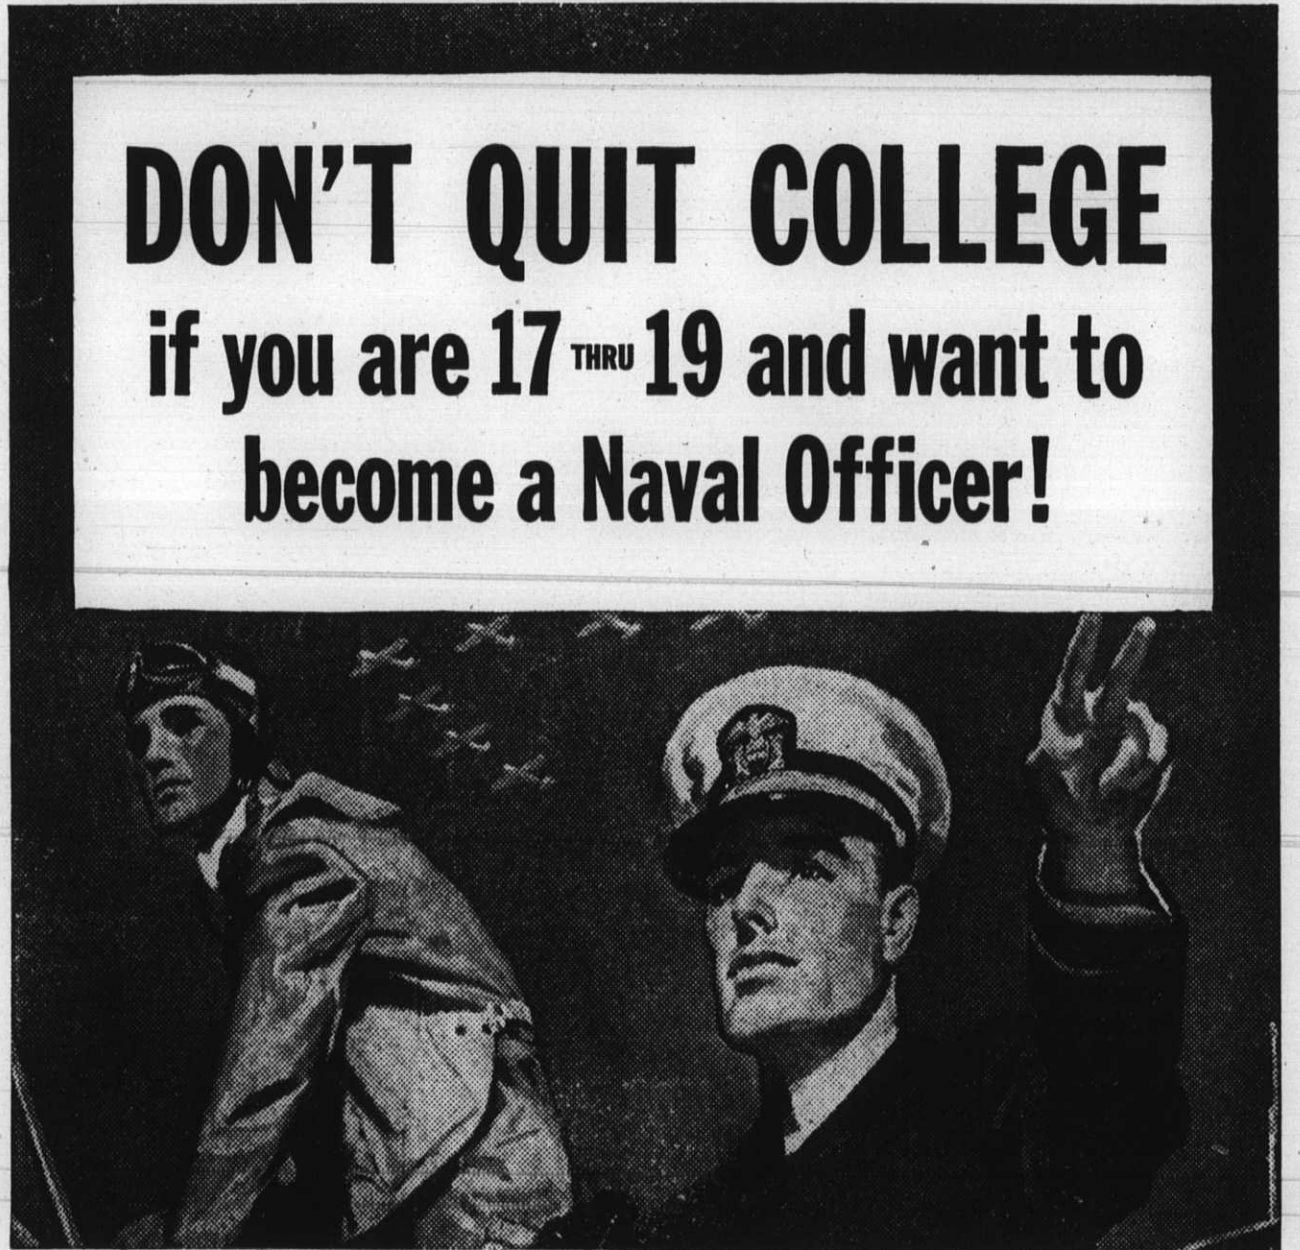

We grant that the senior chapel would be a fine and inspiring tradition if it were properly performed. However, no tradition at all is better than a unstately pseudo-cultural spectacle.

These chapel programs need a good shot of college spirit. We like to see the faculty in their academic attire; it is the only chance that we do have to see them thus. We also like to see the seniors come down the aisle in their caps and gowns, and it could be a most impressive sight: one hundred seventy-eight fellows and girls with their heads up and shoulders back and with their caps properly donned—(has there ever been a senior class which wore its mortar boards at the same inclination to the horizontal?)

Last week the processional was good, and we almost thought the class of '42 had called our hand; but the senior men managed to confirm expressed convictions very nicely. Perhaps there was a special meeting in the Shack of all the B. M. O. C. (note 1) with the evident result that a goodly number couldn't quite make it to chapel. We're sure their important business elsewhere was of magnitude befitting to their campus standing.

The chapel could very well be a grand old Wooster observance, but are the present faculty and seniors the ones who can do it?

Note 1—(to freshmen and faculty) Big Men On Campus.

DON'T QUIT COLLEGE
if you are 17 THRU 19 and want to become a Naval Officer!

You can be of greatest service to your country by acting on this New Navy Plan right now!

YOU WANT to fight for your country? Are you willing to work for it? To toughen yourself physically? To train yourself mentally for a real job in the United States Navy? If you are, the Navy wants you to enlist now—but to stay in college, to continue your studies, to prepare yourself for active duty in the air or on the sea.

And your college will help you do it! In cooperation with the Navy, it offers all freshmen and sophomores who are seventeen and not yet twenty, special training that may win for you the coveted Wings of Gold of a Naval Aviation Officer or a commission as a Deck or Engineering Officer.

How to Become an Officer

To get this special Navy training, you enlist now as an Apprentice Seaman. Then you continue in college, but you will include special courses stressing physical development, mathematics and physics. After you successfully complete 1½ calendar years of college, you will be given a general examination prepared by the Navy.

Stay in College 2 Years

If you qualify by examination, you may volunteer to become a Naval Aviation Officer. In this case you will be permitted to finish the second calendar year of college work before you start your training to become a flying officer.

Or you will be selected for training to become a Deck or Engineering Officer. In that case, you will continue your college program until you receive your bachelor's degree, provided you maintain the established university standards.

Those whose grades are not high enough to qualify them for officers' training will be permitted to finish their second calendar year before they are ordered to duty at a Naval Training Station as Apprentice Seaman.

At any time during this special college training program, if a student should fail in his prescribed subjects, he may be ordered to active duty as an Apprentice Seaman.

Pay starts with active duty. All courses will be given and graded by your regular college faculty. The Navy asks that you devote your time and energy along certain channels that will equip you to serve your country to the very best of your ability.

It's a real challenge! It's a real opportunity! Make every minute count by doing something about this new Navy Plan today.

Golf and Tennis Teams To Launch Their Spring Schedules This Week

This week Wooster officially swings into its spring sports calendar, and the tennis and golf teams are among those who will get their first taste of actual competition. The tennis team is slated to tackle Ohio Wesleyan on Saturday while the golf team got underway in a match with Oberlin yesterday.

This year Coach Boles has seven men on his golf squad, headed by Captain Karl Kate. Kate is the only Wooster golfer to qualify for the National Intercollegiate Golf Tournament, and in the contest for accuracy in driving, he garnered a second place. None of the other members of the squad have had any experience in college golf competition. The other members of the team are Ed Merkel, Paul Churton, Howard Yergen, Wilfrid Osberg, Dick Craven, and Vernon Chaney.

Mose Hole has been working with an eight man tennis squad. Bob Hayes, Bob Black, Pete Gruber, and Jerry Stryker are all hold-overs from last year's team and they will be aided by Johnston Lewis, Bob Moreland, and Max Hellman who were ineligible for competition last season. Pete Hanna is the only sophomore in the group.

Scots Inaugurate Current Season With Muskingum

The abbreviated 1942 spring sports season will get under way this Saturday, Apr. 18, when Johnny Swigart's Scot baseball squad will travel to Muskingum for the opening game of both teams. A veteran nine will take the field against Wooster, out for revenge after two setbacks last year. The Muskies' ace hurler, Dave McDowell, will probably be on the mound to try to redeem himself for 3-0 and 3-2 losses administered by the Scots during the past season.

Squad Shows Up Well

The first infield practice was held Tuesday, and the squad showed up well. The boys handled the ball with snap, and plenty of spirit was exhibited. Coach Swigart stated that the hitting is looking up, and by the end of the week, batting eyes should be keener than at present. "The lettermen should hit as well as, if not better than, last year, and the sophomores look as if they may do all right against college pitching", he added.

Swigart Gives Line-up

The probable Wooster starting line-up is as follows: c—Sanborn, 1b—Weiss or Deidrich, 2b—Kuhn, ss—MacDonald, 3b—Lehman, cf—Vigrass, rf—August, lf—Bean, or pitcher not on mound, p—Captain Buchanan.

Big Red Invade

The Big Red of Denison will invade the stadium on Apr. 25 for the opening track meet of the season. The Scot cindermen are rapidly rounding into condition, and Coach Munson has them working hard.

The weather has hindered out-door work-outs and the short season this year has caused the cancellation of the usual inter-class meet which was previously used to determine the make-up of the varsity squad.

Girls Active in Sports

The results of the first three weeks check on the activities of Wooster girls was as follows: total number of hours spent—1089, total percentage of girls active on the campus—82.6.

Clay Heads Senate For Coming Year

John Clay of Canal Fulton, was elected president of the Student Senate, defeating Bob Lessing of Trenton, New Jersey in the final elections last Thursday. Voice photo

At chapel this morning, Jerry Stryker gave his place in the Student Senate to John Clay for the coming year. John was elected by the student body last week to the presidency of the Senate. Clay, who hails from Canal Fulton, is a member of Fifth section and an active participant in many extra-curricular activities.

Monday night, at the Senate's regular meeting, Bob Lessing was elected treasurer and Betty Lacy, secretary. Committee chairmen for next year are: chaperones, Betsy Warner; band, Norman Wright; elections, Bob Bricker; inventory, John Renner; decorations, Lois Scott.

Petitions for Sunday afternoon use of the golf course and tennis courts are still being circulated in the dormitories. This subject will be brought up at the next meeting of the trustees.

Senior Girls Win Volleyball Crown; Banquet Welcomes W.A.A. Officers

By LOIS WILSON

Last Tuesday the final game of this year's volleyball tournament was played, between the Hash team (faculty), and the Gas House Gang (seniors). The Gas House Gang won, 43-29. There were nine teams in the competition.

Board Gives Banquet

There is a rumor going around that the WAA Board does nothing but eat. The rumor is not true, for as Miss Buccalo pointed out Monday, the reverse of the proverb "he who does not work does not eat" is also true, and the Board both works and eats. The foundation of the rumor is not hard to find. Just before vacation the old board gave a banquet welcoming in the new board. The new officers are Gwen Polen, president; Lois Wilson, vice-president; Ruth Kress, secretary; Annette Freeman, treasurer, and Ruth Gielle, social chairman. The members are Eleanor Kelsey, Wilma Oliver, Eleanor Homan, Gloria Parker, Lois Hayenga, Pat Kline, Betty Steiner, Ruth Whiston, Jane Stewart, Jane Needham, Betty Py, and Anne Wharton.

Formal Banquet Given

Last Monday the Women's Physical Education Department furthered the rumor by giving a formal banquet for the old board at Mrs. Harry's, and most of you know what delicious food that means. After dinner the girls were entertained by Gwen Polen and Annette Freeman who told of their experiences at the national meeting of women's athletic associations at Wellesley, Massachusetts, last week-end.

Wooster Mourns Holden's Death

Carnegie met this with another $100,000 and within one year there arose Kauck, Soovel, Severance, and Taylor halls, and the old power plant, which were all dedicated on Dec. 11, 1902.

Five New Buildings
Besides these five, there were five other new buildings erected on the campus during Dr. Holden's presidency: Holden hall, a dormitory for women named after Dr. Holden; Kenarden lodge; Westminster Memorial chapel; the college library, gift of Henry Clay Frick; and the Severance gymnasium.

The college endowment which was placed at less than $200,000 when Dr. Holden was elected to the presidency had been increased to $1,400,000, and the property value had increased from about $200,000 to over $1,100,000.

In 1899 Wooster had 227 students of collegiate rank, and in 1915 there were 517 in the collegiate enrollment.

of original sketches. These sketches, entitled "Reverie", "A Funny Story", "Moonlight on Leaves", and "Gay Evening", are reminiscent of the style of modern writers, but are marked with touches of distinctive originality.

Kaltenborn Narrator
The novelty number of the program will be "The Life of Ferdinand," with Arthur Kaltenborn of the speech department as narrator. Mr. Kaltenborn will be accompanied by the orchestra with Haufrecht's music for the movie. It will be presented in its original setting without the picture but with all sound effects necessary for the transformation of a pastoral bull into a would-be fiery fighter of the Spanish bull ring for which he was never intended.

The remainder of the orchestral numbers of the concert include the sonorous introduction of the third act of Wagner's opera, "Lohengrin"; Debussy's "Clair de Lune", with marimba solo parts by Gordon Rowand, freshman; and Moscowski's "Valse Celebre", the music for which was secured by Judge Carl Weygandt of Cleveland.

Business College To Offer Courses In Shorthand, Typing For Students

The Wooster Business college will again cooperate with the College of Wooster by offering shorthand and typing courses during summer school. The classes will not conflict with scheduled courses at the college.

Two Classes Offered
The two classes will be in session from May 12 to Aug. 21, a total of 15 weeks, the shorthand class will meet from 3 to 4 and the typing class from 4 to 5 on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at the Wooster Business College. The cost is forty dollars payable on enrollment. Students may either register at the dean's office or at the office of the business college, which is located on the third floor of Downing Block on the north side of the square.

About twenty Wooster College students have been taking the two courses this semester. As a result of this training several people have made contacts with firms for work in offices.

Becky Hostetter has made contact with an aircraft firm in Cleveland where she has been given some assurance that there is a good chance of her getting in about the middle of May doing stenographic work — to start. With Miss Hostetter's college training they gave her assurance that this would only be temporary, as she will, of course, be slated for something more important. Miss Hostetter has found, as have hundreds of college graduates, that as an entering wedge to get into a large company, training in shorthand and typewriting cannot be surpassed. "Without that training," says Miss Hostetter, "it is doubtful if I would have received any consideration. Miss Hostetter is one of about twenty students now enrolled in the special shorthand and typewriting class at Wooster Business College.

Added to College Training
The addition of shorthand and typewriting to a college training at the present time when the country's industries are being attuned to an all-out war-production effort has proved to enhance immeasurably one's chances of finding employment. The government has so loosened up in its requirements for stenographic work that it is quite possible for diligent student to become proficient enough in shorthand and typewriting to meet these requirements with a minimum training of about four months.

COUNTER SHOP-WISE AT FREEDLANDER'S

A new tide—a new gal! This is to introduce CAROL SCOTT who will take over this corner for the school year 1942-1943. She'll keep you posted on all the new style trends and prices at FREEDLANDER'S. Good luck, Carol!

On my way around to meet all the department heads yesterday, I had a good chance to glance about. It didn't take a high pressure sales-talk to convince me that STERLING SILVER bracelets will soon be an essential to every coed's wardrobe. Be really American with yours, without waving a flag, and add one of Indian design, set with turquoise, to that growing collection. They're in prices to suit even the most meager allowance ranging from $1.00 up to $5.00. The next chance you have, notice, MARY JANE WEST'S assortment then dash down and get some for yourself.

Vim, Vigor and Vitality is the key-phrase of the popular miss these days. After having relied on vitamin pills all winter you should have a lot of excess energy, besides that with which you're using to finish your term-paper. Why not get out your tennis togs and with new FREEDLANDER equipment play yourself a rip-snorting game of tennis. Freedlander's handles one of the best made rackets sold, WRIGHT and DITSON (Spaulding) and which are strung in string, silk, nylon and gut. Both men and women's rackets can be got anywhere between $1.98 and $13.95, and a free water-proof case is available with every racket over $4.95.
