A woman was standing in the courtyard of the Union. She was wearing a long and black dress, a white blouse, and a white handkerchief on her head. She was holding a small black purse in her hand. She was looking around the courtyard, her eyes scanning the area.

"What is your favorite sport, Dear?" the woman asked.
"I love running," the voice answered.
"That's interesting," the woman replied, "What do you like about it?"
"The freedom of it, I guess. You're out there on your own, no one telling you what to do," the voice said.
"It's true," the woman agreed, "I've always felt that way about running."

"I think it's great," the voice said, "I run every day, and it's one of the best ways to clear my head."

"It's good for exercise," the woman said, "But it's also good for the mind."

"Absolutely," the voice agreed, "I feel so much better after a good run."

"It's true," the woman said, "I've noticed that too."

"It's like a sort of therapy," the voice said, "You can think about anything while you're running, and it's like you're just letting things go."

"That's what I like," the woman said, "I can clear my head and just focus on the run."

"It's great," the voice said, "I've been a runner for a long time, and I just love it."
Students Test Grid Knowledge In Football Poll

Webster Theatre Offers Program To Stimulate Interest in Grid

Each member of the study body will have the opportunity to try his luck on a football poll this week. The poll is sponsored by the Voice and the end of the winter season, and a seminar will be conducted to discuss results throughout the football season.

Column Rating Given

The president of the committee is satisfied, and, although the grid is not a topic of scientific research, some members of the committee have admitted that there are very few, if any, members of the team who would like to have the results of the poll distributed.

The questions will be printed on the front page of the Voice, and the members of the committee will take turns answering them. The column will be open to suggestions from the public, and the committee will consider any suggestions that are made.

Reasons for Grid

The grid was introduced as a means of generating interest in the football team. The committee hopes that the grid will be a means of generating interest in the sport and in the team, and that it will be a means of generating interest in the community as well.
