John Henry Newman's book, On the Scope and Nature of University Education, contains the following discussion on the nature of education, to be held between March and described by President Larson as a major program.

Many Comments

Since his chapel discussion, according to Dr. Larson, he has received so many comments from students and faculty that it was decided to postpone the discussion to allow time for further comment. The other books will be announced after Thanksgiving.

In Newman's book, which was published in 1879, the author writes:

> "The two books will be announced after Thanksgiving.

> "Newman's book, which was published in 1879, the author writes:

> "I think that the two books will be announced after Thanksgiving."
Who's Uneducated?

The following editorial appeared in the November 6 edition of the Lima, Ohio, Citizen:

One week ago, two men met who are similar in many respects. They are both students at the College of Wooster, the small white haired New Englander passed unrecognized by the students of the Ohio State University.

He was Sherman Adams, the Assistant President under Eisenhower. She was his friend of 50 years, Jeanne Person Adams. The New Englander and the ex-President of the Ohio State University, in a sense, were the faint echo of two generations of association.

It was a fact that Sherman Adams, the Assistant President under Eisenhower, had never had the pleasure of knowing what it meant to be a student. He had never heard the term "student," even in the small community where he had grown up. He had never even heard of a student, for that matter. And he had never been a student.

Jeanne Person Adams, on the other hand, had spent her entire life as a student, from grade school to college to graduate school. She had never known a time when she was not learning something new. She was a student at heart, and she loved it.

The two editors discussed the idea of education and the importance of having a student perspective in the news media. They agreed that more articles should be written from a student's viewpoint, and they hoped that their readers would find the change refreshing.

This article was written by Philip Brown, the editor-in-chief of the Wooster Voice, and Frances Bobo, the managing editor. It was published in the November 6, 1962 edition of the Lima, Ohio, Citizen.

The WRA Tankers Place Second; Volleyball Competition Begins

WRA swimmers opened the season with a second place finish in a triangular meet last Saturday with Kent State and Hiram.

Kent came out on top with 109, Wosseon, second with 57, and Hiram, third with 42. Senior Gary Wallot led Wooster tankers with first place finishes in the 100-yard individual Medley and the 50-yard butterfly. Freshman Sandy Van Dorni finished second in the 100-yard backstroke and 4x50 and 50-yard breaststroke.

The 100-yard freestyle relay made up of sophomores Lydia Rikard and Sue Spalding, freshman Maggie Burdine, and senior Gary Wallot also grabbed second place.

Other swimmers were freshmen Barbara Boyce and Libby Moore and sophomores Betsy Rudolph, Madie Miller and Marty Elshoff.

Intramural volleyball competition got underway last week with Pyramidals and turret winners voting to return in the near future in League A. They bowed down Eken and Holden II. Key played by the potent seven of Holden Tank and Peg Osborn of Federal Holden II.

In League B Trumps won two, dropping 1 Main Holden in two games and winning over Independents by forfeit. Pyramidals split even by drawing 1 Main Holden but falling to the faculty team in two out of three games.

Tomorrow the intercollegiate volleyball season opens when Wooster travels to Kent State. The team will be out to avenge the early season losses to Kent in both volleyball and swimming.

Bowling also gets underway this week at the Frantz with other clubs trying to score defending champion Simpsons.

Dear Gary: I can hardly see to write this, I am crying so hard. My world is crumbling down all around me. I am a 19-year-old college sophomore, class ring of a boy 22 who was warped by Kentucky.

We write to each other every day, sometimes twice a day. One day I got four letters, all from him. The other girls make fun of me because I read Bride Magazines just, but I just can't wait till we are united in holy matrimony.

But now I'm afraid it will never be. My boy friend used to always sign his letters "with all my love, always, all ways, Melanie" (not his real name). Today his letter was signed, "Yours in Christ, Melanie. New Gary, I am a very religious girl, but I cannot help remembering it."

Dr. Tait Sets Up Summer Session
Summer School 1963 will be under the direction of Dr. Gordon Tait.

It is hoped that courses in most departments will be offered in the summer session, although the faculty members will be away and the college will be under the direction of Dr. Gordon Tait.

Further information concerning costs and specific courses to be offered will be published in the near future.

Registration will be June 16, 1963, with classes commencing July 13 and lasting through Aug. 9.

Craig Initiates Wooster Day; Others Address Graduates Later

Wooster Day was initiated by Mr. William C. Craig last week when he spoke before a group of Wooster alumni in Kansas City.

For the next few months, members of the Wooster faculty and administration will address many such gatherings discussing what is happening on the Wooster campus today.

On Dec. 11, Wooster Day, Mike J. Martin of the class of 1927 will speak at Chapel. Since retiring in 1961 from the Schenectady, N.Y., Branch of the General Electric Company, he has become a professor of physics in Schenectady's Union College.

Wooster Day is a college tradition commemorating the day when Old Main, which then housed the entire college, burned to the ground. Within one year from that date, President Hildreth had four new buildings up: Kekes, Severance, Seidel, and Taylor.

U.S. Marines Land To Hunt Recruits

Captain N. E. Redish, Selective Officer for the United States Marine Corps, will be the lower lever of Kedron Hall next Monday and Tuesday.

Students are eligible for the Patton Leaders Class program as early as their freshman year. They receive commissions the day of graduation; however, they have no military activities during the academic year.

Seniors may be selected for the Officer Candidate Course to earn their commissions after graduation.

FACULTY REVUE

The "Come As You Wish You Were" marquise ball will feature the Polkas Kulte chorus line, a recently discovered Shakespearean manuscript, and an as yet unheard of quartet.

Tickets for the Monday night faculty revue are on sale at the book store at $1.
