Guest Speakers Discuss Liquor, Irish Folklore

Seumas MacManus, outstanding Irish poet, humorist, and story teller will have as his topic "Irish Folk Tales" in his address in Chapel on Tuesday, October 5.

Mr. MacManus has lived an interesting life. As a youth he sat and listened to the shanachies at their turf-fires tell their Celtic Tales and songs. This is where he became versed with songs of his people. He has not only delivered lectures in different parts of the country, but has also written such books as "The Story of the Irish Race", "The Red Poacher" and others.

Presidential Candidate

Dr. David L. Colvin, former candidate for presidency of the United States on the Prohibition ticket in the past election, will speak on the subject "Liquor and War" on Friday, Sept. 24. His topic will feature such points as how liquor affects the war effort, army camps, and other factors of today.

USO Director

On Friday, Oct. 8, Miss Mabel Cook, U.S.O. director for the Y.W.C.A. in Washington, D.C., will lecture. She has proved her versatility in more than one way by being one of two delegates from the United States who attended the International Conference for Christian Youth Leaders, held in Germany in 1932. She has also been active in War Hospitality work, Child Welfare Recreation, Community Chest and other organizations.

Dr. Lloyd Gressle of the St. James Episcopal Church will give an address on Thursday, Sept. 30. He is a graduate of Oberlin and formerly attended Kenyon College, the divinity school at Gambier, O.

Y.W.C.A. Organizes Navy Date Bureau

"The Y.W.C.A. Date Bureau has been reconstructed and is ready to begin operation", stated Kenny Compton, chairman of the Y.W. Social Committee. Regular social functions are being planned for the Naval Cadets which will enable each girl in college to attend at least one such entertainment. The ball started rolling last Saturday with a picnic given for the Cadets by third floor Holden. This week, Holden Annex gets in the swing with a dance to be held in lower Babcock. Girls for second floor Holden and Korner Klub will be the next hostesses. The chairman reported that date lists will not be available until Friday afternoon or Saturday morning before the party. The committee is planning to repeat the picnic which is understood to have been a great success. After weather becomes prohibitive, regular dances will be held and play nights organized at the gym.

Plans are underway to have a list at the desk in each dormitory with names of girls who will be available Saturday evenings or Sunday afternoons. These lists will be in charge of the desk girls for cadets who want dates. This will not be in operation until possibly next week-end.

The committee working on these plans include Ruth Coover, Margo Drury, Marge Rydstrom, Anne Ferguson, Pat Bryant, Jane Elliot, and Kenny Compton.

Prexy Welcomes New - Old Students

September 16, 1943

It has been my custom to give a word of welcome to students, new and old, through the columns of THE VOICE. It is perhaps a little late for that now, for your welcome has already been expressed, vocally and amply. I do wish, however, to express an additional word of gratification at the enrollment of students, which has far exceeded our expectation. We take this as an encouraging sign for the survival and increased usefulness of the liberal arts college. If we can thus maintain ourselves through the most critical period of the World War, there are surely better times ahead.

May I ask, too, for earnest cooperation and serious effort this year. Let us make it one of hard work, unselfish loyalty, in that spirit which exemplifies true democracy.

Faithfully yours,
CHARLES F. WISHART
President

DR. CHARLES F. WISHART

Seniors Achieve Phi Beta Kappa

Nine members of the senior class were presented with certificates of membership in Phi Beta Kappa during the chapel program this morning. Dr. Lowell W. Coolidge of the English department, president of the local honorary chapter, made the presentation.

The new members include: Ruth Allen, a Latin and French major from Canton; Edith Beck, who is majoring in English and French of Succasunna, N. J.; Bill Lytle of Ben Avon, Pa. who is majoring in philosophy.

Don Coates, who is now serving in the Navy, was elected to membership. A Wooster man, he majored in geology.

Margaret Neely, a French major of Barnesville, Marie Thede and Carolyn Trump, both biology majors, were also presented awards. Marie Thede is from Lakewood and Carolyn Trump is from Rocky River.

The other members are Ellen Vaughn of Wooster, a chemistry major; Eleanor Webster of Grove City, Pa. a Latin and German major.

These students are the first members of the senior class to be given the award because no election was made during the summer school. Other selections from the December graduates will be made at the end of the current semester. The members of the May class will be chosen in January and in May.

The membership of Phi Beta Kappa consists of those seniors who are first in academic rank. The society is the oldest national society for the recognition of high scholarship.

Elections to Fill Senate Take Place Next Week

Student Senate held their second meeting last Monday. Plans are being laid for Homecoming. Freshman Senate elections are to be held next week. Election for one sophomore vacancy will also be held. Petitions may be obtained from any present Senate member, and must be returned by Tuesday.

The Senate is sponsoring an all college band dance this Saturday night. Lowell Schaffer and his band will provide the music. Admission will be 75c per couple. Navy boys without dates who sign up for the dance will be admitted free.

W.S.G.A. Opens Library

The W.S.G.A. announces that their fiction library in the Big Four room in lower Kauke is now open. These books are all of the last few years and may be used by anyone in that room, and may be taken out by all women students for a period of two days.

Venman Succumbs Following Operation

Wooster lost a friend this summer in the death of Miss Ethel Venman, R.N., supervising nurse at Hygeia Hall. Her unexpected death occurred shortly after a goiter operation at Jamestown, N. Y., on June 4.

Miss Venman was born July 6, 1896, in Jamestown, N.Y. and was graduated from Lakeside Hospital in Cleveland in 1917. She served as a nurse in the U.S. Army after which she became a member of the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. She assumed her duties as supervising nurse at Wooster in 1928, serving continually and well until her death.

Miss Venman is survived by her father, John H. Venman, and two brothers, Vernon of Detroit, and Harold of Bridgeport, Conn. Services were held in Jamestown with Dr. Curtis R. Douglass, college pastor, participating.

Loss of Professors to War Duties Brings Changes to Faculty Ranks

Students and faculty alike have left Wooster College to render their services to our nation's war effort. Latest of the faculty to leave is Dr. Warren P. Spencer, head of the biology department. He is taking a year's leave of absence to do bio-physics research for the Army at the University of Rochester, Rochester, New York.

Dr. Spencer, the son of a United Presbyterian minister, graduated from Wooster College in 1919. From here he went to Assiut College, a United Presbyterian school in Egypt, as instructor in biology. Returning, he received his M.S. and Ph.D. at Ohio State University. At Wooster, during the past year, Dr. Spencer divided his time between navy math and physics and the propagation of fruit flies for his mutation experiments.

Miss Kathleen Lowrie, formerly head of the women's physical education department, is now director of U.S.O. work among the Army camps of Georgia. She is located in Macon, Georgia. Another member of Miss Lowrie's department to go is Miss Geneva Jacobs who is in Washington, D.C. preparing for overseas Red Cross duty. Miss Mary Jane Buccalo is the new head of the department.

Two new additions to this department are Miss Geraldine Toops and Miss Emma Abel. Miss Toops received her B.S. in Ed. at Ohio State University in 1941 and has since done work toward her master's degree. She is teaching golf, hockey, and tennis. Miss Abel graduated in 1943 from Oberlin

College Combines Fall Celebrations

The annual Homecoming and Dad's Day celebrations will be combined again this year during the weekend of Oct. 15-17. This combination, which was so successful last year, is being planned in order to conserve gasoline and other necessary war materials.

Homecoming Play

"Letters to Lucerne", a three-act play by Rotter and Vincent will be given for the public on Oct. 14, 15 and 16 in Scott Auditorium. This drama under the direction of Dr. Delbert Lean, head of the speech department, is the story of a Swiss girls' boarding school and the affects of the present World War upon it. Tickets for the play will be forty cents and may be obtained through Dr. Lean.

Scots Play Case

Saturday afternoon the Scots will play Case in their first home football game of the season. Two platoons under Coach John Swigart, '24, will make up the Wooster team. A cadet band will play during the game. Contrary to previous years there will be no reserved seats for the event. Only general admission tickets at seventy-five cents apiece will be sold. Following the game there will be the annual alumni tea which will be held in Babcock.

The annual Homecoming dance will be held in the gym on Saturday evening. Students and alumni alike are welcome.

President Wishart will speak at the Sunday morning church service in Westminster Chapel at 11:00 p.m.

Club Council Introduces Revolutionary Step For Pledging

Breaking a long-standing precedent, it has been announced that all sophomore women who so desire will be taken into one of the ten girls social clubs on the Wooster campus. This action was agreed upon at a meeting of the Inter-Club Council held Wednesday afternoon in the Trustees Room. All club presidents and advisors, together with Dean MacKenzie, decided that membership would be primarily on a preferential basis and that number of members, traditionally limited to twenty-five be expanded to thirty. Each girl will list, in order, her choice for membership in any one of the following clubs: Arrows, Darts, Dominoes, Imps, Jacks, Peanuts, Pyramids, Sphinx, Spuds, and Trumps. In so far as possible, the first choice will be honored.

A get-acquainted tea will be held this Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock in Babcock parlors under the auspices of the Inter-Club Council.

Rush teas will be held by each social club during the week-end of Oct. 1. Every girl will get a membership bid whether she attends a rush tea or not. Preference lists will be handed out in chapel following the teas.

Girls Act as Aides In Local Hospital

Jane Elliott, president of Y.W.C.A., has announced that there are about 65 girls working as nurses aides in Beeson Hospital in Wooster. This means that there are two college girls to cover every hour of the day from 7 in the morning until 10 at night. The time schedule was worked out by Jane Phelps and all changes should be made through her. Those girls who would like Red Cross uniforms to wear at the hospital may obtain them from Jane Phelps.

Brenson to Lecture

Theodore Brenson, new head of the art department, will give a lecture Monday, Oct. 4, at 8 p.m. in Scott Auditorium, on the subject, "Graphic Arts and Decoration". He plans to exhibit slides from both the Metropolitan Museum and the Museum of Modern Art. Mr. Brenson, a member of the Society of American Etchers and the College Art Association of America, has studied in Paris and Italy, and exhibited his works in cities all over the world.

Navy Requests Silence

It has been requested by Lt. Weber of the Naval Pre-Flight Training School that all college students attending Colors maintain silence. This ceremony in which all cadets participate, is held every evening at 7:00 on the practice field in front of Douglass Hall. While the band plays the National Anthem and the flag is lowered, all persons should stand at attention, facing the flag, states Lt. Weber.

Your Voice Is Changing

THE initial handicap placed on the Voice staff has been overcome with the printing of this number. As you may know, Joe Bindley, originally appointed editor, Fred Stead and Ed Morris, successively appointed business manager, have been called to active duty in the armed services. The depletion of students in executive positions on this staff is typical of all the organizations on the campus. Because of the limited number of men students, some activities will be unable to function, and all will be curtailed.

Foreseeing this change, we of the Voice staff have felt it expedient to reduce the size of the paper. The reduction will be a temporary measure. The Voice will continue as a weekly publication in order to give you the latest developments on the home front.

The columnists will inform you and express their personal views on various subjects. If you disagree with them, write to the editor and express yours. We shall be glad to print them. This is your Voice. Use it.

Echoes of Sophomore Court

NOW that the sophomores have held their court and freshman hazing has been relegated to the past, everyone turns with relief to tackling some of the other problems of the school year. This year it would seem that the hazing was a little more pronounced, a little more drawn out than usual.

It must be conceded that hazing has its place. It justifies its existence when it gives the newcomers to the campus little time to be homesick or unhappy and helps them get into the spirit of college life. But when it prevents them from getting a good start in their studies—and even causes damage to prized personal possessions—that is another matter. A line must be drawn somewhere, and that line should be recognized by the ring leaders of such an activity. Crossing that line can lead to hard feelings between classes or groups of people—and there is no room on a campus like Wooster's for such feeling.

It is to be hoped that this year's crop of freshmen do not cherish the thought of "getting even" by taking it out on next year's class. They have been good sports throughout all of it and can be commended for that. You have proved your mettle, Class of '47, we're glad you're aboard!

Religion on the Campus

THE Moral Rearmament Association is a national group of people from all phases of life who are endeavoring to find an answer to their personal religious problems in a solution outside the church's organization. On this campus there has sprung up a few, but ardent, advocates of this MRA. They protest that they have found an unrealized comfort, and that they are more calm, more contented, than ever before. Through meditation they receive guidance which enables them to live unselfish, honest lives with a new strength. Their goal is that by human cooperation throughout the world, peace will come forever.

This movement has many good principles—among them that of prayer with God, respect for one's fellowman, and living a clean purposeful life. The emphasis, however, seems to be on details which, without clear thinking, often tend to crowd out basic principles. Jesus urged people to understand fundamental brotherly principles and to live their religion along with their lives, one an integral part of the other.

We do not condemn this group. Anything which gives satisfaction to people serves a justifiable purpose. On the other hand, we wonder if the religious organizations on the campus have failed to supply something that is needed, or if some minds have been swept away by a wind of over-emotional religion?

TIMES OF DECISION

The International Relations Club recognizing its responsibility in provoking serious thought on world problems, is presenting "Times of Decision", written by Elliot Nachtmann. Views expressed in this column are entirely his own, and he welcomes discussion of any problem presented.

War is not necessary. We are familiar with most of the causes: economic failure, national pride, or to be all inclusive, "Lebensraum" as the super race puts it. These, to name a few, are the sores which with constant irritation fester and become the raw wounds which provoke war. There is nothing mysterious about these causes and there is certainly nothing inevitable about them. To convert a nation to a war economy because of fear of war and do nothing about eradicating the cause would be similar to the patient who wore a scarf every day of the year because of his intense fear of getting a cold, but finally died of pneumonia because he persisted in going without rubbers. It is up to us to eliminate irrevocably the causes for war, not just temporarily, but for ever and absolutely, and not just one of them but all.

During the current MacArthur offensive one of the most important factors in our success has been the mistaken Japanese strategy of sending reinforcements in hundreds instead of in thousands. If the material and men which Japan had sent to retake Guadalcanal, for instance, had come at one time and overwhelmingly, instead of dribbled just fast enough for us to mop up, we might still be fighting for that little island.

In the same way, I am afraid, we are tackling the problem of preserving our way of life. In times of peace we do just enough to maintain the status quo between nations and amongst peoples, between one social group and another, between labor and capital. In time of war we mobilize only long enough and only just as much as is necessary for the temporary subjugation of the aggressor nations. We do not seem even to recognize the prime necessity of eliminating the causes of conflict.

Now is the time to put an end to such short sighted policies. We have tried "too little, too late" to the very brink of disaster. Why can't we insist on total mobilization not only for total war, but also for total peace?

The economic, scientific and political gains of war certainly do not result from the senseless killing of one another.

These gains result from a united action of peoples mobilized totally to achieve one goal—freedom from conquest. Just imagine if you can the gains both to men as individuals and as political groups that would result from a total mobilization for peace.

Why can't we remain mobilized for peace and extend the progress born of the necessity of war. The negro race could continue its climb to equality. Surely God did not intend gradations of mankind, a slave race and a master race. Tolerance of another's religion, of another's color, of another's customs, is easy when based on respect. Now as never before, Jew, Christian, and Moslem have worked for the same thing—freedom—and are achieving it. Black, white, and yellow fight and die for the same thing—freedom—and are achieving it. All we have to do is take advantage of the growing respect and knowledge of another gained through the hell of war and we will have come a long way toward attainment of world peace.

In the same way mechanical gains should be retained; ship pool-

Cabbages And Kings

By JOHN BATHGATE

"The time has come," the Walrus said,
"To speak of many things—
Of ships and shoes and sealing wax
And cabbages and kings."

Thus we begin another series of columns destined to add, as we may have said before, practically nothing to the total culture and erudition of the student body and of others whose eyes may accidentally fall upon these lines. These are times that try men's souls and times in which to speak of things which will not burden further our already over-burdened souls. Amid all the blood, sweat, and tears, the belly-laugh remains—Thank God for that! The day we lose our sense of humor, we are lost indeed.

We have been trying, albeit in vain, to promulgate on this campus an appreciation of a story which, to our mind, typifies most of the higher things of life. A group of people, who are without any doubt on the Berlin payroll, are attempting to undermine our morale by refusing to permit themselves even so much as a titter whenever we tell this story. A fig to them, say we and persist. So . . .

A man went into a restaurant one Thursday evening and ordered dinner. (This was an earlier, less strained day when one ordered dinner. One now acts as demure as possible, bows his head in a moment of silent, fervent prayer, and—if the stars prove favorable—eventually gets what at most is no more than a mere shadow of a former substance.) Well, he ordered dinner. It was brought. A large bowl of green, buttered spinach was set before him. He gazed at it a moment in deep enjoyment and then plunged both hands deeply into the bowl. He raised a generous portion of the dripping greenery above his head and proceeded to spread the spinach over his head, into his ears, down his neck, over his shirtfront, up his sleeves—all the while smacking his lips and drooling in satisfaction.

"Why, sir," asked the waiter in a troubled voice, "do you spread that spinach over your head, into your ears, down your neck, over your shirt-front, and up your sleeves?"

"Spinach?" howled the diner. "Migawd, I thought it was cauliflower!"

We don't suppose you'll like this one either. Well, we're going to print it anyway and say, with Vanderbilt (in his famous reply to a reporter in 1883), "The public be damned!"

My sense of hearing weak.

But could not hear its peak.

It's A Date

By BETTY LOU DICKENS

Wars may come and men may go—but social events go on forever. No social life ceiling zero for the fellows, coeds and cadets of Wooster College! Take this weekend, for instance . . .

Prexy Rosie Kennon and her Pyramids have planned a bridge party Friday night. Trumps and Dominoes will be guests. Not to be outdone, the men at Livingstone have organized an old-fashioned hayride for the 25th, complete with hay, horses, and hot dogs.

The long-awaited WAA-YW style show and tea takes place at Babcock on Saturday. Come in your best bib and tucker to get some helpful hints for that ailing wardrobe of yours. Liz MacMillan's Spuds, convoyed by the Navy will whoop it up Saturday night at Galpin. That night, also, Babcock will be the setting for a Senate-sponsored orchestra dance . . . or haven't you heard them practicing?

The week-end will be well rounded off with the Interclub Council tea on Sunday afternoon. The rushees will have a chance to look over the clubs before the fatal decision has to be made.

"Hats off!" this week to Kenny Compton and the YW for the hard work that led to a successful Navy Dance last Saturday night.

So c'mon girls! Drop your knitting and powder your noses. It's a date!

ing, lend-lease, and a united war command can be revised to meet the needs of a peace-time society.

We can keep the gains of war so wastefully bought only if we—our generation—decide to do something now about the world we will have to live in. The choice is ours! Either we face the problems now, and face them successfully, or we shall face another war in the immediate future.

COUNTER SHOP-WISE — A T — FREEDLANDERS

Another school year has begun and with it begins the search for knowledge and the search for new ideas on how to win and wow 'em. Need I say who?

As always FREEDLANDERS is in there plugging for you; bringing you the latest in fashion foibles for the campus.

Any person who is really oriented to the Wooster campus is familiar with the famous weather prediction—"Rain today". For you Frosh who may not have known about it but who will soon be aware of it; Freedlanders has in stock the latest fitted trench coat style raincoat. It's made of skinner's tackle twill (the stuff the grid stars pants are made of) and it comes in a heavenly shade of blue and also natural. It's double breasted for extra warmth and protection and has a perky tie belt. If you wear size 12, 14 or 16 you're in luck because there's one waiting for you at $15.95.

No matter what the season or where you're going or what you're doing it seems an extra jacket can always be put to good use. The Sports Shop on the 3rd floor has a good selection of separate jackets in plain colors, plaids, and hound tooth checks. There is also a honey of a fitted jacket in natural fleece for just $10.95. There is a complete selection of what you want and the price range is $9.85 to $12.95.

Some of you might be smart to explore the men's and boy's departments for jackets. Janet Gill picked up a smooth-looking corduroy there and you can be assured of real men's tailoring.

A good selection of skirts and sweaters in all colors can always be had in the Sports Shop and remember your credit is good at FREEDLANDERS.

REPORTS ON SPORTS

We are rounding the corner in to September bringing fall, cold weather, and football. Although baseball still has a few weeks to run, football is rapidly gaining the limelight. Already reports from the radio and newspapers are coming in on games all over the country, service team games and professional games.

War has brought many new faces to the Wooster gridiron this fall. The gridders have been selected from the Naval Cadets of the Eighth and Ninth Battalions and in order to give you a clear picture of the '43 Wooster Scots, we should have to look to the past and scan the lineups of a number of well known college teams, such as Bowling Green, Grand Rapids, Case, Ohio U., and many other teams familiar to grid fans.

The best way to round out this picture is to go over the list of potential backfield men. In addition to Jay Lehman, who has played under Johnny Swigart for the past three seasons, the backs include three former Bowling Green men, Lowell Sielschott, Dick Lowry, and Pete Popovitch. Two other experienced backs are Bob Dunn, who played for two years at Mission House College and one year at Heidelberg, and Bill Dibler of the University of Chicago. Also among the contenders for backfield positions are Alexander "Duke" Radovitch, who performed at Ohio U. for two years, and Robert Otting, 185 pound quarterback from Michigan State.

On the line Coach Carl B. Munson has four likely looking men for the tackle positions. T. Taylor, who weighs 200 pounds and played two years at Ohio State on the Freshmen and varsity squads, Bill Prayt, a tackle on the Michigan squad, and Tom Schassberger, who attended Columbia. Both Prayt and Schassberger are in the 180 pound class.

For guards and center, the Scot line also includes Ted Heckler of Heidelberg, and Bruce Reese and Francis Gerace, both of Ray Ride's varsity squad at Case. End candidates are Bob Schnee, of Akron, Dick Ott, of Capital, and two Bowling Green wingmen, Mark Welker and Leonard Hedtky.

Coach Johnny Swigart will take his 1943 football squad to Delaware this Saturday to open the gridiron season with the Battling Bishops of Ohio Wesleyan. It is going to be difficult this year for the fans to pick out their favorite player and follow him through the season, as was formerly done, because of the fact that the team is made up of newcomers, who have very little contact with the students on the campus.

Ohio Wesleyan has almost the same condition on the campus as there is here at Wooster, with the football team made up predominantly of Naval Cadets and V-12 apprentice seamen. Many of the men out have had considerable football experience, including two men, Earl McCleary and Carlo Lota, who have played professional football.

Coach Carl B. Munson is head man this year in the physical education program, as far as the gym classes are concerned. Since there are only some 60 or 70 boys in school this year, and the N.F.P.S. has taken all other available teachers, Munse holds the reins in all men's classes.

The boys are taught the rudiments of marching and are given tough building up exercises. The "Commando course" is in perfect shape this year, with a few added attractions, including a jumping pit and a climbing rope.

Wooster College will have another pro-baseball player on the campus this year, but he is no stranger. The man is Jerry Katherman, who has spent the summer pitching for the Wellsville Yankees and the Lockport Cubs in Pony League. Jerry was picked up last year by the Yankees and sent to Wellsville. After playing three-quarters of a season with them he went to the pennant-hungry Lockport Cubs and helped pitch them to the Pony League crown.

His time wondering how his basketball team will come out this year. He has three letter men returning, Dick Craven, Jerry Katherman, and Bill Lytle, plus 600 Cadets to pick from and no doubt some prospective freshmen. More power to you Mose, and look out Mount!

 In Cleveland with the Federal Housing Administration is Miss Dorothy Zucker, former instructor in German. She has been replaced by Dr. Mary McKittrick, who arrived Sept. 20 to take over her classes. Dr. McKittrick taught from 1938 until last April at Harding College in Arkansas. She obtained her B.A. degree at Mt. Holyoke College in Massachusetts. She received her M.A. at the University of Pittsburgh and her Ph.D. at the University of Wisconsin. Dr. McKittrick has been associated with the War Department Administration since last April.

Big Four Cabinet Makes Year's Plans at Retreat

The Big Four cabinet which consists of the officers of Y.W.C.A., Y.M.C.A., Student Fellowship and Sunday Evening Forum, held a retreat on Aug. 29. Tentative plans for the year and for the Week of Prayer were given.

The Big Four room will be open every evening for the use of the students. Current magazines, a radio, and the library of the W.S.G.A. are among the facilities available there. Anyone interested in acting as a hostess in this room should see Jane Elliott.

"JEEPERS, DAD! I'M WRITING UNCLE SAM'S HANDSOMEST FLYER AND MY PEN CONKS OUT. THINK IT CAN BE FIXED?"

"SEARCH ME, PAT. PENS AND REPAIR PARTS ARE SCARCE. WHY DIDN'T YOU PROTECT IT WITH PARKER QUINK? IT HAS SOLV-X IN IT!"

Pen shortage grows!

To keep your pen writing... use Quink with solv-x!

DON'T expect to replace your pen if it fails now! Production of all pens—especially of first-choice brands—has been sharply reduced by Government order. Repair parts, too, are scarce!

Why not let Parker Quink provide the "ounce of prevention"? This ink alone has the magic ingredient, solv-x.

FOR V...—MAIL "Micro-film Black." Parker Quink in "Micro-film Black" photographs perfectly! It is jet-black—ideal for every use. Quink comes in 7 permanent colors: Micro-film Black, Blue-Black, Royal Blue, Green, Violet, Brown, Red. 2 washable colors: Black, Blue. Family size, 25¢. Other sizes, 15¢ and up.

PARKER Quink

THE ONLY INK CONTAINING SOLV-X

Solv-x roots out the causes of most pen failures. It fights off the metal corrosion and rubber rot always caused by highly acid ink. It ends clogging and gumming... cleans your pen as it writes!

For steel pens, too, Quink is ideal. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wisconsin, and Toronto, Canada.

SOLV-X in every bottle of Quink... protects pens in 5 ways!

1. Protects rubber...lengthens the life of sac or diaphragm.
2. Dissolves sediment and gum left by other inks. Cleans your pen as it writes.
3. Prevents clogging of feed.
4. Safeguards base metal parts...
5. Assures quick starting and even flow at all times.
