11-2-1973

The Wooster Voice (Wooster, OH), 1973-11-02

Wooster Voice Editors

Follow this and additional works at: https://openworks.wooster.edu/voice1971-1980

Recommended Citation
https://openworks.wooster.edu/voice1971-1980/77

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the "The Voice" Student Newspaper Collection at Open Works, a service of The College of Wooster Libraries. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Voice: 1971-1980 by an authorized administrator of Open Works. For more information, please contact openworks@wooster.edu.
Taxis cost more, rides riskier

How to escape from the College of Wooster

By Jeff Adair

With the end of the quarter only a few weeks away, students are beginning to think about transportation home for the break. SGA and LCB have not yet committed to the charter buses, but Jack Bryan, vice president of SGA, said they will try to have buses leaving Wooster every day of finals week and for the following finals if there is enough interest. Cost for the trip, which goes directly to the student’s home, will be under $3.

A commercial bus leaves Wooster three days a week from Akron and Cleveland. The bus to Akron would cost $2.80 and to Cleveland, $3.05. However, both of these buses take the passengers through bus terminals and to the airport, The Cleveland bus has a lay-over in Youngstown, which is some form of transportation such as the Rapid Transit System would not be needed to finish the trip, adding another expense.

Taxis can be an expensive way for students to get to airports. To the Akron-Canton airport costs $2.50, and Cleveland, $35.

The fourth method, riding with another student, plane due to the cheapest and most risky method of transportation. The average cost for student rides is around $3.

Legally, according to a spokesman for the Commission of Ohio (PUCO), students cannot advertise to take students to airports or airports who say that they have a chauffeur’s license and have obtained a franchise from PUCO. The spokesman for PUCO said that the driver is not allowed to advertise for his services, and the fee to be applied for gasoline and maintenance, according to PUCO, the Supreme Court ruled that drivers in state parks could not be charged with violating any PUCO regulations, as long as any compensation was being applied toward maintenance. College students driving rides to airports would fall into this category.

Technically, a ride given by one student to another student to the airport is legal even if the driver charges the passenger. To be legal, the driver is not allowed to advertise for his services, and the fee to be applied for gasoline and maintenance, according to PUCO, the Supreme Court ruled that drivers in state parks could not be charged with violating any PUCO regulations, as long as any compensation was being applied toward maintenance. College students driving rides to airports would fall into this category.

The Ohio State Highway Patrol is on the lookout for these drivers, and they could not enforce any actions against students transporting others to airports because they assume that the trip is a contract between the driver and passenger under the philosophy that, "I'll run you up if you pay for the gas."

Mrs. Doris Coster, Dean of Students at the College, said that any student who decides to shuttle students to the airports for a donation of a shared expenses agreement to avoid any legal hassles. She said that if a student pays a driver to take him to the airport, the driver is liable for any injuries to his passengers. If the agreement were reached for the passenger to share in expenses, the driver would not be responsible.

"PUCO said that there is no large "gray area" in interpreting the section of the Ohio Revised Code about students transporting others for compensation without a license.

Awaits Drushal, Trustee OK

Campus Council approves on-campus pub

By Richard Kiebolewicz

Campus Council approved a proposal at its last meeting to establish a student operated pub on the campus. The plan is not approved until the Board of Trustees.

The pub is being patterned after last year’s "Cage," a bar located in Severance Gymnasium, the "Cage" provided live entertainment, dancing and the opportunity to buy 3.5 beer. The organizers considered the "Cage" the latest in student bars, and the Board of Trustees, most likely, would approve the project.

The Committee plans to borrow funds from the College to set up the pub, which will be located on the basement of the College for initial outlay of $3,000. It is hoped that the pub will be open year round, with the possibility of expanding the on-campus facility to $3,000.

This plan was presented to the Board of Trustees during Homecoming Weekend. Along with the detailed proposal, the Committee submitted a "Resolution of the COW Community Which Can Be PASSED By the COW Campus Pub," listing six reasons for adopting their plan.

First, a pub would provide the Committee argues, a relaxed atmosphere for student-body-administration interaction on an informal basis where beer is an option instead of a focal point of entertainment.

Second, it acts as a "natural incentive to remain on campus during the weekends."

Third, a centralised facility for diverse programs is useful so that security resources could be more efficiently used in a controlled atmosphere.

Fourth, it provides the need for an "on-campus facility large enough to handle large social events."

Fifth, an on-campus pub offers an alternative to the Lowery Center atmosphere.

Sixth, the existence of an entertainment center creates student opportunities to learn how to run a business, to learn from managing its operation.

The Student Entertainment Center Committee brought their proposal and rationale to the Board of Trustees. This board, in turn, presented the plan to the entire Board at their Homecoming meeting. Since time was too short to examine the proposal, the Board gave the power of approval to the Executive Committee.

Run Wilcox, chairman of Campus Council, explained that this move was necessary if the pub is to be opened this winter quarter. If the trustees had tabled the proposal, the pub would be postponed until next quarter in April.

Wilcox observed that the Trustees, who are the stewards of Student Affairs was pleased with the students efforts. They united behind the plan, elaborated, and strongly urged President Wilcox to accept the proposal.

If President Drushal approves the plan, the board will go before the Executive Committee at their November meeting.

No objections were raised by continued on page six

‘Rosencrantz’ to finish off fall Little Theatre season

By Cortnie Redman

Wooster’s final Little Theatre production of the fall Quarter will be presented November 8-10 in the College’s College Hall in a production titled “Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead” and was written by Tom Stoppard. This play is familiar with Shakespeare’s Hamlet, and it tells the adventures of two of Shakespeare’s lesser known characters with action revolving around their ex-cons while familiar characters from “Hamlet” including Hamlet, Ophelia, Gertrude, and Polonius contribute to the entertainment.

A big cast is participating in this production, with members include: Susan Black, John Hamlin, Tom Shupe, Pamela Placey, Amy Howard, Andy Ford, Susan Black, Diana Kolman, Jon Skidmore, John Bennett, Bob Heatherington, Mark Landis, Don Johnson, Scott Baxter, Batta Stiefel, and Steve Crain. Nan Close will assist with the direction, Walker Joyce and Andy Ingraham will be portraying Rosencrantz and Guildenstern from New Providence, New Jersey has previously appeared in “One O’Clock Wanderer,” “Reefer,” “Orestes,” “Fashions,” and “Ixion.” Andy Ingraham is senior from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania appeared in the play "Under Milk Wood.

Richard Kiebolewicz continued on page six
More on impeachment

To the Editor:

For me Mr. Nixon's speech of last Friday night marked the end of a struggle which will be theirs to face throughout the administration's right to go over to the remainder of its term. Along this road must be continued investigations by the Judiciary Committee regarding the constitutional and ity and impeachability of such presidential acts as the bombing of Cambodia, the imprisonment of funds appropriated by Congress, the authorization of a White House task force to burglarize private citizens in the interest of national security, and the continued use of official power to bar legal process.

Aforethought:

Karen Underwood, Acting State NOW Coordinator

One wonders, if the Democratic National Convention were to have been organized as the Ohio NOW Convention last weekend, it would never have stretched past prime NBC time. The General Assembly of Ohio's National Organization for Women took up 11 October 1973, for an entire year in less than three hours, which left the delegates plenty of time to enjoy the side shows, poetry and art exhibits and attend the myriad of workshops on subjects such as rape, child care, legal rights, fund raising, affirmative action, employment, women in poverty and feminist studies.

The conference was held on Saturday, October 27, at Cleveland's Greytang Hall (a 10-story equivalent to our Lowry Center), I attended with three other Wooster NOW members, Marilyn Wilkins, co-chairperson of our local chapter, Cindy Brill, a Wooster member, and Barbara Steiner, a student from Gracemary Park and West Village (New York), and a member of the Ohio NOW, who attended with several resolutions of our own after the crazy ride to cincin:

1) Akron NOW was attending proposed roads to be abolished and burned;
2) There are no "Big Macs" in Zanesville, only Maverick Burgers; there is a discussant stench just outside of Columbus,
3) And the gas stations and attendants along route 71 have "short hose" - try to keep a straight face when they explain their way out of THAT one!

We were fortunate to know a former Wooster NOW member who lives in Indianapolis (and has an Italian landlord with the best house plants - coffee trees, orchids, violets, asparagus ferns, in southern Ohio) and she lent us her duplex for the weekend.

Once at the conference (come Saturday morning) one could get in touch with men and women of all ages and races who had gotten together to deal with sexism on a state level, Ohio, as learned, is not as conservative on this issue as one might believe - a recent speech revealing proposals for Ohio's Civil Rights Administration said that the recent resolution of sex in the Ohio Civil Rights Code for employment was only "because NOW has itself and others concerned about that piece of legislation, of course the Equal Rights Amendment is the next target. I attended a workshop on that issue and then compiled some quick tips on how to answer the foolish questions citizens always seem to have, face about like "poty reasoning" (the so-called "right to be in private"). This right is guaranteed already in the constitution and will continue to be!

As for women being drafted, Congress AlREA has a ban, and a representative from Cleveland, who had recently immigrated from Britain, testified that she had to take the O.A.T. when she came to the U.S. swearing she would serve if called!

The Press Relations Workshop was phenomenal! Tips included: "Never send thank-you notes to publications that print your press releases. Women are legitimate newsworthy."

There are some hilarious incidents along with the serious. Cindy wandered into a room of middle-aged businessmen who were struggling in a separate conference, and had been assigned the wrong room! "I apologize for my sexualism?" Candy asked. She guessed by the gasps that it wasn't what she wanted.

We had a super meal in a German restaurant and decided to stay another night but one should be warned! Without any clearance of the name of one street can change four or five times!

The Bloodmobile needs YOU!

It's that time of year again. The Red Cross Bloodmobile is making its fall visit on Thursday, November 9th.

Twice a year campus community members have the opportunity to donate their blood. The Bloodmobile will be at the Ohio State University Church (Mainky Hall) from 15 A.M. to 4 P.M. to collect the precious commodity. The overwhelming generosity of past donors has motivated for an increase of staff, so that the wait is quicker and easier than ever.

Sign up some time during this week on the chal for the Bloodmobile, for an appointment any time between 10 A.M. and 4 P.M. on Thursday, November 9th. There are over 18 years of age and 10 pounds is eligible and wel-

If for any reason you are not able to sign up but decide that you would like to give, come to the Church House anyway. You may have to wait a bit longer because we must take those with appointments first, but it will still take less than two hours.

We returned Sunday, with a load of pamphlets, prints, quotes, and nasty notes and enough ideas for three years! The best bit about this is that you can do it with the cover of the latest MS magazine which questions the lack of humor in the movement. While I agree with Gloria Steinem that there is nothing funny about injustice, I think if women get control of the jokes they can laugh any foolish sentiment out of the words of women.

"Good morning gentlemen..." I have an announcement to make.

I am no longer your secretary typing, smiling, listening to trivial.

I am taking over this office.

And hijacking it to cub's

From a collection of poems sold at the conference from a collection of IDEAS to be SOLD AT HOME!

To the NOW conference we go....we went...
Reel World

The return of Alfred the Great

By Bob Hetherington

"...and since I can't stand arguments, I would say to her, 'Yes, it's only a movie.'"

-Alfred Hitchcock

In the past decade the most serious charge that has been leveled against the work of Alfred Hitchcock has been that of dullness, that absence of suspense in the simplest cinematic effects, that lack of surprise and malevolent wit that characterized the twists of terror in PSYCHO. Indeed, one became alarmed that the promise of PSYCHO had somehow trickled through the years in a sad, somnolent TOPAZ. This testy observation only serves to emphasize that Hitchcock's latest, FRENZY, his latest film, and Friday night's Matreer screens it every way, and is a cause of jubilation among those who admire and deride, respectively.

Once a Londoner, always a Londoner. Twenty-two years ago, in 1947, FRENZY, the film about to come home finds its hero in the same locales that Peter Lorre personified in his London stage. At the start of the film, a spruceman is addressing a class - a class on the cleanliness of the river. A girl's naked body, a piece of all too solid pollution, drifts in.

The Chile Story:

By Joe Strejnowaki

Now that we've heard from a member of the upper middle class, we next turn to Mrs. Norris, about the present situation there, in the polyglot working class of Chile. This is the side of the working class people and the poor which has been neglected in Chile. This viewpoint was expressed quite convincingly by a young student, Adam Garrett Schest at a week and a half ago on Case Western Reserve University's campus.

First, some background: The Garrett Schweshe family are graduate students, and were doing scholarly research in the area. They had been living there since Al- lende took office. They lived in the working class people and were in contact with the various political organizations. They were arrested during the takeover by the junta because of their leftist literature. They had other, less inflammatory (as the Garretts would say) literature, coming from the entire spectrum of leftist literature, coming from the entire spectrum of leftist literature, coming from the entire spectrum of leftist literature, coming from the entire spectrum of leftist literature, coming from the entire spectrum of leftist literature.

The Garrett Schweshe family have been in Chile for 3 years and have seen the hope and promise presented by Allende's administration. They have experienced the brutal assault of the junta, All of what they have to say refutes the view of Mrs. Norris and her middle class latent friend.

Concerning the "comprehensive plan by Allende to stage an uprising," let it be noted here that the covert efforts themselves to combat the inevitable military coup. I say the covert efforts were formed to combat the inevitable military coup. The military attempted the coup d'état no less than six times before they were repelled.

The military had its first purge itself of those who were sympathetic to the cause of the working class people, those who were sympathetic to the cause of the working class people, those who were sympathetic to the cause of the working class people, those who were sympathetic to the cause of the working class people, those who were sympathetic to the cause of the working class people. During the coup d'état, many workers, both leftist and Christian Democrats, decided to fight the military in the factories. The workers were bombarded and destroyed through the country. All the factories were the workers themselves.

The only real factor which contributed to the overthrow of the junta was the fact that there was no organized effort to have the junta. The "legal loopholes" used to defeat the junta and overthrow the junta were those owned by people who were not Chileans. The reform was an effort to distr

The economic pressure from the U.S., should not be exaggerated. There were tampering with the internal affairs of a country. The coup should not have influence. That is not democracy, but an intervention. That is not democracy, but an intervention.

To the charge of general corruption, let it be said that the junta's corruption in the United States, and you don't see Nixon, Corruption can be found in any human govern-

The market was not ready to make an increase in demand, in part because investment in factories and in production in Chile was curtailed by the U.S. government (an import-

That is simple economics. That is simple economics. That is simple economics. That is simple economics. That is simple economics.

The only real factor which contributed to the overthrow of the junta was the fact that there was no organized effort to have the junta. The "legal loopholes" used to defeat the junta and overthrow the junta were those owned by people who were not Chileans. The reform was an effort to distr

The economic pressure from the U.S., should not be exaggerated. There were tampering with the internal affairs of a country. The coup should not have influence. That is not democracy, but an intervention. That is not democracy, but an intervention.

To the charge of general corruption, let it be said that the junta's corruption in the United States, and you don't see Nixon, Corruption can be found in any human govern-

Ski Fashion show Tuesday

The Lowry Center Board Ski Club is sponsoring a Ski Fashion Show tonight in the main lounge at Lowry Center. Along with the fashion show, there will be a special menu which includes a buffet and a winter program. The menu includes a buffet and a winter program. Tentatively, its plans include three weekends, and there will be over winter and spring breaks and a series of ski lessons. After the fashion show, any-
B-W favored to win OAC championship meet here

The College of Wooster will host the Ohio Athletic Conference Cross Country Championships tomorrow. It is the third time in the past six years that the rugged L. C. Boles Golf Course has been the site of the championship meet.

Baldwin Wallace is likely favorite to win the coveted championship over Mount Union, who has won the title five out of the last six years, and Denison University is the defending champion.

Three other schools, Wooster, Marietta, and Otterbein, have fielded strong teams this year and can be considered to have outside chances at the title.

Last weekend, Wooster easily defeated Denison, Wittenberg, and Muskingum on a difficult course in Granville. Tim Barron, from Marietta College, is favored to win the individual championship. He has been beaten only once this season while on the way to an OAC relay win and numerous course records.

Wooster fields its strongest team in years, but no Scot runners will be among the frontrunners in this race, Coach Bean emphasizes that his team may not be as fast as Mount Union or Baldwin Wallace, but that the Scots balance can offset the opponents' speed. "We're going to run in a block," says Bean. That's the way the Scots will approach tomorrow's race.

The OAC championship has been a long time goal for the Wooster cross country team. But unlike many other goals, this one is as real as it was when the season began. But the Scots will have to run their best race of their already impressive season to win and to know it.

The team and Coach Bean invite all campuses and community members to the competition. You can make a big contribution to the Scot's effort with your presence. Come out to the Wooster golf course tomorrow and cheer the Scots to their first OAC title.

Sue Bledins lines up to smash the ball back to Oberlin last Saturday at Bowling Green. The Scotties increase their record to 7-2. Traveling to Wooster Saturday will be the team from Ashland. The Scots are 2-10-1. The Junior varsity will be searching for their first win as they dropped both matches last week.

Scots host underrated Capital University

John Bohannon received recognition from head Coach Pat O'Brien for his outstanding defensive efforts. His confidence and consistency has led to big defensive plays throughout the season.

By Jon Hall

Tomorrow afternoon the Fighting Scots take on the Capitol Crusaders in both Ohio Capital Conference Red River Games. The Scots, now 9-1 overall, have already defeated the Crusaders, 35-0, in the regular season game.

This year's game will feature a strong Capital team, while the Scots' defense will be the key. Both teams are in the mix for the conference title, but the Scots have the upper hand in this game.

The game begins at 1:00. The Scots are determined to come away with a win.

Other upsets

SATURDAY: Tuscarawas at Wooster, 7:00; Tri-Valley at New Philadelphia, 7:00; Muskingum at Mount Union, 12:30; Baldwin Wallace at Marietta, 1:00; Otterbein at Wittenberg, 1:00; Ohio Wesleyan at Mount Union, 1:00; Capital at Wooster, 1:00; Marietta at Wittenberg, 1:00; Baldwin-Walla-Walla at Ohio Wesleyan, 1:00; Ohio Northern at Wittenberg, 1:00; Mount Union at Oberlin, 1:00; Wooster at Wooster, 1:00; Tri-Valley at Mount Union, 3:00; Capital at Tri-Valley, 3:00; and Wooster at Capital, 3:00.

OTHER GAMES:

Vore, Friday, November 2, 1973

ONE HOUR MARTINIZING

In A Hurry!

One Hour Cleaning

Until 4 p.m. Daily

Shirt Service Included

Wooster's One Hour Cleaner's

1855 Beall-College Hills Shopping Center

Next to Sears

Phone: 262-6651

Sat. 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Good Merchandise Our Business And Pleasure Since 1879

Public Square, Wooster, Ohio
Scotties unbeaten in first varsity swim season

By Jayne Hart

The women's varsity swimming team completed their first season in style with an undefeated record of 8-0. Of the eleven times set in their first meet at Wooster against seven and Ashland holds four.

On homecoming weekend Wooster beat Ohio Wesleyan 30-24. The next meet was a tri-meet with Capital, Wooster and Baldwin Wallace. Wooster won again with a final score of 103-29-50. In the last home meet of the season, last Saturday, Wooster stroked by Denison (24-0). This was a very eventful meet however, Nancy Luger finally was able to win her specialty, the 100-yard butterfly; and Liz Larcom now holds the team record for the 100-yard backstroke at 1:12.62. This Tuesday the Scotties won their last meet of the season against Wittenberg. The final score was 64-32.

Freshman Susan Sheffler wins the 50 yard breaststroke here against Ohio Wesleyan. She finished the season undefeated in both breaststroke events.

Scott Booters face B-W first time after tie with OWU by Jeff Moore

1973 will go down in the fighting Scott soccer annals as the Year of the Tie. The Booters are three for three in ties in the season at this column's printing and their record stands at three wins, one loss and two TIES. By comparison, the greatest number of ties recorded by a Wooster soccer team was two, by the 1965 and 1966 squads.

After two successful performances against Denison and Kenyon, in which Wooster tied 1-1 and lost 1-0, respectively, the team traveled to Delaware, Ohio, to meet Ohio Wesleyan University for an OAC night game. Battling Bishops had already defeated Kenyon 3-1, and Ohio Wesleyan, and, it seemed, outdined the Kenya-Wooster contest and the game was a complete disaster for the players on both sides. Considering the time difference between Ohio Wesleyan and Wooster, the Scotties did their best to prepare his team for this important conference game. Realizing that the Scots have been well scouted, he reorganized the offense and defense to optimize the strengths of individual players. He even had the team practice under the lights at Wooster High School, under conditions similar to those at Wesleyan.

Wooster played out for them. The Bishop were a strong, fast team and were among the best teams in Ohio.

Wesleyan was first to score on a scramble in front of the Scott goal at 26:50 of the first half. Shortly after that, O.W.U., had an opportunity to make it a 2-0 game when Wooster was penalized for a handball within the penalty area. Wooster's goalie Howard Cohen played the penalty kick situation beautifully as he positioned himself first to left-of-center then right-of-center of the goal mouth. The change seemed to so unnerve the Wesleyan player elected to take the kick, that he rocketed the ball harmlessly over the top of the goal.

They made up for that mistake with one minute to play when Wesleyan's Bill Boston scored after the ball bounced off an unidentified player in front of the Scott net.

It wasn't until the second half that Wooster came alive. Passing and defensive play improved as the Scots began to play more physically than they had in the previous two games. It paid off.

Freshman Gary Davidson was first to get Wooster on the scoreboard as he headed the ball into the goal on a cross from Mel Oliveira at 19:39 of the second half. Wooster's second goal came only minutes later as Craig Levinsky kicked in a Davidson cross that the goalie managed to stop only after it was in the goal.

Wooster continued to dominate the second half despite occasional threats by Ohio Wesleyan. Still, the Scots could not put in any more goals and had to settle for a disappointing 2-2 tie — last year, the Scots won two out of three games in overtime periods. Because of a rule change this year, the overtime has been eliminated in college soccer.)

This Saturday, Baldwin-Wallace invades Wooster for a game that marks the first meeting of the two teams. If the Scots can pick up where they left off against Ohio Wesleyan, they should come away with more than a tie.

Scoties upset twice on two Ohio artificial turfs last week

The field hockey team played well at the state tournament last weekend, but were beaten by the team from Ohio State at Ohio State University, 1-0, in the semi-finals. The tournament was played at Baldwin Wallace College on an artificial Poly-turf surface and featured fast moving games.

The Booters played Oberlin Thursday afternoon and completely dominated the game while winning, 3-0. Marjo Forbush led the attack with two goals and co-captain Melinda Weaver added another. Oberlin crossed into Wooster's half of the field only four times in the game and did not take any shots on the goal. Wooster met a fired-up team from Ohio State University on Friday morning. Playing conditions were excellent and the game was one of the fastest paced of the season. The Booters threatened to score from the start, but were unable to find a mark despite having many opportunities. Ohio U.'s game came midway in the first half, but the Booters continued to control play during most of the game.

Several Scotties played particularly well in the tournament,

Marjo Forbush played well offensively and defensively. The three halfbacks, co-captain Brenda Meese and freshman Betsy White and Joan Olson, were outstanding, as they played solid defense and constantly aided the attack.

The Booters played at Ohio State earlier in the week and lost, 2-0, on the artificial turf there. The Booters had difficulty adjusting to the soft surface and were unable to cash in on several scoring threats. The Booties have enjoyed the support of many people throughout the season. The JV squad, many of whom went to Baldwin-Wallace to cheer the Booties, deserve special mention.

This week brings up the season for the Booties. They travelled to Wittenberg Tuesday to play the last regular season game. On Saturday they travel to Ohio Wesleyan for the Buckeyes selections, where all-star teams will be selected from five schools.

The Gift Corner has something for all Your Gift Needs CARDS, JEWELRY, OTHER GOODIES
Council approves on-campus pub
continued from page one
Council members at Tuesday's meeting. However, a member of the gallon, J. Arthur Baird, a Professor of Religion, cautioned the College against applying for a 2.2 liquor license, terming it "a potentially explosive and dangerous move."
Baird said there are three positions that the College could assume regarding drinking prohibits, discouraging, or encouraging it. Prohibition, he admitted, infringes on a person's freedom to choose. The question, then, he argued, is whether the College intends to discourage or promote alcohol use. Baird also noted that recently he has encountered students having academic problems because of alcohol.
Dorla Coster, Dean of Students, said in an interview that no faculty members have noticed her of students having academic difficulties because of drinking. Baird raised other objections. He contends "that drinking won't take second place," but will be the focal point of entertainment. Baird said, "I am not saying that the College is not regulating drinking now and establishing a system, but what I am saying is that we should just be creating another outlet for alcohol."
Expressing concern for people's safety, Baird contends that an on-campus pub will lead to students drinking and then driving. Finally, he believes that non-drinkers may be prompted to begin drinking with a more liberalized atmosphere.
Several Council members responded to Baird. John Kneen reiterated one of the conclusions of the Committee. The College per license would be at social functions only, with little control over who get the beer and the amount they receive. Dispensing the 2.2 beer at the pub, on the other hand, would be regulated. He also mentioned that the College is now operating illegally when Food Service purchases an 18.5 license to sell to organizations for social functions. Dean Coster admitted that the matter "is legally a gray area."
When the College initially arranged for Food Services purchases, the distributors indicated that other colleges operated without the 2.2 license. But recently the distributors have complained, he said that they would prefer to deal with the College if they had a license.
With the pub on campus, Kneen said, students will not have to drive to a bar, thereby staying off the road.
Kenneth Hoover, an Assistant Professor of Political Science, presented three arguments in favor of the pub. First, he has visited two campuses where beer was sold, apparently with no major problems.
Second, he said "rather have student's attitudes shaped here than at a downtown bar."
Third, as a responsibly operated facility, it would encourage the development of a mature attitude towards alcohol. This may be valuable, Hoover stated, since one is likely to encounter drinking after College.
"What are we contemplating is a very, very unwise move," Baird counseled before leaving.
With no further discussion, Council unanimously passed the proposal.

Theatre presents 'Rosencrantz' comedy
continued from page one
play in senior speech major Bruce Brown's dormitory. He has participated in numerous plays including "Carnival Billy," "The Tempest," "Three-Penny Opera," "The Exchanted Wood," "Trout and Eve," and "Orestes." He is also very active on the staff of Wooster's literary magazine, The Woosterian. Dave Schieve, has created a unique and realistic multi-level set. Others involved in technical aspects include Dick Stottz, Lightman William Dyle, stage manager; Jenny Muller, props; Mrs. Winfield Day and Amy Hungerford, costumes; and Rachel Williams, make-up. Tickets are now available for the play at the main desk of Student Union.

'Aesops' try-outs
Miss Barbara Eler of the Theatre Department has announced that try-outs will be held for the winter production of AESOP'S FABLES on November 13 between 6:00 and 8:00 and November 13 between 8:00 and 10:00, and again between 8:00 and 10:00.
Auditions will be held in Scott Auditorium. AESOP'S FABLES is a rock musical based on the tales of Aesop. The presentation will tour the Wooster area and will be presented on campus January 25 and 26.
Anyone interested is urged to obtain a script from the theatre office located in Washburn Hall. Also, please plan on singing a tune of your choice at the audition.
Also, Miss Eler is still on the look-out for a combo from the College community to accompany the production. She may be reached at the phone number 264-1234 (Extension 540).