Castell Replaces Ferm As Philosophy Dept. Head

Dean J. Garber Drushal, chairman of the university's department of philosophy, announced this week the new chairmanship, membership, and curriculum for the Department of Philosophy.

President Lowry has appointed Dr. Albury Castell, currently head of the philosophy department at the University of Oregon, to replace Dr. Virginala Ferm who retired last year after teaching for 37 years in the department.

Castell recently earned his Ph.D. at Boston College, and has taught at the University of Oregon since 1969.

"We are pleased that Profesor Castell has accepted Wouste's invitation to be Professor of Philosophy and Chairman of the Department," remarked Dr. Lowry this week.

"He brings with him a distinguished record as teacher and scholar and as an understanding of the liberal arts that will be invaluable to us," Castell added.

"The philosophy department has grown in size and distinction under the leadership of Dr. Ferm. His many students have been greatly challenged by the challenge we faced when we sought his replacement," Dr. Lowry said.

"We feel fortunate, therefore, in finding a man of Dr. Castell's stature to continue the strong leadership in the department."

Ossington Prof.

The Canadian-born professor in philosophy and B.A. and M.A. degrees at the University of Toronto, where he was appointed in 1970.

Before his appointment as chairman of the philosophy department at the University of Oregon in 1969, he had taught at Columbia College and the University of Minnesota.

Professor Castell will be in charge of the philosophy department at Yale and the University of Oregon.

Open to Freshmen

Among those to be elected at Dr. Cassell's new report are women. In addition to introducing the philosophy program, Castell plans to increase the number of women and minority students.

On the other hand, the philosophy program will be continued by the department.

Castell has also been visiting professor at Yale and the University of Chicago, both by Professor Castell.

Renowned Astronomer Speaks On Explorations of Universe

Dr. Jason J. Nassau, astronaut from Case Institute of Technology, will speak at the Head of the department.

Dr. Nassau is currently a member of the department.

His research interests include the study of the universe and its evolution.

This address is entitled "Our Current Understanding of the Universe in the Thursday's Physics club meeting at 12 p.m.

It has been attended by more than 100 students.

Castell has also been invited to speak at the University of Oregon in 1956.

The physics department will speak in Chapel on Monday on the subject "Thee and the Science of Astronomy.

That evening, he will speak at 8:15 in Taylor.

College Establishes Professorship For Dr. Frank Ferris Of Cleveland

A professorship in philosophy will be established at the College in honor of Dr. Frank H. Ferris, former chairman of the philosophy department of Fairmount Presbyterian Church in Cleveland.

This announcement was made at 4 p.m. in Memorial Chapel with Dr. Ferris and members of the faculty in attendance.

"It was felt that the best way to honor Dr. Ferris was to establish a professorship in his name," Dr. Ferris stated.

"Dr. Ferris has been a friend and mentor to many of us at the College.

He spent 24 of his 32 years at the College, serving as Chairman of the First Presbyterian Church, East Cleveland, from 1950 to 2016, and then went on to found the Philosophy Department of the University of Oregon.

"I WANT TO HOLD YOUR HAND as I take your pulse," says Nurse Finley to ailing Bob Wollcott. "Loudmouth has been rehired with funds from Dr. Sturman's physical examination.

Knowledge or Wisdom
by Barbara Bute

The long-awaited Mock Convention becomes reality to- morrow, when Wooster students will participate in one of its finest means of political expression. Our only hope is that the more than 500 delegations that are thronging to the campus at this time are "yes", Wooster's Mock Convention should mirror the po- litical ideas of knowledgeable students and will be a credit to this college, for the returns are printed and broadcast throughout Ohio.

Where We Stand

A recent interview with the editor of the Kent State- rater indicated that the CORE chapter at Kent State does not necessarily support the Socialist student leader- ship and the extremist speakers the group has attempted to sponsor seem give basis for editorial disapproval. Our criticism of the SGA-LK incident is that we cannot look towards CORE but its silence on the issue. Why, we questioned the new staff of the daily paper wait four weeks before commenting on this issue, although, per- haps blown out of proportion, is still important enough to attract the attention of numerous Ohio newspapers.

It will be the policy of the new editorial board of the Voice to attempt to speak out on issues vital to the campus at the time they occur in order to encourage the idea common on this campus that the editorials of a newspaper should represent the views of all viewers. Instead we will continue to base editorial comment on what we think are the best interests of the student body.

Facts Of Life

Most of our readers are aware of what some consider to be a revolution of morals within our society. This topic is currently being discussed with increasing frequency in not only among students and in their publications, but also by national news magazines and well-respected journals of contem- porary thought.

Last fall the Dean made a formal statement to the student body in order to clarify the Administration's posi- tion on this subject. Student council and faculty was reaffirmed as the moral standard of the College regarding pre-marital sexual relations. Students, it continued, must either accept the decision of the school or leave.

The Voice supports the Administration's right and duty to take a stand on this issue. Nevertheless, we believe that moral standards are "standard" is necessary to fulfill the responsibility the College has undertaken for such a debatable position.

Students have recently shown their desire to make their personal decisions on a firm foundation by requesting that the college physician and the college pastor organize a series of 10 work sessions to be provided an opportunity to discuss on a common ground the basic physical and psychological factors involved in sex. Both program coordinators reported that the discussions were quite valuable in providing basic factual knowledge and correcting sensually inaccurate understand- ings; a firm consensus recommended extending the program.

The Voice finds that it must agree with the conclusion of other editors in the April 6 issue of Newsweek: "Colleges cannot tell a student what he will do, he must decide for himself."

The Colleagues can only present the contemporary facts of life to their undergraduates as candid possibilities and then keep their fingers crossed, hoping somehow the sun comes in. It means taking a chance on their intelligence, but that, after all, is the real nature of education.

The Voice strongly encourages the Administration to face- we frankly and clearly the questions with today's critical society considers the College's stand.

John T. Bate, former dean of students at MIT, percept- ively pointed out the problem in the April issue of The Atlantic Monthly: "Losing morality is nothing. Without morality.

Baseballers Fall To Hiram Terriers, Prepare for Two Games Tomorrow.

By Dennis Gaetzel

On Thursday, April 18th, the St. Louis baseball team traveled to Berea to open their non-conference season against the Yellow Jackets of Baldwin-Wallace College. The Yellow Jackets emerged victorious in an exciting 9-4 game.

Wooster tightened up their defense and began to peak at the end of a 3-7 lead in the sixth as a result of three errors. However, the St. Louis defense performed relatively well in the bottom of the sixth. The Yellow Jackets scored three runs in the second inning, but by the third inning, the Yellow Jackets were out of the game. The Yellow Jackets overpowered the St. Louis defense in the sixth inning, scoring three runs and adding to their lead.

The St. Louis defense performed well in the final inning, but they were unable to keep the Yellow Jackets from scoring. The Yellow Jackets scored three more runs in the sixth inning, bringing the total to 9-4.

DIVINE INTERVENTION

After being rained out of elements late last week and early this week the St. Louis team rescheduled a game with the OAC rivals tomorrow. The weather forecast for tomorrow is favorable, with temperatures expected to reach the mid-70s. The game is scheduled to begin at 1:00 PM and could last into the evening.

For some, baseball is more than a sport; it’s a way of life. For others, it’s just a way to pass the time. But for those who love the game, there’s nothing quite like a day at the ballpark. Whether you’re a die-hard fan or just looking to get outside and enjoy some fresh air, there’s no better way to spend your afternoon than watching your favorite team take the field. And if you’re lucky enough to live near one, you know exactly what I mean. It’s a local institution. A place where friends and family come together to cheer on their hometown heroes. Where memories are made on the diamond and stories are shared around the campfire. Where the taste of hot dogs and the smell of freshly-cut grass are as much a part of the experience as the game itself. It’s a tradition that has stood the test of time, and it’s one that we’re proud to support. So come out and join us for a game today. Whether you’re new to the sport or a seasoned veteran, you’ll find something to love. And if you don’t already have a team to root for, come on down and become one! We’d love to have you on board.
