Gum Shoe Hop
Try-outs Saturday
Call Local Talent

Tryouts for the 1945 Gum Shoe Hop will be held Saturday from 2 to 5 o'clock in Scott Auditorium, Taylor Hall. The two teams, John and Erwin, and two girls, Kitty and Leon, will be on hand to form the characters. These parts include two songs, a change of stage, and it is decided the fate of the Hop as a whole will depend on who open the show with a lyric number. The presenting agency is General Club, with Edward Mandell as president and J. T. U. and a "red tomato," the girl who wrote a Gum Shoe script for four years and never had any acceptance. Neither was it for a male student, and a lacrosse campaigner for the Fredos. One of these roles demands singing ability.

There will be eight girls in the dancing chorus. Especially in demand are Miss Helen Wains, who is planning to major in choral or piano. A special dance routine for the Gum Shoe Hop has been arranged by the director.

Seven men are in the cast. Three will be singing, and their singing roles are being assigned to bring out the nature that will enable them to synchronize.

Girls outside the participation who do not come under house rules continuation will be barred.

Presentation of the annual senior concert of the Glee Club will open the Activities of the Week of Prayer. The concert will be given on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 4 at 4 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church. This marks the first annual observance of the Chorus of the Church. This year Miss Richmond has arranged the following program for the concert:

Thurs: The Inner World - Handel: Te Deum, Lord, Dismiss Us, Amen, Gloria in Excelsis, Non Sumus
Fri: The Lord's Prayer - Sacred: Gospel:

Forthnightly Gives Modern Opera

Forthrightly will present "The Old Maid and the Thief," a licentious opera by Gluck Carefully nibbling at the edges of good taste. The opera will be given in Scott Auditorium. The four members of the cast are Misses Jeannette McDonald, Joan Sodkins, Peggy Hughes, and John Shaw. Miss Richmond will be the accompanist of the piano, and Miss Doris Fetera will be the accompanist of the voice.

The Rev. Mr. Richmond will be Master of Ceremonies. The Rev. Dr. J. Stuart

Miss Richmond was the first place in a contest held New York several years ago.

Tickets for the opera will go on sale Saturday, Feb. 3 in Hawthorne Hall and will also be sold Saturday and Monday. Miss Richmond will be present to sell tickets and will be at the Royal Drug Store. Tickets are 50c, in advance.

Miss Anita Martin
Joins Spanish Staff

Miss Anita Martin, the new Spanish teacher, arrived on our campus Wednesday, Jan. 11. She will take over the classes that were taught by Miss Ogilvie—two sections of your first year and two sections of second year Spanish.

A native of Kansas, Miss Martin majored in Spanish at the University of Kansas, receiving her B.A. degree. She received her M.A. degree from the University of Texas in Spanish literature. One summer she studied at the University of California in Berkeley, and another summer she studied at Harvard University Language School in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

She has had a wide teaching experience in various languages, particularly Spanish.

Miss Martin has just finished six months in the WAC, entering the service as a private and becoming a corporal. While in the WAC Miss Martin taught Spanish at Fort Oglethorpe in Georgia. After this tour of duty Miss Martin went to the University of Kansas and came to us from that institution.

All girls who have had the Red Cross Nurse's Aid training and experience are asked to contact Pat Bryant at 1400 L.

Suds From Our Beer

Hey ding-dong and Budie sing!,
Estimated, fresh, and bright!
Our lager beer has begotten
Our kelter beer has wakened.
We've sold a hundred thousand cases;
Our kegs have conquered races.
Yes, sir, our beer is topographical,
Our sales are topographical.

Please don't lose your subscriptions on account of these sudden alterations in the state of the nation. In cases of fundamental change in the nation's policies, please don't blame your subscriptions for the change in the nation's policies."

The Spotlights

This week, we are featuring a story about the pride and what seems much more important: the joy and happiness found in the city—where there are nine women in ten houses. This city is the home of the Coca-Cola company, where the joy is taken in its highest form—its product takes place in one corporation, and it is the center of the industry, and in the other, he would be looking for the current darling of Sidney Hillman's heart.

The story of the struggle is short and sweet. The main thrust of the story is that to find a man while he is here, he must be in the right position. The main thrust of the story is that to find a man while he is here, he must be in the right position.

On Your Honor

In keeping with the trend toward mature thinking and studying, it is interesting to see some serious thought being given to the problem of the renewal of an honor system at Wooster. There has been comparatively little discussion of this topic in recent years, but recent events brought to the forefront a number of questions. Several professors in practice of lifting the vow during examinations were in process. Some of the more concerned honors classes have given a number of talks and have given some of the students the opportunity to discuss. In both cases, the students appreciated the trust that has been placed in them and presented a good feeling of pride and freedom.

In order to clarify the film of misconceptions that often hovers over this idea of honor work let us show in what way the system functions. There are two chief methods. The one asks that a student give notice of his own help and requires that a student give notice of the help. The second asks for the practice of lifting the vow during examinations. This is a serious protest against those who are not honest and against those who are not honest.

The Voice would like to hear your opinion on the subject. When some definite opinion is formed it can be stepped into by the Student Senate. The college is a liberal educational institution, and the more toward intellectual maturity virtually taken it seems entirely logical that moral maturity in a form of honors work should not be lacking in Wooster's curriculum.

"Frankly, We Shall Invite You ...

Almost as though he were psych! Dr. Lowery included the words below, which perfectly sum up the spirit of the Work of Prayer, in an addendum this fall. We urge you to read these words. We urge you to enter the Week of Prayer with good faith and a willing frame of mind, and to build and make your own decision. We urge you to think, quietly, calmly, and thoroughly.

This College holds that behind all is a great and loving Father who has given to each individual the very best and good, that exacts justice but loves mercy; and who, through the divine grace of love, gave His only begotten Son that man might have everlasting life. The logical result is to believe in the church, in the church.

Evangelical Christianity. It has to be, because evangelical Christianity is the only kind of Christianity there is. The mark of the true follower of Christ is (1) a desire to change his own life and his own practice, and (2) to see such a change in the lives of others.

Woosteranonoon, you are not merely to a life of Christian thought, but to a life of Christian action. You are not merely to, either to escape the world, or to draw down, as you can, from the spiritual world, and all that you can draw down and transform it. It asks of you some of those fine creative movements, the teachings of the church, of Christian ethics— not that your lives be may be mingled, and that your minds be mingled with society and the world, and the world and society.

Frankly, we shall invite you to prayer: Christ, who was the greatest in these matters, and whose influence went deeper than any other man's whom the world has record—He prayed. It seems only fair that you too should pray, and pray for knowledge of yourselves and for knowledge of our lives."

Wooster Tankers Wallop B.W.; Lose First Meet of Season to B.G.

By Ben McDonald

JUST ANNOUNCED — The swimming Meet with Oberlin, which can be considered a very important game of the season, was postponed until Feb. 13, 7:45 p.m.

The hopes of an unbeaten season for the Swimmers on the behalf of the Swimmers for the Tankers on the behalf of the Swimmers for the Swimmers for the Tankers, was a fact that the blow had kind of settled down, speculates are of the idea that the Swimmers for the Tankers, were at their worst in the last meet, the three being unable to participate. Bob Wagner, freestyler, came down from snows during the night before the meet, and will be out for two weeks. Stan Moore, distance swimmers, contracted a cold and is unable to enter the water, and, Jack Wallen, breast swimmer is an entering the service now.

Wagner and Moore will both be back in time, but Wallen is gone for good. He took a first place in the meet against Bowling Green in three weeks ago, and a second against B.W. for a total of 10 points in two races. He is a fine swimmer, and will be missed.

In the next last week, Bob Scott, backstroke, and trainer Bill

A recreation room under College auspices will be opened shortly in the lower part of the new Student Union as reported by the Office of the Dean. Present plans also indicate that the recreation room will be made ready for use within several weeks. Ray Griff- fey, head of the Recreation Department, has announced.

Recreation has been in progress for about a week and involves dancing, swimming, and other activities for the classroom as well as reporting and general repair. Mr. Griffith said that he hopes to pass on to the students and the community occasional parties and activities that plans are also underway for the mod- eling of the room, known as the Big Rude Room. His model will be furnished by the W.S.C.G. fiction library.

Senator Clarifies Point System

At the present time the point system limits the number of Sen- ators to the number of students in each class. It is as follows:

Only one student of any class may hold an office at one time. The mayor ef- fects included the following.

Senior Senator, M.D.H., W.S.C.G., Y.M.C.A., and W.A.V.B. are the only offices included are the class presidents and the other business men, Senator Molina, the student representative of the University, has announced.

No set restrictions are placed on minor offices as the amount of interest is varied from year to year. All students are expected to partici- pate in extra-curricular work but are supposed to limit their work according to their abilities.

nurs cards, Mr. Wallace would have been a handful of s- on, and Mr. Jones would get a quick flash. "Effec- tiveness" and "experience" are arguments against Henry. If you don't have the guns pointed in the right direction, all the efficiency in the field artillery won't help you get a grip on the situation. It will rather much help Mr. Wallace do the aiming, even if he misses a few shots in getting the range. Especially if he has got his eye in the right way that he outlined in his testimony before the Senate Committee. 17,000,000 dollars for post-war jobs, tipped foreign trade, better wages and fair price policies are some of the goals he mentioned.

"Let us not forget the pain- ful lessons of the last two decades; economic nationalism and political democracy at best insti- tute and unstable without economic democracy." Economic democracy — a true American ideal — sounds extremely more like Wil- son — and lem me for my own philosophy of "government of the common man, by the Harvard man and for the businessmen."

Guest minister for Sunday, Feb. 13, will be Dr. Curtis R. Douglas, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Fortieth, Iowa. Dr. Douglas will also participate in the Work of Prayer commission service.

Dr. Douglas, who is known to all upper-classmen as a friend and counselor, was pastor of Wooton- man Chapel until last year.
