2-19-1965

The Wooster Voice (Wooster, OH), 1965-02-19

Wooster Voice Editors

Follow this and additional works at: https://openworks.wooster.edu/voice1961-1970

Recommended Citation

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the "The Voice" Student Newspaper Collection at Open Works, a service of The College of Wooster Libraries. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Voice: 1961-1970 by an authorized administrator of Open Works. For more information, please contact openworks@wooster.edu.
Voluntary Campaign for Capital Expenditure Funds

The Free Press April 19, 1965

Despite concentrated efforts by the Dean of Student Affairs of Centennial Hall, scholarship funds from endowments seem unlikely to increase proportionally to the recent rise in tuition.

According to figures provided by Director C. T. Smith, approximately $58,000 was collected for scholarships last year. The interest from these funds (which had been accruing during the present school term) will total less than $10,000 and will be available for the next term only.

Considered in view of a base of $60,000, the $5,000 representation is less than 11 percent of the increase in tuition for the year.

Cost Squeezes

Nevertheless, the "cost squeezed" student has not been excluded from seeking every effort within his power to afford assistance. The endowment funds, for example, do not exhaust the sources, from which student funds arise. Marshall, Unions, libraries, and student scholarships are among the many remaining sources of financial aid. Money received from the government is collected for use for a specific purpose, and the government, therefore, does not contribute any more than what is required, for the purpose.

When asked what effect the government's aid will have on the current level of high tuition, Mr. Reed and Mr. Young agreed that the effect would be ad

"The Three Wise Men Visiting Maine" by Sosha Weidensucker is one of the Japanese prints an exhibit at the art center. See story on page 2.

Dean's Office Asks Yearly Examinations of Campus Groups' Financial Accounts

The occurrence of three separate cases of mishandled funds during the past year has led SCA Treasurer Bill Sanghake, at the recommendation of Dean Drozd, to propose a scheme of regular examination of the financial affairs of all campus organizations. This plan will be submitted and approved by the SCA. The scheme is designed to protect the college from fraudulent activities of its members and to promote more efficient control of student funds.

Since the college is responsible for all campus organizations, any inefficiency experienced by the college is reflected in the entire college community. The scheme of regular examination of all campus groups is an attempt to admit the SCA to the role of an instructor for campus organization members. It is hoped that the scheme will be adopted by all campus groups.

Second, there is a need to prevent any possibility of financial loss by setting up a standard procedure of examination at regular intervals.

"First, there is a definite need for an accurate system of bookkeeping. Some organizations do not have even a record of income and expenses.

"Second, there is a need to prevent any possibility of financial loss by setting up a standard procedure of examination at regular intervals.

"Third, there are separate cases of mishandled funds. The board of trustees has already approved the plan and it will be submitted to the SCA, the group that supervises the college's financial affairs.

"Fourth, there is a need to examine the college's statement of assets and liabilities, and part of the plan is to have a report prepared and filed.

"Fifth, there is a need for a standard procedure of examination common to all campus organizations.

Under the proposed plan the SCA treasurer, with the approval of the faculty, will become investigating officer in these cases. A letter will be sent to each organization explaining the new policy followed by personal interviews between the SCA treasurer and the treasurer of each campus organization beginning next month.

At the beginning of the term each treasurer will be responsible for the organization to submit a budget to the SCA treasurer. This budget will be found and will be compared with the list of income and expenditures for the term by the organization's treasurer. The treasurer will determine whether the organization's funds have been mishandled. This statement will be treated as current assets, and will be used to determine the organization's financial affairs.

The treasurer of each campus organization will be required to submit all financial records of his organization to the SCA treasurer on his request.

Each new treasurer will receive a copy of procedures at the beginning of the term. He will also meet with the treasurer of the SCA to receive training in a simple single entry journal method of accounting.

The treasurer's financial statements will be reviewed by the SCA treasurer and the campus organization president. The treasurer's statement of assets and liabilities will be reviewed and a report will be filed.

"Fourth, there is a need to examine the college's statement of assets and liabilities, and part of the plan is to have a report prepared and filed.

"Fifth, there is a need for a standard procedure of examination common to all campus organizations.

Under the proposed plan the SCA treasurer, with the approval of the faculty, will become investigating officer in these cases. A letter will be sent to each organization explaining the new policy followed by personal interviews between the SCA treasurer and the treasurer of each campus organization beginning next month.

At the beginning of the term each treasurer will be responsible for the organization to submit a budget to the SCA treasurer. This budget will be found and will be compared with the list of income and expenditures for the term by the organization's treasurer. The treasurer will determine whether the organization's funds have been mishandled. This statement will be treated as current assets, and will be used to determine the organization's financial affairs.

The treasurer of each campus organization will be required to submit all financial records of his organization to the SCA treasurer on his request.

Each new treasurer will receive a copy of procedures at the beginning of the term. He will also meet with the treasurer of the SCA to receive training in a simple single entry journal method of accounting.

The treasurer's financial statements will be reviewed by the SCA treasurer and the campus organization president. The treasurer's statement of assets and liabilities will be reviewed and a report will be filed.

"Fourth, there is a need to examine the college's statement of assets and liabilities, and part of the plan is to have a report prepared and filed.

"Fifth, there is a need for a standard procedure of examination common to all campus organizations.

Under the proposed plan the SCA treasurer, with the approval of the faculty, will become investigating officer in these cases. A letter will be sent to each organization explaining the new policy followed by personal interviews between the SCA treasurer and the treasurer of each campus organization beginning next month.

At the beginning of the term each treasurer will be responsible for the organization to submit a budget to the SCA treasurer. This budget will be found and will be compared with the list of income and expenditures for the term by the organization's treasurer. The treasurer will determine whether the organization's funds have been mishandled. This statement will be treated as current assets, and will be used to determine the organization's financial affairs.

The treasurer of each campus organization will be required to submit all financial records of his organization to the SCA treasurer on his request.

Each new treasur
The Evaporation Cycle

One major reason for the difficulty of survival of the small library is that most of us are affected by the idea that libraries are primarily an expensive luxury that we cannot afford to provide for ourselves and that they serve only the needs of the small group that uses them. This is a false assumption, however, and one that can be refuted by the example of the Wooster Library.

The Wooster Library is a small but extremely well-equipped and well-stocked library that provides a wide range of resources for the students and faculty of the university. It is a valuable asset that is used by a large number of people each year. The library is open to all students and faculty, regardless of their majors, and it provides a wide range of materials, including books, journals, and online resources.

The library is also a valuable resource for the community, providing a wide range of materials and services to the local community. It is a place where people can come to read, study, and to learn about the world. The library is also a valuable resource for the local community, providing a wide range of materials and services to the local community.

In conclusion, the Wooster Library is a valuable asset that is used by a large number of people each year. It is a valuable resource for the students and faculty of the university, and it is also a valuable resource for the local community. It is a place where people can come to read, study, and to learn about the world. The library is also a valuable resource for the local community, providing a wide range of materials and services to the local community.
A Great Night At Delaware

by Steve Arkin

When I said last week that the game against Ohio Wesleyan should be “an even better trip as expected,” I ended up being a prophet without honor. Not only did the Buckeyes make mincemeat of a small town that makes Chicago look huge, but they also demonstrated that basketball is played at such a high level that it is peaceful to watch as well.

Adding to the “fizz” was OHIO’s Edwards Gymnasium, a physical education plant of Bowman vintage and form. I made the mistake of not arriving in Delaware until 45 minutes before game time, and thus was forced to enter the game without a seat. A friend joined me, rounding out the packed balconies. Five minutes was enough time for the Buckeyes to warm-up and prepare to destroy the nation that Ohio Wesleyan has class both on and off the basketball court.

The game itself was very similar to the Wittenberg contest just one week previously. Wesleyan moved to the outside and scored a slight advantage at half-time. I turned to Mr. Bees after interrogation and asked for a prediction. “Twenty minutes of appointed basketball” was the reply. And so it was.

What Wesleyan did in the final 10 minutes or so was outclass Franklin Simon’s crew. The Owls had an O/E of 1.35 in the half, meaning that we scored 1.3 times every time we brought the ball downcourt. This is the highest O/E recorded against the Buckeyes this year and is stunning in the fact that a rating of 1.0 is considered good. Such numbers in the Banterless George Tungberg certainly have good O/E returns. The Buckeyes scored a 1.50-second half in beating Wesleyan.

Bill Gribble, of course, was the star hero for the evening. But give kudos also to everyone else who contributed. Wesleyan’s key men were John Roseberry, Henry George and Beaver. They added a ton of this to the total and continued to do so if the Buckeyes were going to have to produce much in the success.

Add some controversial calls but both, a little “raw” press, and some lack of Buckeye confidence, may have been factors. Bill Gribble had a great evening for an Al Van Wouw and his successors.

If the Owls do survive today then they will finish the regular season 19.9 and 9.5 in OC play, the same conference mark they achieved last season.

Ken Nurse, coach at Manhattan College in New York, stated recently that both basketball games could be handled just one official. No two officials are exactly alike and personalities sometimes conflict when we can just as much as two. The Buckeyes will work harder since he’s the only handling game.” Optics.

Latest OC statistics show two Scots, Dave Goldberg and Bill Gribble, in the top five conference free-throw artists. Both are around the 80 percent mark. Buddy Harris stands seventh in conference rebounding with 8.3.1 covers.

A fast reaction last Saturday were probably reasons of: the win over OWU brought Al Van Wouw's four-year record to an even 100-38. With the 107 points, 69 buckets would be added to 581 and 158 marks before the Wesleyan victory ended its overall record.

BIG GAME GARY BISHOP

Nina Free Threes Doom OHU

G.O.C. Tournament Opens Thursday

Atmosphere, Delaware and Capital will be the sites for the 1966-67 Ohio Conference Basketball Tournament. The tournament, in its sixth year, will be followed by the Southern Division Finals at Axel and the Southern Division Decisions and the finals will then be played at Capital on March 6. Five sectional games will be held on Sunday, Feb. 21, at Axels for the Northern Division and at Denison for the Southern.

V.J.'s Game Previewing Axels will be handled by Kenneth "Red" Cross, athletic director at the University College, and coach of Axels. A group of officials will be from Axels, Baldwin-Wallace, Heidelberg, Hillsboro, Mount Union, Oberlin and Wooster along with Davenport from the surrounding area, will meet in Memorial Hall at Axels.

Starting at 12 noon lunch will be served in the University Cafe. A free着hing of the Buckeyes is expected to begin in Memorial Hall at 2:30 pm.

Division Finals Saturday

Action in the Northern Division playoffs will see three games against Axels University at Thursday, Feb. 26 at 6:00 and 10:00 p.m. and 7:00 and 9 p.m. on the 24th, the Ohio Wesleyan Buckeyes against the Tigers from Axels.

The tournament begins at 10:00 p.m. with Memorial Hall March 5 and 6.

Tankers Drop Seventh by Bill White

Axels' Zipplissplashed a 29-19 victory over the Worthington Swimming teams swimming into the Ohio Conference championship. The loss was for the seventh for the Scots against one victory on the season. This afternoon the Scots traveled to Elder Hall to face a tough Delaware Team.

Joe Ball split the waves again in the 100 yard freestyle events. Gerry Meyer matched the other first victory with a first-place finish in the 50-yard freestyle event. After today two meets remain, the first meet will be held at Dearborn and the second meet at6 January 1960.

Send Coach Van Wouw, head coach of the Buckeyes, a card and he takes his squad into the OAC Reys for two weeks from today.

Sixth AA Blasts Delts, Meets Second Tonight

by Dennis Goettel

Sixth AA put a triumphant display of shooting tonight. At 6:15 the Owls were rolled over 133-44. With such a heavy loss, the Owls did manage to reach the 13th place in the conference for the first time in the first 17 games. 7-7, 2-0, and 6-0, as the Owls did not lose a game to the Buckeyes.

The Owls used this display of shooting to start their season for the first time in the first 17 games. 7-7, 2-0, and 6-0, as the Owls did not lose a game to the Buckeyes.

The Owls used this display of shooting to start their season for the first time in the first 17 games. 7-7, 2-0, and 6-0, as the Owls did not lose a game to the Buckeyes.

The Owls used this display of shooting to start their season for the first time in the first 17 games. 7-7, 2-0, and 6-0, as the Owls did not lose a game to the Buckeyes.

The Owls used this display of shooting to start their season for the first time in the first 17 games. 7-7, 2-0, and 6-0, as the Owls did not lose a game to the Buckeyes.

The Owls used this display of shooting to start their season for the first time in the first 17 games. 7-7, 2-0, and 6-0, as the Owls did not lose a game to the Buckeyes.
Sharp Debate Team Cops Three, Tournament Wins

by Jerry Meyer

Scrashed over the small blackboard in an office in the rear compartments of Taylor 205 are crowded lists of seemingly incoherent markings interpersed with names like Nick, Rocky, Tim, Phil, Dave, and Sunny, and with figures like 5/26/46 or 22/8/47.

Furtarily, Mr. Hardy explained that these were the names of two of the debate team, Nick Karatinos, who has won 22 and 8 debates, and Rocky Rodenmiller, who has won 24 and lost 3.

The director of debate also likes to talk of the tournaments in which Wooster participated. At Pittsburgh, Wooster tied for first place with four wins and no individual debat.

The States, and lost 36 votes to 34 points, and lost 22 votes to 16 points, and in the 22 point victory. The team was composed of Mr. Hardy, the director of debate, Mr. Miller, and Dr. Meyer.

This weekend the debates are at Hamser, New Hampshire, for the Dartmouth, Colby, and Hampshire National Tournament, the 'best tour-

The team consists of Mrs. Wernham, Mr. Hardy, Mr. Hurd, and Mr. Meyer. Of the 46 debates, Mr. Hardy, Mr. Hurd, and Mr. Meyer will participate.

The most competitive event will be for the Top Point team. Only 36 students can attend this tournament. The motion is divided into eight districts and the winners of the district competitions go on to debate at West Point itself. Mr. Hardy feels that it would be a good experience for the students, and also in the district eliminations.

Building Next year" says Mr. Hardy, "will be won by the best student in the country." Mr. Hardy, Tim Tilton, and Dave Peterson are senior, and will be replaced. For there will be several experienced debaters, including Mr. Hardy, Mr. Tilton, and Dave Peterson.

Wooster's debate team has won its second national title, according to Mr. Hardy, "the first national title the team has ever won."

The second is the lack of re-

The debate is set for 8:00 p.m. at the Union of Illinois.

In the second round, the debate team will be paired with the team from Brown University.

Mr. Hardy went on to discuss some other highlights of the year. Last summer, Mr. Hardy had a job at the University of Kentucky teaching debaters," said Mr. Hardy. "We have a good team this year, and we are excited about the future."
Special 'Philosophy Conference' Pre-Print [For April 16 Issue Of The Wooster VOICE]

Wooster Hosts Meeting On Comparative Philosophy, Culture; Seventeen Celebrated Scholars Feature Program April 22-24

Below are the biographies of the 17 distinguished conferences for the Conference on Comparative Philosophy and Culture to be held at Wooster April 22-24.

Dr. F. S. C. Northrop
M.A. (Yale), M.A. (Harvard); Ph.D. (Harvard), Sterling Professor of Philosophy and Law (Emeritus), Yale University; Lit.D. (Hon.), Beloit College; L.L.D. (Hon.), University of Hawaii; Lit.D. (Hon.) Rollins College; and Litt.D. (Hon.) Plant Institute; conferred the Order of Merit of the Age of Equality by the Government of Mexico, 1949; Professor Extraordinary, National University of Mexico, since 1949; visiting Professor, Universities of Iowa, Michigan, Virginia, Hawaii, Melbourne (Australia), and National University of Mexico.

American Council of Learned Societies Award (1964) for distinguished accomplishment in humanistic scholarship; President, Society of History Dr. Northrop and Philosophy of Science (1948); President, American Philosophical Association (Eastern Division) (1952); Member, National Council of the American Association for Advancement of Science, Advisory Board of the Society for the Philosophy of Science, Advisory Board of the Werner-Grun Foundation, The Natural Forum, World Association of World-Federalists, etc.; Founding Member, East-West Philosophers Conference, Honolulu; Represented USA at the Third SEATO Round Table Conference, Bangkok, 1958.

Publications include, besides a large number of articles, the following books: Science and First Principles (1931), The Meeting of East and West (1946), The Logic of Science and Humanities (1947), Philosophical Anthropology and Practical Politics (1939), Ideological Differences and World-Order (1949), Man, Nature, and God (1962), and The Taming of the Nations (1952).

Dr. Paul Tillich
Ph.D. (Breslau); John Niebu Professor of Theology, University of Chicago.

Formerly Professor of Philosophical Theology, Union Theological Seminary, New York (1933-55); University Professor, Harvard University (1955-62); Professor of Theology, University of Marburg (1924-25); Professor of Philosophy and Religion, Dresden and Leipzig (1925-29); and Professor of Philosophy, University of Frankfurt (1929-33).

Since the end of World War II, Guest Lectures in the Universities of West Germany and the universities of Western Asia, Tokyo, Docthia, and International Christian University in Japan.

Hon. Degrees: Doctor of Theology (Halle); Doctor of Sacred Theology (Yale); Doctor of Divinity (Glascow, Harvard, Wesleyan, and Colgate College); Doctor of Humane Letters (Princeton, Chicago, Clark, Brandeis, New School of Social Research, and Franklin and Marshall College); and Doctor of Philosophy (Free University of Berlin).

Honors: Grosse Verdienstkreuz (1956); Goethe Medal (1956); Goethe Prize (1958); Peace Prize of the German Book Trade (1962); and Essays in Honor of Paul Tillich (1969).

Publications include, besides a large number of articles, the books mentioned below. Dr. Tillich wrote both in English and German and is still writing, and translation of his works from English to German and vice versa is still being done.

The Religious Situation (1932); The Interpretation of History (1936); Systematic Theology (1951, 1959, and 1963); The Courage to Be (1955); The New Being (1955); The Shaking of the Foundations (1948); Dynamics of Faith (1957); Theology of Culture (1959); Love, Power and Justice (1960); Christianity and Encounter of World Religions (1963); The Eternal Now (1963); and Morality and Beyond (1963).

Dr. Richard McKeon
M.A., Ph.D. (Columbia) and two Diplomas (Paris); Distinguished Service Professor of Philosophy and Greek, University of Chicago.

Honorary Doctors: Universities of Aix-Marseille, University of Brown, Brown University, Brown University, Jewish Theological Seminary; Visiting Professor, University of Arkansas, Yale, and Baroda (India).

President, American Philosophical Association (Western Division), Metaphysical Society of America; and International Institute of Philosophy; Vice President, American Society for Political and Legal Philosophy; Member, U.S. Delegation to the General Conferences of the UNESCO at Paris Mexico City (1948); Brantford (1948); Commissioner, U.S. Embassy at Paris (1947); Paul Carus Lectures on the American Educational Association, 1965.

Publications include, besides a large number of papers, the following books: Freedom and History (1932); Thought, Action and Passion (1954); The Freedom to Read (1957); and editions of Aristotle and Medieval Philosophy.

Dr. Sterling M. McMurrin
M.A. (Utah), Ph.D. (Southern California); E. E. Eriksen Distinguished Professor of Philosophy, University of Utah.

Honorary Doctorates: L.L.D., Universities of Utah, Clark, Southern California, and Delaware State College; D.Litt. (University of Puget Sound).

Formerly Professor of Philosophy, University of Utah (1946-64); Dean of the College of Letters (1954-60); Academic Vice President (1960-61).

Specialist for Department of State on Special Mission to Iran to serve as special advisor to the Chancellor of the University of Indonesia, Massachusetts Education Study; Member, Research Advisory Board, Committee for Economic Development; Member, Board of Trustees, Carnegie Foundation of the Advancement of Teaching; Member, American Council on Education's Commission on Plans and Objectives for Higher Education; Consultant, Office of Science and Technology, Executive Office of the President; Member, Inter-university Committee on the Superior Student.

Past Chairman, Mountain Plains Philosophical Conference; Member, Executive Committee, East-West Philosophers Conference (1964). Consultant, Fund for the Advancement of Education (Ford Foundation), etc., etc.

Publications include numerous monographs and articles on Philosophy and Education (co-editor) and A History of Philosophy (co-author).
University (Marquette Foundation Lecturer, 1948), College of the Pacific (1953), Yale University (1957-58); Southwick Lecturer, Columbia University, on "The Self in Philosophy" (1960).

President, Fifth Annual North- west Conference on Philosophy; President, Pacific Coast Conference on Teaching Philosophy; Fellow, Social Service Council of Canada; Awarded Friar's Scroll, University of Oregon, 1953; Vice-President, American Philosophical Association (Pacific Division), 1959.

Publications include, besides numerous articles, the following books: Introduction to Modern Philosophy (1945); Second Edition (1963); The Self in Philosophy (1945); College Logic: An Elementary Ethics; Position Papers in Philosophy of Education, etc., etc.; Editor of the following: J. S. Mill's On Liberty; Selections from T. H. Huxley; Thomas Paine; The Age of Reason; William James' Essays in Pragmatism etc.; co-editor, Adam Smith to Karl Marx; Rousseau, Burke and Paine; and Two Themes in Modern Poetry.

Dr. P. T. Roju

M.A., Ph.D. (Calcutta); Sastri (Bensers Sarkisian University); Professor of Philosophy and Indian Studies, The College of Wooster.

Formerly University Professor of Philosophy and Psychology, University of Rhode Island (Associate Professor, Andhra University (India) up to 1949; Visiting Professor, The Asia Institute (New York) 1949, University of California (Berkeley) 1950, University of Illinois (1952-53), University of Southern California (1962), University of Hawaii (1949, 59, and 64), University of Main (West Germany) 1961-62, Gillespie Visiting Professor, The College of Wooster 1962-64.

Sir Hari Singh Gaur Foundation Lecturer, Sagar University; Woodward Lecturer, Yale University; Century Fund Lecturer, Northwestern University; Extension Lecturer, Baroda University; Extension Lecturer, Panjab University; etc.

Dean of the Faculty of Arts, University of Rajasthan, 1950-53; Represented the University of Rajasthan at the International Conference of the Inter-university board of India, Burma and Ceylon 1953, and the Commonwealth Universities Congress, Cambridge 1953; President, All-India Philosophical Conference 1958; President, Indian Philosophical Congress 1969; one of the Presidents, Peninsular Session, International Congress of Philosophy, 1963; Sectional President, All-India Oriental Conference, 1943.

Awarded the Order of Merit (Jewel of the Lotus) by the President of India in 1955; Member, Committee on Gandhiian Life and Philosophy up to 1962.

Publications include, besides numerous articles in Indian, European, and American journals and the Jewish Encyclopedia, the following: Introduction to Religion and Reality (1937); Comparative Studies in Philosophy (co-editor and co-author 1951); Idealistic Thought of India (1953); The Concept of Truce and Man in America (1960); Spanish Edition (1964); Indian Idealism and Modern Challenges (1961); Introduction to Comparative Philosophy (1962); Idealistic Approaches: Eastern and Western (1955); Philosophy of the East and West (1955); India's Culture and Her Problems (1952); and Telugu Language (1945).

Some translations into German and Dutch are in process.

Dr. A. J. Bahm

M.A., Ph.D. (Michigan); Professor of Philosophy, University of New Mexico.

Taught at the University of Denver (1956-68); Fulbright Scholar for Buddhist Philosophy, University of Rangoon, Burma (1955-56), and for Indian Philosophy, University of Benares (1962-63).

Publications include, besides a large number of articles, the following books: Philosophy, an Introduction (1953 and 1964); Philosophy of the Buddha (1958); Tao Teh King of Lao Tzu (1951); Logic for Beginners (1960); Types of Intuition (1961); Yoga; Union with the Ultimate (1961); and The World's Living Religions (1964).

Dr. Karl H. Potter

M.A., Ph.D. (Harvard); Associate Professor of Philosophy, University of Minnesota.

Visited India for first-hand study of the Fallbright and Rockefeller grants. Publications include, besides a large number of articles in Indian and American journals, two books: The Fadar-attavattanaraman of Raghunatha Sriomani (1957) and Presuppositions of India's Philosophy (1963).

Dr. R. L. Foruqui

M.A., Ph.D.; Associate Professor of Philosophy, Syracuse University.

Educated in Beirut, (Indiana, Illinois, Harvard, McGill, Canada), and al Azhar (Cairo) Universities; taught at McGill University, Central Institute of Islamic Research (Karakoz), al Azhar University, and Cario University; Advisor to the Government of Pakistan on Islamic Affairs (1961-66); Rockefeller Foundation, University of Andhra; Professor of Philosophy, Ch�ham College; Ford Foundation Fellow for the Advancement of Education 1952-53; Fullbright Grant to India 1958-59.

Publications include, besides a large number of articles in Indian and American journals, the following books: An Index to Aristotle (1949); The Examined Life (1950); The Self in Indian Philosophy (1964); and The Art of Critical Thinking (1965).

Dr. Richard Hocking

M.A. (Harvard), Ph.D. (Yale); Professor of Philosophy, Emory University (since 1949).

Taught at Harvard, Minnesota, California, and Chicago Universities; Visiting Professor, University of Frankfurt (West Germany) 1949.

Publications include, a large number of articles and monographs and the book, Types of Philosophy (co-author with W. E. Hocking).

Speakers To Discuss Problems Of The Self, E-W Cultures

by Jerry Meyer

The Conference on Comparative Philosophy and Culture, and will be held on the campus of the College of Wooster April 22-24, will have as its main concern an investigation into the philosophical problem of the self and the cultural problem of East-West relationships.

The major aim of the conference is to promote mutual understanding between East and West. To arrive at this understanding, the conference will also be an attempt to show that all cultures are merely variations within one basic culture, to discover significant thought patterns basic to all cultures, and to discover the differences between Eastern and Western cultures which prevent understanding between those cultures.

Six Non-Westerners

Among the 17 speakers in the conference, there are six non-Westerners: Dr. K. V. Ramanan from India and Dr. A. K. Sarker from Ceylon. Also participating will be three speakers born in non-Western nations but now residing permanently in the United States: Dr. M. D. Baig, born in Pakistan; Dr. R. L. Faruqui, born in Palestine; Dr. P. T. Raja, born in India; and Dr. H. B. Smith, born in Algeria.

The problems to be discussed by these speakers, according to Dr. Raja, director of the conference, have great relevance for our time. An understanding of the self is necessary for a proper treatment of the educational, political, social, religious, and ethical aspects of life. It is not merely a metaphysical concern. Also, an understanding among various cultures is becoming increasingly important in international relations.

The need for investigating the problem of the self is becoming evident because it has been neglected by scientifically-minded thinkers of the past. This problem cannot be experimented upon. It can be understood only through education and the interplay of ideas through discussion.

One of the questions to be answered by an investigation into the philosophy of the self and the cultural problem is to determine by the dignity of the individual? Another is the relationship between the person and his culture. An understanding of the similarities and differences in the concepts of the self between Eastern and Western cultures can lead to a comprehensive understanding of the similarities and differences between the cultures as a whole and, most importantly, to some insight into areas of mutual concern between the two cultural areas.

The titles of the lectures to be given during the conference indicate that they will be about even divided between general discussions of the problem of the self or a closely related problem, and treatment of more specific doctrines in Western and non-Western thought. Some lectures will be on such topics as "Personal Freedom, Natural Law, and Creativity," or "Love, Self, and Contemporary Culture." Other topics in such areas as "Unity: Appearance and Reality in the Light of the Sufi Doctrine of Ibn Arabi and Allah Sardjahl," or "The Book of Job and the Bhagavadgita."

This conference is a pre-centennial celebration of the College of Wooster centennial will be observed throughout the calendar year 1966, ending in the 100th anniversary of the founding of the college December 18.

The idea of having the conference was initiated by Dr. Howard F. Lowry, president of the college. Dr. Raja has handled the preparations for the conference at the president's request.