Will not invade dorms
No policy changes says new security chief
by Jeff Adair

There may be a change in administration coming to the College security department, but policies will generally stay the same as those conducted by the former Chief of Security, according to Carl Yund, who will assume the post on Dec. 1.

"Yund is filling the post left vacant when Robert Sherman left to take a similar post at the University of Denver. He is current Chief of Police for Wooster, a job he will finish at the end of the month.

"I think my rapport with the College has been good," said the 54-year-old police chief, "and I hope it will continue." He said that since he has been a Wooster policeman, relations between the College and that department will probably become closer. Security will still handle matters on campus, "Much police department work can be done on campus without the Wooster Police, but in case of serious crimes, police cooperation is essential.

Yund said that there is always a bit of antimony between the college and community, but he wants to keep avenues of communication open. He said that being a native of Wooster will probably help him.

There have been rumors around campus that Yund will enforce various College rules and laws, "I am not about to invade the privacy of any dorm on any condition unless there is an extreme emergency," he said.

As far as drugs or drinking at campus parties, Yund said there would be no prosecutions unless a pushed is caught. He is more concerned about treatment of individual offenders rather than prosecution.

Yund was one of the four original members of the Wayne County Council on Drug Abuse, which emphasizes counseling, Howard King, Dean of Men on campus at 1:53, said that improvements in student cooperation helps security keep abreast of strange developments on campus. "If a girl sees a strange guy walking the halls of her dorm and calls the police," she may prevent a potential rape," said Yund.

The new security head is anxious to meet students and said that he will pursue an "open door policy," where any student is welcome in his office, "I am willing to listen to anyone, even if I disagree," he said.

He likes student involvement in the staff, "The Wooster Police Department has the youngest force around, and I would not discourage a student from working with security because he may someday go on to be a police officer," he said. If more openings become available, he would consider students for jobs over outsiders.

Yund said he is looking forward to continuing to work and views the job as a new challenge. "The job will not be harder than being Wooster's police chief, he said as far as being responsible for all of the college, it will be a tough job.

Yund will be directly responsible to the Dean of Students office, and will discuss any new policies with the Deans. No staff or policy changes are considered at this time. Yund said he must have time to observe the College situation before any changes would be instigated.

He has been with the Wooster Police Department since April, 1946 and became its chief on April 1, 1974.

Wayne County Jail: Who really cares?

"Another day ends in this Man-made hell
Another day of nothing a day in a cell a day of hate
a day of greed
a day of longing
a day of need But who cares
who really cares?
"-Butch Sigler, the Wayne County Jail

"Let brotherly love continue. Do not neglect to show hospitality to strangers, for thereby some have entertained angels unawares. Remember those who are in prison, as though in prison with them; and those who are ill-treated, because you also are in the body."

-Hebrews 13:3, The Holy Bible

"Freedom is like a bird, it has no boundaries and knows no time. But freedom is just a word, it has no meaning in this world of mine. There are people who say we are free, they say we have liberty. But when young people gather for fun, there are police there with a gun. So how in the hell can they say, we get more free every day. For freedom is like a bird, it has no boundaries, and knows no time."

-Slick Smith, the Wayne County Jail

"All of me subject's clothing will be taken from him on being booked at the Wayne County Jail."

-34. Rules and Regulations Governing the Wayne County Jail.

Pray, Dear Lord please give me one sunny day.
-Dave Martin, the Wayne County Jail

There is no sunshine in the Wayne County Jail. The only time a prisoner sees the sunshine is when he goes to court to get more time. "You only see the outside twice, when you go in and when you go out." Rev. John Wallace, chaplain at the Wayne County Jail, said to me; "I can't fully appreciate what a man goes through once the big door clangs behind him. He becomes practically a non-entity because he's been stripped at the desk of every possession that he has. He no longer is free to be a member of his family, so his family and home are gone. Legal rights are taken from him. He becomes one of the minorities, a very big minority in our country for the prisoners in our jails and prisons total at any one time in 1 and 3 million, probably closer to 3 million."

-"A new day dawns and passes by a beautiful morning a red sky leaves turn green then they fall and I never get to see the day not one moment at all through bars and wire glasses smoked gray in an iron cell I spend my day slowly I move toward insanity losing my day and reality."

-Butch Sigler, the Wayne County Jail

Day in and day out the routine at the Wayne County Jail remains pretty much the same. The guys "look around, hollow at each other, mop the floor, wash their clothes, hang them up to dry." They sometimes exercise by doing pushups or sit-ups in the bullpen. They are allowed to take a shower, play cards, read a little bit, or try to get some more sleep.

"Each prisoner shall be supplied with a mattress, pillow, blanket, quilt, or sheet, and such other necessary articles as may be safely allowed them by the Sheriff. Also a Bible shall be provided by the Sheriff for any prisoner for his use while confined in the Jail, upon his request."

-37. Rules and Regulations Governing the Wayne County Jail.

The prisoners have plastic spoons, They are fed in pans that "look like dog trays that had been run over by a couple of times." These are washed in water and when it is provided, with soap. Earlier one of the prisoners caught rainwater from his blanket, Since that time all the blankets have been washed. Rev. Wallace distributes Bibles. He told me, "Very frequently I have requests for Bibles. They're apt to come several of them in rather close succession. One man will see me hand a nice new Bible to a man and he wants to know about how he gets it and what it costs and so forth. And I tell him, 'It costs nothing, that these are supplied by Christ and the agencies in the country.' He is the only one likely he will say, 'Kindly bring me one, won't you?'"

Winter movies selected with film poll
To The Editor:

As chairman of the Lowry Center Board Film Committee I would like to personally thank all those students who filled out the film questionnaires two weeks ago. We were very pleased with the returns, of the 1800 copies sent out we received over 50% back, which was considered excellent in comparison with many of the other questionnaires sent out by LCB. With the high percentage of returns we can see that the student body is interested in what happens on this campus over the weekends.

It is our desire (the film committee) to listen to these wishes of the students as far as our budget will allow. It should be remembered at this point that the film budget per quarter is $500, and this is all we have to work with. As you might guess, those films chosen were the most expensive on the list, which meant the committee had to be selective.

The purpose of this article is to inform the student body of how the voting turned out and what films were selected for next quarter, However, those films not chosen are still being considered for Spring Quarter. Following is a list of the films voted on:

This Higher Criticism
Films for break viewing

by Nial W. Slater

There are no movies scheduled on campus this weekend, so you can all relax over exams. I do have a few recommendations for entertainment over the holiday season.

Hopefuly those who missed THE THREE MUSKETEERS missed what is undoubtedly the Best Picture of 1974, whether the Academy recognizes it as a winner or not, it may still be playing in a few places. The sequel, THE FOUR MUSKETEERS, is scheduled for a Christmas release. Unlike most sequels, this should be one of the best as good as the original. Since it was made at the same time, Director Richard Lester mere ly edited it into two movies instead of one. It is a superbly comic, at times slapstick, rendering of the Dumas novel, it has my highest recommendations to exams.

FOLLOWING is a selection of films I've seen over the past six months which I think may still be playing:

DASY MILLER: Peter Bogdanovich's latest effort proves that not even he can make Henry James come to life. Cybill Shepherd is Daisy seems vapid and she is a virtual no show. In a racy script by Walter Winchell's style, obnoxious.

MAMÈ: Lucille Ball can surprisingly still dance at age 60 and 20 years of I LOVE LUCY have left her acting ability astonishingly unatrophied. She can't sing, but MAME's music does much to carry her. The movie's structure is very choppy, and only one of the many numbers is at the tempo far too slow. Still it's a fun movie, and not too bad as movie musicals go.

HUCKLEBERRY FINN: This is a sort of spurn: sarcasmic serial killer especially common on holidays. Turning a great novel into a musical comedy is both painful and pathetic, Miss it.

CHINATOWN: This is an excellent private eye film with some gorgeous photography and a plot you, its major fault: it's half an hour too long, and Jack Nicholson flashes by. Good films get several times too many.

CARAVAN TO VAC-

CARES: This trashy escapology thriller had a late summer release, I haven't heard from it since; with luck you won't either.

FOR PETE'S SAKE: I've already given my opinion on "La Nueva Boca Grande."

There is a huge crop of disaster films, none of which I've seen, the worst is reported to be AIRPORT 1975, which having seen the original AIRPORT I can easily believe. One of the better ones should be Richard Lester's JUG-

GERN, a good twist to the disaster or horror plot can often fashion even a standard plot into a fine film.

College assets

The total assets of the College as of May 31, 1974, were $46,163,362.
Wayne County Jail: Who really cares?

"After ten o'clock in the evening and until 5:30 the next morning, (which shall be considered the rest period), no communication shall be allowed to any inmate in the jail, except between the officers and prisoners, and then only upon business of importance."

Sergeant Rhodes, chief jailer at the Wayne County Jail, is very concerned about maintaining control of the Jail. He said: "We have to keep the peace and they all have to be made aware of discipline that could occur if they do not follow our rules and regulations. We have to do our job. Our job is governed by the sheriff and the common police court. We give them all we can possibly let's put it that way. If they don't show respect for us and what we're doing for them and if they're not supposed to do them and we have to start pulling some of the privileges they do have and this is the only way we can keep them in line here."

PENALTY: Violation of any of the rules governing the Jail bars a prisoner or disorderly conduct may be controlled by confinement in the cell, and if necessary by mauling. The Sheriff, in turn, is empowered by my state's suffi- cient force to enforce the rules and penalties provided for.

- 921, Rules and Regulations Governing the Wayne County Jail

One inmate told me, "I got locked up for threatening I would do bodily harm to this man. He was going to sex with everyone, names saying things about their parents and girl friends and stuff like that."

He said he was in Apple Creek for six years and in so we weren't allowed to hit him or anything like that. They locked us up one night and he was switching to the deprivations about what he was cracking to his cell open if he did. So they locked me up in my cell five days on account of that."

"Harder sins up aripfe, but love covers all offenses." - Proverbs 11:12, The Holy Bible

Butch Sigler said to me, "I think Rev. Wallace over the years has helped me to control my temper a lot. Yesterday I used to be in a fight, in here or on the streets. I was always in a fight. He would talk to me about fighting. He kind of cooled me down a little bit."

The prisoners like Rev. Wallace a lot, Bobby Watkins said; "You don't have to hide anything from him, if everybody was like him, we'd have a better world."

Butch added: "If you see him on the streets, he won't keep on walking because he saw you in jail. With tell and talk with you, people. Most people, if they've been here in, they just keep on pushing. They don't want to let people know they know you."

Groups come into the Wayne County Jail on tours, the last group really freaked out the prisoners. They didn't like about them but not to them. One lady thought they were going to steal her purse.

"Today I felt as an animal today, at the zoo on display for all to view, send your son your daughter too today you toured the jail today we were the animals. Our home is of iron and steel nothing private we're only animals but then I think to watch and gloat if not more of an animal what are you doing we're the last only you were never caught who is the worst the animal in the cage one like you still free before you answer lord at Thosehere."

-Butch Sigler, the Wayne County Jail

Visitation for men will be on Sundays only, between the hours of 2 P.M. and 4 P.M. Visitation will be limited to 20 minutes periods. Visitors are restricted to wife, parents, children, brothers and sisters and grandparents, sister-in-law and brother-in-law of the inmate.

- 922, Rules and Regulations Governing the Wayne County Jail

Visitation should be a joyous time for the prisoners, families, and friends. Butch said "I get so down in the dumps after visits are over, man, most of them won't talk to me, they're afraid I'll see what's going on in here."

All letters, packages, etc. either to be received or sent by any prisoner shall be subject to scrutiny and examination as the Sheriff may direct.

- 923, Rules and Regulations Governing the Wayne County Jail

Privacy is impossible to attain in the Wayne County Jail. The prisoners feel letters are "a personal thing," to be read only by "you and your personal people writing to you." They don't want anyone knowing what's happening in their lives, this affects what they write.

There are a number of things that frustrate the prisoners in Wayne County Jail.

Once they have "paid their debt to society" what happens when they return to "normal society," the outside, the real world?

"The outside is still a jail too, you can't do what you want or go where you want to if you don't want to."

"You're always leery about what people are going to say to you, how they're going to say it, how they feel."

"They don't want all the other people in your life, you're the only one who can really run your own life, they can only restrict it."

"A lot of people come in and say, "Well, when I get out I'm not going to do that."

Butch said that when they do get out, factors that do hire them are Gerstenlagers, Wooster Disposal, iron and Metal, different places, Thane's and playing jobs: I suspect of them don't stick with them at all."

Reverend John Wallace thinks our attitudes will have to change. "Today, it's not so far back that people just did not want to go to a hospital if they felt they were going there they were going there to die. The treatment they got there, they heard about and they didn't like it. So there was an attitude on the part of the public against hospitals. Now that, of course, has changed, almost completely and new people go to hospitals for everything and they get great help, build their hospitals to be beautiful inside and out, and people whatever their cause may be for being there. And when it's their foolishness, their own mistakes, but those things aren't questioned too much. The doctors and nurses are there to help the person get back on his or her feet and to get out and be in a position to care for himself."

But I think we need such a change in the attitude of people in regard to the whole penal system. That we have got to incarcerate people. At least Inmates in penal institutions that are restrictive, that are uplifting, and the way they are handled there, they are not down trodden by people who are there but they have community which is trying to help them. This calls for an almost a complete turn over to sit with no one in prison,

"It's not that I think the majority of people do, the attitude I am getting is that so often expressed to me is well, they made their own bed, well, let them lie in it, or we don't want to set up a country club atmosphere, they don't deserve that, I don't believe in firing up these jailers and prisons and all they express this and other things to me,"

"I was in prison and you came to me."

- Matthew 21:36, The Holy Bible

Who comes to the prisoners at Wayne County Jail?

On Wednesday and Sunday evening different churches come into the Jail. Sergeant Sigler on the subject, "We allow any groups to come if they are affiliated with some religious organization."

There are at the present ten churches taking part, Most are Memphian.

Professor Bud Russell of the Physics Department goes down every so often to talk with the men and find out what kinds of books they would like to have. He buys these books at his own expense. Rev. Davis, a former inmate by this time who would have bought 75 or 100 for the men.

Every Thursday night a group from the Wooster Christian Fellowship comes down, They include: Greg Davis, Paul Richards, Ann Johnston, Barb Koch, Sue Reed, Ron Linn,tracker, Kathy Blakley, Wendy Newton, Sus Hughes, Jim Lohr, and Guy Hutt, They rap, sing, read scripture, write letters. I have had the pleasure of joining this group the last few weeks."

The prisoners had a lot to say about the fellowship: "I feel that people care even if you are in jail, it doesn't make any difference if you're a criminal or supposed to be a criminal."

When the college comes down we'll get around all the crowds and row up and try to be the first one up there so we'll have the space... Everybody is singing, they're trying to help you you're better than you are in or. Probably you're not here it brightens your spirits, it gives you something to look forward to, because drab as this place is, you've got to have something. They're not afraid to speak up, they talk a joke or two. The singing lifts up your spirits. Being able to talk to someone becomes like everybody you see 24 hours a day, well, it's just something different...

It relieves a lot of tension that you have in here. They put something into it, They sing something different and it's got a little gaiety to it. They're really open-minded. They came right in here and they're not afraid to speak up. Most girls when they come in here, they'm huddling back in the corner. It's like there were no bars at all.

GOOD BEHAVIOR AND MORAL CONDUCT WILL INURE TO THE BENEFIT OF A PRISONER. - 126, Rules and Regulations Governing the Wayne County Jail.

Something has touched the prisoners, out there here I never thought he picked up a Bible to look at it or to read it. After I had been in here for a while the College came down and the preachers on Sundays and I started going. I've had Bible sessions, rap, about the book, about God, how he is, about people, how they are, stuff like that, I think it helped me a little you know."

"I want to be a preacher when I get out of here, I'm giving up my old world for a new one now."

"Jesus Christ, I think he's a part of my life, I'm not saying I'm a Christian or anything like that, you know, but I'm getting to understand him more, maybe one day I will be a Christian."

"I'm not a Christian, I don't believe in God but I'm always open for anything that will prove it's for real,"

"Love is patient and kind; love is not jealous or boastful: It is not arrogant or rude, Love does not insist on its own way; It is not irritable or resentful; Love does not behave at wrong but in the right. Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things..."

- Corinthians 13:4-7, The Holy Bible

As I sit in the Wayne County jail
I'm looking out of one of Satans Gateways to hell

As I lay troubled staring at the ceiling above
I think of God's eternal love

In the church God's love is living indeed
But there it is where it is most at need

At times some of us feel like something is dying
But with God's love it's worth trying

For those who think of us as convicts not men
It's great to know that God forgives even our sins.

Students renew drive for boycott support

by J. Kieft

As happened last year, a group of concerned students are once again seeking to garner student support for a boycott on campus. This boycott is in support of the United Farm Workers and calls for not eating or buying any Teamster harvested lettuce or grapes, or wines made with such grapes. The main push here on campus has been for a lettuce boycott.

The People's Party are attempting to educate the students and foster concern for the plight of the farm workers. Part of their work is aimed at building support for the nationwide United Farm Workers boycott and identifying the Farm Teamsters and the People's Party as the forces behind it.

Wooster Food Service Scholarship created

by Corinne Rudman

The Peter Compton Memorial Scholarship Fund was recently established in honor of the former Wooster student who died in July, 1974.

Peter Compton, who attended Wooster in 1972 and 1973, was studying Industrial Management at Green State University at the time of his death. His grandmother, Mrs. Arthur Compton, has created the fund along with Peter's parents. It is hoped that it shall be an endowed fund, with the interest gained from the principal sum used in the form of a perpetual scholarship. Anyone interested in contributing to this living memorial, which will benefit many Wooster students in the future, is asked to do so through the Treasurer's Office or Mr. G. T. Smith, Vice President for Development.

Award Weekend

The weekend of January 24, 1975 is being set aside as an "Outstanding Senior Award Weekend" in the name of Dan Lockhart.

Several campus groups have indicated a strong interest in planning activities. Myers-DREC will sponsor a T.G.I.F., at the Cage on Friday afternoon, The Student Entertainment Committee will donate the proceeds from a movie at Mateer. Food...
Up and down day for Scot keglers at Toledo

by Big Al

Saturday, Nov. 9, the Wooster Fighting Scot bowling team traveled to the University of Toledo and opened their 1974-75 season in the Ohio Intercollegiate Bowling Conference. They lost Toledo with a 3-3 record, tied for second place only one game out of first place.

The Scot bowlers never really got started in the first game. Their opponents, the Kent State Trumbull Titans jumped out ahead and were never in trouble, Trumbull soundly downed Woo-...

Bootheers finish with victory over O.U.

by Dave Koppenhaver

The WooTser booters topped Ohio University 5-3, in an offensive struggle November 13, to finish up an up and down season. Coach Nye, in a fine gesture, started seven graduating seniors in the game: Tom Kazembe, Joe Haldiven, Howie Cohen, Sam Patterson, Donny McRae, Rose WaItman, and Dave McFall. Cohen was returning after being out, since the opening moments of the Capital game, with a foot injury.

The Scots first tally came on an Ohio University gift. With 4:45 gone in the half Donny McRae was tipped in the box to set up a WooTser penalty kick. Bruce Reed got it into the net.

The next score did not come until there was only 9:29 to go. Bobcat Frank Deodray won a foot race with Howie Cohen to a loose ball, and tied things up at one-all.

Exactly two minutes later Ohio U's goalie punched a shot away from the goal, Key Akintunde retrieved, and with no one near him, calmly turned and sent it sailing into the goal, WooTser was never in serious trouble from this point onward.

With 42:03 to go in the game WooTser received another gift goal, Akintunde passed to Sam Patterson, Mol Olivieria crossed in front of Sam, but left the ball with Sam, confusing the Bobcats' two-back defense and the goalies went after the ball, but then simultaneously hesitated, each expecting the other to get the ball. The ball rolled uncollated into the net.

Just three minutes later Sam was thrown out of the game, the last of his college career. He was a little too obvious in his disagreement of an out-of-bounds call made in favor of O.U. by the official. He looked incredulously at the ref, and shouted, "Bobbyish!" The official promptly trotted over to the scorer's table and informed them that Sam was ejected. Sam then lost his temper and ran at the official screaming, "Tell me I'm out!"

He was restrained by Mol Olivieria and Bruce Reed. As he left the field, though, he was grinning and chuckling. He later returned near the end of the game to voice his disagreement.

Ohio University meanwhile was concentrating on the game and with 32:30 showing they pulled a goal of the Scots. Shad-Ack Aedoth thundered a forty-yard shot into the goal. Perhaps Cohen's vision was blocked or he may have been stunned by the beauty of the shot, but he made no effort to stop the ball until it was too late.

Nine minutes later Akintunde scored what proved to be the winning goal for the Scots. Mol Olivieria ricocheted a shot off the back of the goalies. He went after it, but Key, coming from his blind side, beat him to it and chipped it into the open goal.

Number five came with 19:49 left in the game. Key centered the ball, Bruce Brown swung and missed, but Olivieria's aim was accurate and he slammed it in.

The Bobcats final meaningless goal came with 9:10 left. Al Shura passed to Chuck Blackwell who looped the ball perfectly, over new goalie Phil Lincolns head, to score.

In many ways it was a dissatisfying season for the team, although they finished with an 8-4-2 record (one tie was actually an overtime victory). In only one of the four defeats was the team actually beaten. Akron thumped the Scots 6-1, while Oberlin upset them 3-2. Bowling Green beat them 1-0 on a questionable penalty; and Denison beat them 2-1 in a game in which the Scots scored one of the two Big Red goals. It was losses such as these that cost the Scots a chance for post-season honors. The FAC Athletic Committee refusing to allow the team to accept an NCAA bid should they receive one.

But there were many bright spots this season. By defeating Ohio University the Scots completed the season undefeated at home, with a 6-0 record. It was a first for WooTser soccer teams. The Scots ousted their opponents 49-55, and 38-9 at home. They also outshot the opposition in the fourteen games 795-719, and 306-49 at home. It's too bad the team couldn't play all their games at home.

Individually there were several standout Scots. Tom Kazembe, a two-time All-American, seems headed for three-time honors, since he scored six goals and had six assists. But statistics aren't what makes Tom outstanding. Anyone who witnessed any of WooTser's games knows the excitement he created whenever he touched the ball, the thrill that should go through the body if the ball was on the line waiting to watch his magic. He will be surely missed next season.

But there is a lot of young talent on this team. Five freshmen saw a great deal of action this season and earned the top of some of the slack created by the graduating seniors. Freshman Key Akintunde has been tipped on scoring with eight goals. He should improve that next season, especially considering that five of his goals came in the last three games. All indications are that the Scots should field another strong team next fall.

This week in professional football

by Jon Hull

It is indeed fortunate that last week's picks were not printed as my percentage fell to .654 or 84-45-1. This week finds very few big or important games, but here we go anyway.

SAN FRANCISCO over ATLANTA-Even with only three wins, the 49ers have played many more good and close games than the punchless Falcons.

NEW ENGLAND over BALTIMORE-The Faltering Patriots may have seen their playoff hopes go down the chute, but I cannot see them being upset three weeks in a row.

BUFFALO over CLEVELAND-No matter if QJ plays or not this should be a close one as the Browns have played much better at home.

DETROIT over CHICAGO-The Lions will repay the opening week's upset by the Bears.

CINCINNATI over KANSAS CITY-The Chiefs played well on Monday but the Bengals and the Browns are strong teams and still have a shot at the play-offs.

DALLAS over HOUSTON-No doubt about it, the Oilers are a vastly improved football team. I do not, however, see them able to beat Dallas anywhere, even at home.

OAKLAND over DENVER-The Raiders should just keep on rolling.

GREEN BAY over SAN DIEGO-The addition of Haden has proven beneficial to the Pack and they should have no trouble disposing of the Chargers.

MINNESOTA over LOS ANGELES-Both teams were upset last week but are coasting to division titles. The Vikings however have Fran the man and his intelligent playcalling should make all the difference.

MIAMI over THE NEW YORK JETS-The Dolphins can small that playoff money and they will not stand in their way for long.

PHILADELPHIA over THE NEW YORK GIANTS-The New York what?

WASHINGTON over PHILADELPHIA-The Eagles are doing a nosedive in the East and the game could all but clinch a playoff berth for the Redskins.

NEW ORLEANS over PITTSBURGH-The Saints are at home on Monday night and the Steelers have been coasting too long. Having seen the Bengals lose last week they should relax and fall prey to a deceivingly good Saint team.

As this is the last week for this series, I should hazard some long range predictions. Divisional winners will be Miami, Oakland, St. Louis, Minnesota, Los Angeles, and Pittsburgh (easy pickin's at this point). The two wild card teams will be Washington and Buffalo (also pretty easy), Home January 15th you will find OAKLAND and MINNESOTA in the Super Bowl which will be won easily by the Raiders. The teams which will give them the most trouble on route will be Miami, for the Raiders, and St. Louis, for the Vikings.

Fall intramural sports roundup

by Jon Smith and Dwight Pike

This fall's intramural program has been characterized by several changes from past seasons. Several new sports have been instituted into the agenda for this year and years to come. Soccer was begun on a trial basis and caught on with much success. A one on one basketball tournament has just begun and will run into thewinter quarter. Other sports for fall quarter were touch football, volleyball, and the golf tournament.

Men showed a surprising amount of interest in soccer, even though it was the first time to run the sport intramurally. Sixty men formed four separate teams. The teams were, in order of their finish, Komor Klub, Crandall House, Douglas, and the Nads. Our congratulations to all those teams for showing interest and making intramural soccer a success at Wooster.

We'd like to extend our congratulations to the members of the Seventh section intramural football team for being crowned the A League champions. Kappa Chi finished unbeaten in five games. A team composed mostly of freshmen from Komor 'A' won the B League title. They compiled a 7 win - 1 loss record.

In volleyball action, Phi Sigma Alpha (Sixth section) won the regular season match with an unblemished record of 6-0. But in the post-season tournament it was a different story, as the men from Kappa Chi (Seventh section) avenged their only setback by gaining a hard fought win over Sixth section in the tournament final. In B League action a group from Shearer House, called Ethby's Bombers, ran rampant through their regular season schedule and finished undefeated. The double elimination tournament was to be a different story. A group of independents, Lovetts and Lickets, eliminated the regular season champions, and then went on to the finals from the loser's bracket and defeated a freshman team, the Gay Caballeros, in a tough match for the championship.

And Wooster weather has strengthened its reputation again, as the golf tournament is a bit behind schedule. To those people still in the tournament, we cordially ask that you try and get your matches played before the end of the quarter. If not, we will supply you with orange golf balls at the beginning of winter quarter (only kidding, of course).

W Club athletes of the week

The members of the "W" Club have selected an "Athlete of the Week" for the past three weeks. Paul Saroey, a senior football tri-captain from Seven Hills, Ohio, was selected for his brilliant performance at centerback in the Scots' loss to Muskingum on "Parents' Day" at Severance Stadium. Paul had two interceptions and 15 tackles in the game.

The following week, the "W" Club selected soccer's Tom Kazembe, a senior from Malawi in central Africa. The two-time All-American had three assists in the Scots' victory over Wittenberg and played outstandingly in the Scots' loss to Akron.

This past week, the "W" Club has selected swimmer John Wilson, a freshman from Lakewood, Ohio. John was superb in the Scots' narrow loss to Ashland. Wilson broke the College of Wooster record in the 200-yard and 500-yard backstroke, as well as the record in the 300-yard freestyle. He was also on the two relay teams that broke school records in the 400-yard medley relay and the 800-yard freestyle relay. John also qualified for the Nationals with his performance in the 200-yard backstroke.

The "W" Club congratulates these three fine athletes and thanks everyone for their support this past quarter.
