The page contains a mix of natural text and a larger amount of OCR text that appears to be text from a book or journal. The OCR text is not clearly legible, making it difficult to understand the content. The natural text is about the history and activities of the V-5 unit, including recruitment, training, and the contributions of veterans. It mentions the experiences of Robert Hallday and Don Shaw, who served as President Pro Tempore of Student Senate. The text also touches on the establishment of Girls' Chorus and the dedication of personnel to military service. The layout is typical of a newspaper article, with headlines, subheadings, and paragraphs of text.

What DO YOU THINK?

By Norm Wright

The question: "Would you encourage your student Senator in planning for 'off campus' events?" was put to various students about campus. All had definite opinions, "in a form of which are expressed here. See your opinion into the question and express it to your Senator.

I am in favor of using the title if the students themselves want it. Judging from last semester's vote of the Board, I think we want the title, especially from the moral support we gain in the park during the before and after dinner and were able to talk or gather around the picnic tables and get to know each other better.

Jeffery Lyle, Sr.

We have made a decision not to change our title. This is due to the fact that we felt the students' wish is the best and that is what we want to do.

Boystown's National League conference opened late last Thursday. It was founded Feb. 1, 1876, for the purpose of cleaning up baseball, according enough.

The National Association of Professional Baseball Players was the rival body at that time. Combining in all its forms was prevalent in those days. Any impartial baseball game was placed on a league basis where parks were not sold.

A. Sparkling who was one of the game players of the day and head of the sporting goods men which will have his name, here described as the situation "as soon.

Quite a few players had become so serious that nobody could be certain as to whether the outcome of any game would be determined by true merit. The throwing of games was rampant and no punishment was given for it.

The city of Chicago produced a man who was to become the father of baseball's end. It was William A. Hulbert. He was a fine man and a player. He possessed a good quick mind and a good personality. His first job was baseball that was being played at the Chicago club. It did not take very long for him to see that there was a need for a league which would be run by owners and not by players.

As the victory involution of Hulbert's meeting was held New York's Grand Central. Representatives were present from Chicago, St. Louis, New York, Hartford, and Brooklyn, 14 persons being members of the day.

After hours behind scenes does the National League was brought into being. Hulbert was elected President and the permanent president has been Chief Judge John Howard of the year honored upon Hulbert.

It was then the National League came to be. Since that time Finchburg, Illinois, has been known as the home of the American League. In 1976, it will be 100 years old. The American League will be 216, 17-21, and 21-18.

Wooster becomes Civilian as
The Last of the Campus Naval Units Makes Its Departure

by JULIA OWEN

For two years the Naval Unit had been an offshoot of the New Foundation, but on November 11, 1945, after two years of service, the last three men of the Naval Unit were discharged. The last man to leave was Lt. William J. Red. As the last member of the unit, the ship's bell was rung, and the band played "Taps." The former cadets showed their appreciation of the unit by singing the song, "Semper Paratus," and the band played a march as the last man stepped down the steps of the Administration Building.

The unit was composed of two companies of cadets who were given the opportunity to serve in the Naval Reserve. The unit was formed in 1943, and during the years it was in existence, the members of the unit were paid a small stipend and were allowed to continue their education at Wooster.

The unit was dissolved due to changes in the military structure, and the members of the unit were discharged. The unit's dissolution marked the end of an era for Wooster's military history, and the last three members of the unit were given a proper send-off as they left for their futures.
