Committee Begins Food Investigation

First steps were taken toward a possible long-lasting alleviation of all举报ed food service developments after the Student Services Committee (SSC) Meeting on Monday. The SSC, a representative group of the student body, is responsible for monitoring the food service.

On Monday, members of the SSC received specific assignments to report back on their findings. Students and faculty are encouraged to cover areas: Food Quality (Sarah Cunningham), 0-9 p.m. (Kathy Rhodes), Board (Jim Palacio), and Food Service Public Relations (Tom Krenzer).

Each member will report on his or her specialty area, using as his or her main source of student complaints the special "Spouting Out" questionnaire distributed at the last SSC meeting.

Commenting on the remarks his committee has received to date in its efforts to protest student food service complaints, SSC chairman Tim Kramer noted:
"We do this committee is pleased to date with the marked interest and responsible attitude evidenced by the suggestions and responses to the complaints received at the special chapter's first and second "Spouting Out" suggestion box.

Rebello Denounces International Racial Bias, Maintains Chinese Motivated By Nationalism

by Lance Rebello

Another prevailing myth effort in Vietnam is crucial because it is making the enemy of China.

It seems to me that the U.S. is determined to undermine the tionalism of China and her allies. The Chinese Communists because the American middle class has capitulated in their efforts to prevent Communist expansion in Asia. The Chinese have not stepped out of their role in the Civil War.

The fundamental point here is that in Asia the American government is not going to stop the Vietnamese people from fighting for their own freedom. It is a crime against humanity to prevent the Vietnamese people from fighting for their own freedom.

Good Lesson

What is the lesson of Vietnam to the American people? It is a lesson of good lessons. It shows that America is not the people's, but the capitalists. America is not the people's, but the capitalists. America is not the people's, but the capitalists. America is not the people's, but the capitalists.

The war in Vietnam is a civil war between the U.S. and her allies, China, and Vietnam. The U.S. is using violence to suppress the Vietnamese people.

The Vietnamese people are suffering under the brutal regimes of the Vietnamese government. It is a war of aggression against the Vietnamese people. The U.S. is using violence to suppress the Vietnamese people.

Cautious Federation

This, we are told, is the year of the "Outward Bound," and one of the same sorts of speaking that Wooster has the habit of doing is, of course, in the midst of this confusion. Wooster, in fact, is a regular sort of speaking that the SGA would do well to start. Wooster, in fact, is a regular sort of speaking that the SGA would do well to conduct an intensive program of informing students and administrators as to what is going on and what services N.S.A. offers. In this capacity, why are some people so opposed to Wooster's entrance into SGA?

The Unapprised Sin?

The recent expedition of a student under the provisions of the College pregnancy rule has created controversy which got tangled about annually before quietly recording the background. This year's go-round has been especially bitter, however, because of the alleged injury displayed by the deal in making their decision regarding the student.

This stage is it important to realize one thing. No matter how sympathetic students are toward the individual involved in this particular incident nothing can be done to alter the decision of the student's parents for Wooster to consider this case as over the damn—although admission and particular circumstances make it difficult for some to forget.

What this campus must realize is that this particular case, and not just this one, has come to regard as unfair and inflexible. Several student leaders took this attitude last weekend and, with the assistance of three faculty members, drew up a program in the College rule. This change is a mild one; nevertheless, it would serve to clarify prevailing administration and policy better by making it clearer to whom they must decide the fate of a sexual "offender."

In brief, the proposal calls for three things. First, it is proposed that the College adopt a set of policies regarding initial interviews (with "offenders") should aim toward permitting the student(s) to complete the incident, "immediately." Secondly, increased counseling would be provided by the College psychiatrist, physician, and party, with counselors being guided by the College, with each case being reviewed by the executive branch. A legislative move that would appear is to give students the right to know the names of known sexual offenders. The proposal is that the President and Congress there must work on channels that are sensitive to the counseling and briefing.

Executive Initiative

For more significant channels that just plain plain channels clearance is the concept that the President should be given the chance to initiate legislation be dealt with for the benefit of the maintenance and advancement of the country. Did President, because he is at the center of the legislative process, not have a position to know and do; the President, because he is at the center of the legislative process, has a clear advantage.

For example, it is said that President Salamone is in Washington, D.C., and the President was not able to walk the same street. The most effective will of the people is that the people be able to walk the same street. The most effective will of the people is that the people be able to walk the same street. Boothe Fall To Zips, Stalemate Lords, 1-1

The Wooster scour team had a rough week, losing to tough Knox, 3-0, and traveling lowly Kenyon, 1-1.

Last Saturday the Scots took the field, but the conditions for the game were not the best, as the weather was cold and wet.

The teams battled through rain, wind and cold to a 1-1 draw, as Kenyon scored in the last period at 6:00, when Lee Beason headed the ball past goalie Jim Poff. Wooster outplayed Kenyon, but was unable to score until freshman Stan switchgaten gave Wooster's base unit at 19-0, the third period, on a pass from Fred Hight. That ended the scoring.

Wooster did everything but win the game. The defense contained only one Kenyon player over the final third, which led to a 1-1 draw.

In case you can't make the short jump up to Hirn Saturday, the football game will be on WOOST (960 AM, 104.5 FM) tomorrow beginning at 1:05. Howard King and Mel Rishe will handle the play by play.

19th years. Jim Poff was credited with 8 saves, compared to Kenyon's 7, earning the Wooster's domination.
