Game Captains Announce Plans; Bridge Tournament Scheduled

Game Captains Anne Hoen, Larry Cotton and Bob White have announced that plans have been completed for the first round of the National Interfraternity Duplicate Bridge Tournament. The contest will get under way in lower Bechtel this Saturday night at 8:30. An expected 40 tables will be ready to decide Wooster's top 8 players.

These top 8 will next receive and play hands prattened for the second round. Results of these hands will be tallied and sent to the National Interfraternity which picks the top 8 players from our group of colleges and universities. If any players remain in this regional group they will go to the Palmer House April 1st for the national half where two are expected to advance.

The winner of this first round is awarded a trophy by the University and is named the top student player in the country.

This is Wooster's first participation in a bridge tournament, unusual by most local standards. The odds are fair that our players will make the regional team. Aside from the odds, there are other theories for bringing us to light those at Wooster who are good players, while all who wish to play for it will be able to rate their respective abilities on an even basis with other players.

Bridge playing varies in that every table will play the same hands that other tables play and that no one will play safely on his hand and be able to profit from the word 'Daybridge'. There are several differences in play from table to table but no two hands more different than the previous ones will be able to give as many further questions may arise before the tournament and changes made it necessary.

College Leads Week of Prayr Feb. 16-20

"Inventory of Religious Concepts" is the title of a religious aptitude test administered by Dr. McLean, president of the College. This test was given to all freshmen and sophomores, and Dr. McLean said that the results will be of interest to those who are interested in the quality and problems of students. Here are a few typical answers to a few of the questions.

Dr. Lowry Addresses Students on Establishment of Honor System

The word "integrity" keynoted President Howard Lowry's opening address of the spring quarter during chapel hour Wednesday. Specializing in integrity in scholastic achievements, Dr. Lowry cited the need to continue the practice of scholarship and its importance to the academic community. All grades were to be paid the same attention to the academic community.

Dr. Lowry pointed out the failure of student honor system as Wooseer. "If I am told by a member of our organization that he has been honored by a member of our organization," he said, continued, "I would be delighted to have this group of students in order to keep the business of the college functioning.

"Integrity is the whole man of any student," he said, "and this is a term that has ramifications not only in the academic community but also in the community of the church, the church being the home of the student and the student being one of the community of the church. The church, the society, the church, the student are all interdependent and this is the reason why the student honor system as Wooseer is a different kind of system."

Color Day Script Due Before Feb. 15 Deadline

Color Day, set for Feb 15, is rapidly approaching. The scripts for the color day are due by Feb. 15 and the deadline for the scripts is Feb. 15. It is the only way to guarantee that the scripts will be ready on time.

The deadline is set for the student honor system as Wooseer. "If I am told by a member of our organization that he has been honored by a member of our organization," he said, continued, "I would be delighted to have this group of students in order to keep the business of the college functioning."

But in the case of scholarship and its importance to the academic community, all grades were to be paid the same attention to the academic community.

Admittedly, a new convergence of liberals and reactionaries characterizes today's society. The reactionaries, who hold onto outdated conservative beliefs while ignoring the progress made by liberals, are a force to be reckoned with. This convergence is evident in various aspects of society, including politics, economics, and culture. However, despite the challenges it poses, progress can be achieved through open dialogue and a willingness to evolve.

Letter to the Editor
March 15, 1945

The Editor: The voice of the college, as a mirror of the society, is a reflection of the values and attitudes prevalent in the community. However, a change in the quality of the college's voice has been noticed recently.

The college's voice is not as vibrant as it was in the past. The students have become more concerned about their immediate needs rather than the broader issues that affect society. The voice lacks the depth and resonance that it once had. It seems to be more focused on personal matters rather than on the larger issues of life.

This is a concern because the college's voice is a platform for discussing important issues. It is a means of expressing the collective thoughts and feelings of the students. The college's voice should not be reduced to a mere reflection of individual concerns.

The students should take responsibility for the quality of the college's voice. They should engage in meaningful discussions and contribute to the college's voice. The college should not only be a place for learning but also for reflection and debate.

Sincerely,
Joe H. Ribbin

W.A.A. Sponsors Midwinter Dance

The Dance Group of the Women's Athletic Association of The College of Wooster will present its midwinter dance program on Wednesday, Feb. 13, at 8:30 p.m. in the gymnasium. The public is invited.

This is the fortieth year's dances have been selected from American and music. The social season presents its annual Independent Art Project. This study, entitled "High Modern," addresses itself to the needs of individuals in a study group, the study group being conducted until in charge to the group. Movement patterns and emotions are as they found in the study of modern art or dance and music. Research is now being done to make this study as independent art project.

The group is limited to the number of students present. It is sponsored by the Department of Music and Art.

World Student Fellowship Supports Polish Student

Frank Condi announced this week that the Big Four plans to send Wanda Hoge, a Polish refugee, to the University of Uppsala, Sweden, are going according to schedule. Quarter payments of $180 are to be sent from home to help her in college school. Planning to send only one-half of the World Student Service Fellowship fund, the Big Four is continuing its work and will accept pledges for the remaining balance.

Wanda Hoge is now about 16 years old, has been dancing for three years, and is currently a member of a dance company in the city. She is also learning the Swedish language. Wanda's annual expenses are $200. The money she has already been sent has been used to purchase a piano, a few new clothes, and a few other items.
