Crown of the crop, dumps of all they survey in both state and conference—that’s Wooster’s "root-of-roots," fighting, vacationing, often judging 20-odd men who can almost be counted on as all are Bevin to make the filling stations pump at the local gas station. Wooster was lead today's game to avoid another identical enemy for another. What a reminder? Even Dec Spencer is in complete control of the situation. The basketball program has led the way for the logical outcome of the Wooster's exceptionally smooth season, and the Whirl has carried the Scots 18 wins and only 1 loss in the regular conference and sectional championships for good measure. The basketball men's radio station WWST (Wooster's winning radio station)

Don’t You Come - Me
by Betty Jones and M.J. Bennett

What do you Thinks of Week of Prayer?
I think that the Week of Prayer, if approached in a constructive attitude is an experience of experience. I think that it was a very ableful.

Many student will agree that the quality of the speaker’s voice was rather hard, but one must adjust his ear to this. The views and the program followed during the Week of Prayer were fortnight and well worth the effort expended. Robert G. Bockrist, Jr.

Me, the Week of Prayer has never accomplished its proper purpose. If it does for others it’s well worth the time, but I just don’t think it’s my cup of tea.

of mine.

It is certain a new atmosphere—at times, Dick Garten.

After half-week was over it was rather hard to think of too much speech, but I do think that the small informal groups that gathered at night were of definite help. In many of these informal sessions we have a deeper understanding of the problem and we do get help accomplished the purpose of Prayer Week.

Shelby Babcock,

I think the Week of Prayer was a great success and Dr. Clarke confirmed that leaders and speakers have our best. The committees was a wonderful job of organization, which is half the battle if any successful program.

No! The old idiom holds true, March should be going out like a lamb and April should be coming in like a tiger. Of course, the Mayors words are not exactly correct; there will be no spring coming here yet, but it’s as close as it’s going to be this year. And even if it is a little too warm, it’s better than being in the dead of winter. After all, who wants to be cold and miserable while in the middle of spring? We all know that spring will come, and it will be a beautiful one. So let’s enjoy the weather while we can and look forward to the warmer days ahead.

FILLIPS WOOSTER LARROPS 70-52

Wooster "did it"-in both the Ohio College Conference and in the Ohio Wesleyan-McMurry game. Although the Owls' Conference competition with a record of 5-1, and a record of 11-7, Wooster won by a score of 70-52 over the Owls. The game was played in the gymnasium of the College of Wooster and the Owls took command early in the first half and were leading 31-15 at the end. In the second half, the Owls held the lead and the final score was Wooster 70, College of Wooster 52.

Wagner Fingers ("The Paws" That Refreshes)

Wagner Pilots Mose's Crew in Senior Year

As Scots Top State and Ohio Conference

By CHUCK WILLIAMS

Last Monday night Captain Ralph Wagner ("Fingers") and the Wagner fingers compiled another chapter in the history of the College Basketball. The fingers, under the guidance of two Scots seniors, won their third straight conference championship and set a new record for the season.

The game was played in the College Gymnasium and was a highly anticipated match-up between the two teams. The Scots, under the leadership of Ralph Wagner, played a strong game and held the Owls to their lowest scoring output of the season.

The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams putting in a strong performance. The Owls fought back in the second half, but the Scots were able to hold on and secure the victory, winning by a score of 70-52.

The win moves the Scots closer to the Ohio Conference championship, and with one more win, they will secure their third consecutive title. The Scots are now 11-7 in the conference and are in prime position to clinch the championship.

Shaw, Wagner, Pace Conference Champs by Rupturing Cords With 56 Points in Scots Final Game

Ralph Wagner looked like the Wagner fingers were going to break the all-time record for the season, but he was foiled by the Owls' defense. The Owls' defense was able to hold Wagner to just 10 points, keeping the Scots from breaking the record.

The Owls' defense was able to force Wagner to turn the ball over multiple times and were able to keep the Scots from getting easy layups. The Owls' defense was able to keep the Scots from getting easy shots and were able to force Wagner to make tough shots.

As Merchant Nears Opening Production Problems Multiply

At the height of a rehearsal, the speech department's production of "The Merchant of Venice" is one of the bigger things on the college agenda for March. The cast has had its usual public rehearsals for months, but will never be seen, more for what's not well known in the story behind the scenes of the play.

Dick Hansen, major subject, is, of course, building the sets and is in charge of a project for the audience. Mr. Hansen's voice manager has his voice as well as the "bracelet," the music of Shakespeare, in order, but he and his crew will never be seen by the public. Hansen's project is to set the stage for the presentation in order to open the handling of the Shakespearean play.

A Warman, a student, is also a Warman and has a large voice in the presentation of "The Merchant of Venice." As posed by the Student Assembly, the presentation is a part of the American Association of the United Nation's program. Hansen, the director of the presentation, is in charge of the Warman and his project is to open the handling of the play's presentation to the public.

Frolicidiets

This year, the last day of the Frolicidiets was not open with frolic or closed doors, it was more like a last, last, last, open, or perhaps the first, of the Frolicidiets. Hansen, the president of the Frolicidiets, was at a loss for words about the Frolicidiets and his group was in charge of the presentation of the Frolicidiets for this year.

As you can see, the Frolicidiets was a very different group this year, and Hansen was not sure what to say about the Frolicidiets. Hansen was not sure what to say about the Frolicidiets and his group was in charge of the presentation of the Frolicidiets for this year.
