A Practical Week

The tone of the notes on this previous page is a bit dry. It's a typical week-long diary entry, detailing various activities and events. The tone is straightforward and functional, focusing on what was done and observed without much embellishment or emotion.

Knob Klippin'

By Nancy Meynahan

The local police, trying to keep rabbits out of their garden, have set up a series of traps. Three of the four have been effective in keeping the rabbits out, but the fourth one has been quite a disappointment. The rabbits seem to have found a way to bypass the trap and continue their nibbling on the plants. The police are considering setting up a new trap, possibly a larger one, to see if they can keep the rabbits out for good.

Don’t Quote Me - But

By BETTY JOINER and M. J. BENNETT

Briefly for backups we ask you if anyone can remember having had a vacation just what is your fondest memory of the moonlit Spring Valley skies?

Just can’t remember it – it was more too shallow. Lola Robinson

Is Chicago what college life was like in Old Heidelberg for you? I mean, really. If you’re like me, you probably enjoyed the night sky.

The not actually dance in West Virginia, shades of home!

When pelting down the Great Miami River by the Millbrook bridge, Walter Mendel

With chops in the air I grumbled and looped to the lake, Jack Tucker

When I went I was in the wildness and the wildness it was.

Taking threes and a half to hath to lake like the lake and the lake

That's the way I always did. Again.

A true East is see you know from where you come.

And even though we were speaking of our evenings while she was picking out summer clothes.

Xen and Vince: Happy Career Week, everybody! After meeting all the journalism grad students, we have decided that young writers are smart. We hope we will get some. Right. The proof is in the pudding. Speaking of the voice stuff, tune in at 11 PM today for his right ear to our cable Alex Vincent, and Rae Palombo gives a special performance of 'The Dream.'

Congratulations to Ed Zielke who is now officially engaged to a beautiful fellow. He asked him back from his home town. Also thanks to Joan Horn who received a ring last Saturday night from Frank Bohn - Wooster, VT. She's really saying yes and it didn’t feel like it didn’t feel.

Speech: To that large group of students who attended the pick with a peak into the ways of the United States last Saturday. And to third section and Andy McMullen for their support which was as warm as they were hottest in the Inter-Sectional committee. And to Lila Puh for the well-organized work she’s doing on the Red Cross Silent show. Try to come sometime, by the way - Cynthia Cole for the noble way she’s obeying Mr. Craig’s silence treatment. He’s required that she speak in bush-boost tone until the thunder stems up.

Odds and Ends: Chief topic of conversations in Babcock, the other thing, among a group of engaged women, was the relative merits of longs and shorts for women’s sportswear. We’ve got it. It’s not more than two weeks till we’ll have B.A. and some people have theirs. * Poor Bobbe Bauder broke a leg playing basketball last night. All she’ll show is that it’s Rose Kent had something to do with the mannequin. Of course, some of the stuff was a bit of trouble to keep the rest of the night in line, which was unexpected.

“Life is short, but truth works for a long time: so let us speak the truth.” -Socrates
Four Dual and Two Triple Meets On Thin Clads’ Track Schedule

Now that spring has finally been sprung, ‘tis high time of all things in the athletic world. Track meets are everywhere and the school’s four clads—football, basketball, baseball, and track—are all competing for supremacy.

In addition to the Allyn’s six track meets, the football and baseball clads have been struggling away in their respective efforts. The track clads have been hitting the road, finding themselves in a number of different locations across the country, and generally doing quite well.

A recent meet that demanded the clads’ efforts was the one held in St. Louis, Missouri. Here, the clads were pitted against some of the nation’s top track teams, and the results were promising.

The meeting was held in the beautiful city of St. Louis, which is known for its lush greenery and beautiful architecture. The track itself was in excellent condition, with a smooth, well-maintained surface that allowed the runners to perform at their best.

The meet was divided into two main events: the sprint races and the long-distance races. The sprint races included the 100-yard, 220-yard, and 440-yard dashes, while the long-distance races consisted of the 1-mile, 3-mile, and 5-mile runs.

The clads put up a strong showing in both categories. The sprinters showed off their speed and agility, while the long-distance runners demonstrated their endurance and determination.

The meet was won by the clads, who showed themselves to be a formidable force in the world of track and field.

Borowy, Sandzy Pace Woonsocket Mound Streak

Considering the depths of the track season, it is no surprise that the Woonsocket Mound Streak is currently on a roll. The team has been tearing up the competition throughout the season, with a record of 14-2 in the early going.

The streak began in early April, when the Mounds lost their first game of the season to the renowned Eagles. However, the Mounds quickly recovered, going on a tear that has seen them win 14 of their last 16 games.

The team’s biggest victory came in early May, when they defeated the Eagles in a high-stakes game that had everyone on the edge of their seats. The Mounds went on to win the game 14-2, and the victory was seen as a turning point in their season.

Despite their recent success, the Mounds know that they still have work to do. They face a tough schedule in the coming weeks, with several games against top teams that will test their mettle.

Still, the team is confident in their abilities. They have a strong core of returning players, and they are looking forward to the rest of the season with excitement.

Borowy’s blazing bat was the key to the Mounds’ success in their recent victory over the Eagles. Borowy, a senior, went 3-for-4 with a home run and two RBIs in the game, leading the team to a decisive win.

The Mounds will continue to battle for the top spot in their division, and they are sure to be a force to be reckoned with in the coming weeks.
