Second Church

Honorable Code Work

Meeting last Monday evening, the Student-Faculty Relations Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association proposed the Honor Code in connection with the November meeting. The December meeting of this body.

A revised draft of the Code was presented by the Senators for further consideration. The chief problem was the means to which an honor system could be instituted without endangering the validity of degrees or credits granted by the college.

After immediate consideration of minor points of the proposed plan, the S.F.R.C. passed a motion that the Code be reviewed in further revision at the next meeting, and that the investigation of the matter be presented in chapel programs. This would enable minor points of the Honor Code to be considered and presented for student reaction. Both student and faculty viewpoints would be presented in the panel discussions.

The body agreed that while the question of making the code mandatory could be remedied, many obstacles might arise in the present situation. A draft of the Honor Code for campus usage was presented.

The question of the 24-hour deficit in the funds of the 1948 Index was expected to be read at the sending of a letter from the University Bulletin, business manager of the Index in 1947. The Index would lapse into a $20 surplus which was hoped might be used to defray the deficit. The request was presented at the meeting.

Miss Wood explained that the surplus be given to the college for educational purposes and was used for any other purpose.

The Index of 1948 was a project of the staff and the S.F.R.C. noted that the college officers of the Index be informed of the situation and that they make the necessary arrangements for the continuation of the Index.

It was announced that a new place be given to the Index of 1949.

Dave Cody announced that a Senate Committee was forming preparations for the revisions of the present class of the Index of 1948. These will be presented to the S.F.R.C. at a later date.

The Ethereal Enigma: Professors - Herein Explained, Completed, Aligned, Maligned

By Eugenie Collidge

I couldn't help it. Really, I couldn't. All the bees on the nearby apiary were doing it, and everyone says that if you don't follow the hive, you just lose your way and end up in some dark valley of disorientation. But, really, I mean it. I'm just a normal bee, trying to make a living, and the other bees just couldn't understand me. They all were flying around in circles, completely lost, and it just seemed like an obvious choice to follow the hive. I mean, I've never had a problem before. It's just that this time it was different. The bees were all going in one direction, and I couldn't really see where they were going. I was just trying to do my part, you know? It's just so hard to keep up with all these changes these days. I'm not used to it. I just went with the flow, you know? It's all very confusing. I wish I could have talked to someone else about it, but I couldn't. I couldn't bring myself to ask for help. I just had to do it on my own. I mean, I really didn't want to, but I just couldn't help it. It was just too hard. I just couldn't do it. It was too much. I just couldn't do it. It was too much.
Johnny Swigert, head football coach of Akron, has resigned his position. The announcement of his resignation was made by the Athletic Department of the University of Akron.

Johnny Swigert's resignation comes at a time when the football team is facing serious problems. The team has struggled in recent years, and Swigert's departure could signal a change in direction for the program.

Swigert's resignation follows a string of losses and poor performance on the field. The team has not had a winning season in recent years, and fans have long waited for a change at the helm.

Swigert's departure could mark the beginning of a new era for the Akron football program. The Athletic Department is expected to announce a replacement coach in the near future.
