Clan Gathers This Week To Commemorate 02 Fire
Near East Scholar Cyandler Young Will Address Chapel Tomorrow

By Dick Eagle

Memories of the burning of Woonsocket will be recalled this Friday at Woonsocket High School. On the day after the fire, Oberlin College was notified that the home of the late Charles P. Young, who had been a trustee of the college, was destroyed by fire in Woonsocket.
What is there to be said about this? In the first place, candy is not a protein, and it does not contain the energy that we seek. Women and men, too, get enough protein. Most people forget that there are need vital proteins, fat, and minerals. There are many ways to get these vital proteins and not just one or two of them that big Joey steals and the only protein givers.

There has been a complaint that too much meat is eaten. You must have plenty of burned for the body, and then it is proper that vegetables are served without cream and many are browned for the body. The meat needs a nutritional support.

What can be done about increasing the number in menus?

We never copy menus, or do we have some other words in the previous word. I present the plan to the Monday morning and we will discuss them over two hours. Each menu represents says what her dinner room does not like, and we try to make sure that the greatest number. But there are not much of this in the menu, they are different. We would like to put this back in the week, and do all we can to put them on the menu. Miss Brown would be willing to serve meat to have this volume, for this small school. We cannot put this in the menu. Bookkeeping must be done on the menu.

Why is there so much sugar in menus?

If it is on the line when people want it, it is a must be served. If it is not, it is on the line when people demand it. We will try to have it on the line to get to start on the Monday in Kenwood will do anything humanely.

Could there be established a balance between food and the student?

The interminable at the present time are Mrs. Hayes, Miss Brown, and Miss Brown. If students tell them their stories, they will bring this back to the week, and do all we can to put them on the menu. Miss Brown can set a dinner room menu in Balboa.

We are not bound here to have as many complaints or others. Imagine what would happen if we had a list! If not so, I have always been listening to the students.

What happened in the MSA protest meeting up on Thursday night?

MSA has no jurisdiction in this department. They did write a letter in the Sunday paper saying they would cooperate by dressing in a manner which would suit the service we try to bring to our students. They only remove MSA here, that we snatch our neck out, trying to please everyone. Grizzle got student cooperation and the students made sensible rules rela- tions between the MSA. Miss MSA here went flat on its nose. Their division of last year couldn’t possibly go through; men just wouldn’t dress properly.

What is the reason behind the “dressing up”?

If you want nice service, you must reciprocate. Do lower’s present the plan was to the students. The plan would look like to serve good food. Before the war, men had to wear and wash their clothes. The dean’s and school executives asked the setup in effect now.

Is there any reason why Thursday night’s menu is different?

No. You should dress presently every night, but there is no harm in dressing up one night. If it is 20 degrees, we can dress up, but we will have to take a vote to see if the majority of students would rather have it changed to another day.

Would it be desirable from your standpoint to have another men’s dining room and if so, would it be needed in dining room? In the same room?

If we do not get one, it would mean that we would have to require that all men eat in the dining room, because in order to give the service and the prices, we would have to be assured of a volume business. At present, men are not required to eat in Kenwood because it is crowded with the students, and we are forced to serve in a limited number of the students. It seems that there is too much of the students in the dining room. We are interested in the planning and construction of a building or in the cornerstone.
