Gum Shoe Profit Goes To Strife With Mother

Muskogee, Okla. - The first case of gum shoe profit in the history of the Muscogee (Creek) Nation was announced today.

Sister Mary Virginia, director of the Catholic Women's Club, announced that a profit of $2,000 was made in the sale of gum shoes to the students of the Muscogee (Creek) Indian School.

The money will be used to help support the Sister's school, which has been operating on a shoestring budget for the past year.

"We are very grateful to our students for their hard work and dedication," said Sister Virginia. "We couldn't have achieved this success without their support.

Elgin is the site of the new high school and its name has been chosen by a public vote. The new building is scheduled to open in September and will accommodate 1,000 students. The design features include a large auditorium, a gymnasium, and state-of-the-art classrooms. The school has received funding from local businesses and philanthropic organizations to support its construction and operation.

The students will have access to various extracurricular activities, including sports teams, music programs, and clubs. The school also plans to offer advanced placement courses and dual enrollment opportunities for students who wish to pursue higher education.

GREETING TO THE CLASS OF 1940

Hail Harrington; Slavery To Cease

Editor's Note: The following poem was written by Mr. James T. Truett, a resident of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, who is also Miss Harrington's host. The poem is planned for June 30 at 8 p.m., on the occasion of the change of the presidency and the celebration of the new year. The event will be held in the auditorium of the Cleveland Heights High School.

The poem is written in the style of a traditional English ballad, with a focus on themes of resistance and liberation. It celebrates the end of slavery and the beginning of a new era of hope and freedom. The poem is dedicated to Miss Harrington, who has dedicated her life to ending the practice of slavery and advocating for equality and justice. The poem is a call to action, urging readers to join the fight for a better world.

As Others Say It

As representatives of the students of Oberlin College we feel it our duty to oppose for the following reasons:

1. The college is not ready.
2. It is not the best time for the college to end the practice of slavery.
3. The college should not make a public statement.

But if the college is determined to take action, the following people have said:

1. Mr. James T. Truett, a resident of Cleveland Heights, Ohio:
   "The world will always go on. There is no one who ever goes away. We are all in this together."
2. Mr. William C. Holmes, a resident of Cleveland, Ohio:
   "We feel that the time is ripe for this change."
3. Mr. Henry W. Reed, a resident of Cleveland, Ohio:
   "We believe that this is the right time for the college to take this step."

The following people have also said:

1. Miss Harrington:
   "I feel that this is the right time for the college to end the practice of slavery."
2. Mr. James T. Truett:
   "I feel that this is the right time for the college to end the practice of slavery."
3. Mr. William C. Holmes:
   "I feel that this is the right time for the college to end the practice of slavery."

The following people have disagreed:

1. Mr. Henry W. Reed:
   "I do not feel that this is the right time for the college to end the practice of slavery."
2. Mr. James T. Truett:
   "I do not feel that this is the right time for the college to end the practice of slavery."
3. Mr. William C. Holmes:
   "I do not feel that this is the right time for the college to end the practice of slavery.

In the words of one of their generations, 1940:

The young are always full of enthusiasm and idealism. They are eager to make a difference in the world and to create a better future. Their energy and commitment are crucial in the fight for justice and equality.

The young are the future of the world. They will inherit the challenges and opportunities of the future. They must be prepared to face these challenges and make the right decisions.

The young are the ones who will shape the future. They must be educated and prepared to make informed decisions. They must be given the tools and resources they need to succeed.

The young are the ones who will make the world a better place. They must be supported and encouraged to pursue their dreams and goals.

The young are the ones who will make the world a better place. They must be given the opportunity to make a difference and to create a better future.
Wooster Doesn't Suit Case; Scotties Drop Rough Riders 75-45 by Frank Cook

Pounding the Case Rough Riders unanimously during the last game of the season last Saturday in Severyn Gym, the Wooster Scotts won their most impressive game of the early season by a score of 75-45.

Both teams showed little offense in the opening minutes of the game. Cuse was the first to score by virtue of free throws. A two-point shot by Case's Blount and a put down by Pat Milligan put the Scotts into a lead that they never let slip from sight for the entire course of the game.

Cupola Earl led the men with a total of 10 points. Milligan, Harry Swan, and Ed Edwards each scored over ten points for the Wooster variety. Klauder led the Riders with eleven points in his credit. Most of the Case team never did find the range and they even seemed to go further off the field as the game progressed.

Due to their height, Case controlled the backcourt most of the time but they couldn't manage to take advantage of this during that latter half of the game.

The Scotts gained a 15-point lead in the first seven minutes of the game. As Case applied pressure, they managed to narrow the gap in the first part of the game to a close. Once the Scotts relaxed, the Riders were able to add on points for an eventual eight-point lead.

Case never again ran the need for a few quick points and managed to get themselves back into the game in the first part of the second quarter loaded with Wooster holding an 11 advantage. There was never any letup by the Wooster defense, as there were only ten points scored by the Riders, as opposed to the thirty-five points scored by Wooster.

The Scotts steadily increased their lead until Case came to try to seal the victory in the final seconds of the game.

Wooster: Scotts Face hapless Denison Cagers

The Case Denison Cagers, after a few years in their basketball history, have become the Big Red Cagers as they continue their non-winning combination to Severn's gym for the second consecutive year.

Coach the Elderberry is running through tough stuff at his first year as head coach. He disposed of most of his opponents in order to make a combination which would click in the early stages. Out of 11 men on the squad eight are sophomores, two are freshmen, and one is a junior. These are the men who will be successful, a former, and a former, and a veteran, of the Denison team. The Blue and White are the Denison Cagers, but only two are as high as so. They are Ulms and Welch.

Record Round doubts have been put to rest as no games has improved since the beginning of the year. They lost their opener against Case 75-46. The rest of the games were Muskingum 91, Marietta 50. Capital 35-30, by Kaymen in a last quarter rally 75-39. The Big Red play Ohio Western this week and will probably come here with a scored 0-6.

The only two chances to be held against a team as seen by Kaymen and Case, both third in conference. In winning the Ohio Conference this week, Wooster won again on the road with a score of 21. They have scored 111 points in their last three games, with an average of 37 points for an average of 10.7. In individual scoring, Karl Smith is fourth behind Wilcox of Muskingum, Edwards of Ashland, and Rudy of Muskingum. Shaw has the team leading with the score of 96. With a total of seven games won by 21 points, the Wooster team has been the most successful in the league.

Most of the game is put up with points. Pat Milligan, a college favorite, showed his stuff with a 47-point game.
