Article of the Now: Best Easy A Classes

Whether you're a wizened senior or a nubile young freshman like me, your schedule is probably too difficult. In order to remedy that, I've surveyed dozens of student, professors and lax bros on what they consider the easiest classes to get an A in. If you want a chiller, triller, lighter and tighter course load this semester, definitely check these out.

8. Physics for Poets - Pretty good interdisciplinary science/humanities class. The final exam consists of writing about Chatfield's Theorem of Gravitational Mobility in haiku form.
7. Paternal Physiology - This is a class about dad bods.
6. Visual Interpretation of Theoretical Archaeology - I really hope you like Jurassic Park because this class involves viewing it .Twenty-nine times.
5. Skipping Class 101 - If you show up to this class, you fail.
4. Examining Lyrical Complexities Present In The Collected Songs of Macklemore - This class meets for two minutes on the first Wednesday of the semester and never again.
3. Quantitative Questioning & Philosophic Reasoning - Each class focuses on providing answers to varying existential questions such as "what does reality mean?" "can you ever really own a horse?" and "do you smell that?"
2. Analysis of Major Themes in the Movie "Easy A" - This Film Studies class is actually extremely difficult, DO NOT TAKE IT.
1. Organic Chemistry - I don't know anything about this class but I assume it's about vegan stuff and "organic" food and gluten so I assume it's gotta be pretty easy.

Rejected IS Proposals

Every week, the staff of the Squirrel searches the library archives of rejected IS proposals. Here are our favorites.

This Week in Jokes

Chef/author/racist Paula Deen is going to star on the upcoming seasons of "Dancing With The Stars." While the news seems strange due to Deen's past controversial remarks, it's not that weird considering that other celebrities involved in the new season include Michael Richards, Donald Sterling and Darren Wilson.

A team including a cardiologist, a medical historian and a musicologist studied rhythms of Beethoven's music and found evidence that the composer may have had an irregular heartbeat. Also interesting is the fact that the same team studied the rhythms of Iggy Azalea's music and found no evidence of a heartbeat because she is a soul-sucking godless demon sent from Hell to punish us for our sins.

On Thursday, a Florida woman was charged with robbing three banks in order to raise money for her daughter's graduation party. Meanwhile, my mother once made me pay for the cake at my 13th birthday party because I "was becoming an adult and needed understand finances better."

Last week, German citizen Sven Hageimer recently became the Guinness World Record Holder for "Longest Birthday" by spending it on planes flying from New Zealand to Australia and Hawaii on the same day, extending his birthday to 46 hours. He also now holds the Guinness World Records for "Saddest Life" and "Most Alone."

A South Carolina inmate was caught smuggling marijuana into jail by hiding it inside a copy of the Bible. To be fair though, the Bible itself praises weed: "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not come down but have an eternal high" John 4:20.
