Fairless Lauds College Individualism; Relates Private Enterprise, Education

It is because the College of Wooster has emphasized the individual that it has performed such an enduring service," Benjamin Fairless, president of the United Steel Corporation, told several of the students, administration, faculty, and townspeople at the Rededication Anniversary Dinner in Severance gymnasium tonight.

"For me, the greatest faith is in myself—by hoping to make the course of my life that a man should be the master of his own destinies and that he should have the right to determine the course of his own life."

In the all too cold world which is to be our home, the helpless, the sick, and the young, that is the true America. In the all too warm and well-dressed world, the prominent, the corporation and the senator, is the imbecile America.

The student, the housewife, the young man, the Negro, the Indian, the agitator, the old man, the wife of a miner, of a soldier, the woman of the city, all need this faith. This is the faith of all America."

Best Wishes

A flood of congratulations letters and telegrammes from all corners of the country have poured into Mr. Fairless on the occasion of the Rededication Anniversary. Extracts from four of these follow:

From John K. Davis, '34, of West Virginia, B.C., Canada, to Mr. Fairless, March 16:

"Mr. Fairless, as you are the co-founder and President of the Ohio State University of the present-day, I would like to express my appreciation of your efforts and your devotion to the educational cause."

From E. W. O'Conor, President, University of Chicago, to Mr. Fairless, March 16:

"Mr. Fairless, as you are one of the great leaders in the educational field, I would like to express my appreciation of your efforts and your devotion to the educational cause."

From J. M. White, President, University of California, to Mr. Fairless, March 16:

"Mr. Fairless, as you are one of the great leaders in the educational field, I would like to express my appreciation of your efforts and your devotion to the educational cause."

From C. H. Kettering, President, General Motors, to Mr. Fairless, March 16:

"Mr. Fairless, as you are one of the great leaders in the educational field, I would like to express my appreciation of your efforts and your devotion to the educational cause."

1901 Scot Teams Faced State's Best

By Jim Prancer

Athletics at Wooster “ain’t what it used to be” in 1901 when the maintenance building was the gym, when the playing field was where Douglas stands, when there was no Ohio Conference and when the Scots trounced Ohio State University.

Some sports opportunities were right there down the street. Denison, Kenyon, Mt. Morris, Ohio State, to mention a few.

Perhaps the most prominent one of them all is great Ohio State University. Not so much greater than Wooster, but O.S.U., brought its star championship basketball team to Wooster in the spring of 1902 to play what was probably this college’s most important game of the year.

At that time baseball was Wooster’s top sport, the team showing much better record each year, than the comparatively new football and basketball squads of the college.

The Wooster Voice of 1901-1902 records the fact that Ohio State’s charges were bowled as spring term at Wooster by the narrow margin of 8-4. Basketball at that time was played on the brand new athletic field and to be “cuts” of the corpus, and the sight-finder took up his position in the middle of the court where Section A of Douglas Hall now stands.

Other teams on the baseball schedule of that year were Kenyon, Wooster Reserve, Kenyon, Schuyl, Homer, who, were beaten, 24-0, and Wooster High, suffering the worst beating of the year from either Kenyon or Wooster High. The latter team was the Wooster, 8-5, a record which stood as the score in those days.

In the 1901 football score the beats were Delaware, Buckh., Denison, Western Reserve, Wooster, as well as with Cannon and Wooster High.

The latter team was to win the Wooster, 5-5, a record which stood as the score in those days.

We wish for you a Merry, Merry Christmas and good fortune through the coming year. WARREN — JACK — CURLY.

We take by surprise that they managed to put the ball on the basket only five times the whole game; the few field shots thrown as they totaled only 17 points but were still good.

Student enthusiasm for sports in 1901-1902 was not as strong as it should have been. Many of the Voice staff suggested plans for the student body to attend the contests and cheer for their team.

The Voice of Oct. 2, 1901, records, “For a few days last week it looked as though we might have to give up our long-desired interscholastic athletics simply because of lack of interest on the part of the students.”

Christmas is a very personal thing. Aside from the wonder-

The most exciting game of the season was played with Canton High School, a game which lasted exactly one half, or possibly a few seconds more than that.

was suffered to take the football over the goal line and give the Canton footballers a point.

The new athletic field was opened Oct. 19, 1901, but was not ready in time for the football games. In those days the team played on the county fair ground, and held its practice sessions on a field on the west side of the campus.

Before the days of the present generation Wooster’s basketball was played in a city building called the Arena. Scores from that era were comparatively low, but the spirit of the game prevailing then, brought the crowds to the games.

High score of the year was 100-60, against Kent.

Visiting Kenyon that winter, the basketball team arrived in town before the floor was ready and were unable to see a basketball court laid out with boards on the side instead of on the ends, making the floor wider than it was long. The boys were so
