Here are a few exciting items from the Xavier University News to complete our list of what the editors have cut down in over six hundred words. We say that you should cut down on twice as fast... (and we think this is true, the editor is diminishing the size of the newspaper just as fast as we do the number of words as a good way of showing the other editors.

Preparation For Disaster

Sometimes it seems that every time we turn around we come to confront with the stubborn facts. There are drives for the SCC, for tobaccoин стку упростил for tobacco in the spring and summer drives. And in fact the very basis of the American system has been built on voluntary contributions by the people.

At present another of these important drives is in progress. The Red Cross, which serves as an important agency in time of disaster, seeks your support. Some people wonder what the Red Cross does since it earns money? A few years ago this was graphically illustrated when, our own Red Cross drive closed, the Texas City disaster struck. Thousands and thousands were homeless, injured and lost. The Red Cross was the first relief agency to be on the scene and contributed to help people rehabilitate the victims. While we hope there are no more Texas City fires and that we need the Red Cross will be ready to meet the need, and we hope that our student body will go over their quota in the current drive for funds.

Mindful Of The Mouthful

To The Editor:

In the light of the recent and thoughtful articles written by Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Bowles, it is essential that their efforts be continued. They have given us a basis for the discussion of the mouth a topic which is largely neglected in our culture today. Their insights into the importance of the mouth as a means of communication have shed new light on old problems and have opened up new avenues for thought.

It is my hope that this discussion will continue and that we will all be mindful of the mouthful.

Sincerely,

Scots Trip Oberlin, Kenyon, Allegheny; But Ashland Games Revenge For Rout

By Don Reisman

During the last two weeks of February the Scott cagers upper their record to nineteen wins, six losses as they toured three long trips.

Cagers Finish Third in Ohio Conference: OWU Wins, 85-90

Ohio Conference action and final seed assignments of the WOOS, Wolf and the Scot squads fell to Ohio Wesleyan's Woody Pollock, 85-90, in a basketball game played at Delaware last Tuesday night.

In losing their third game in ten starts this season, the WOOS were given a chance to clinch second place in the O.C. conference but failed to tie for the team in the second place spot. When the Scot squad opened the season with a 10-point defeat by the Owosso team last November, it was then the when the Bears met up for a contest of their own. Today, the Scot squad went on to win the high school game 59-57. Grooms' Gaynor finished with 20 points.

When Oberlin's Jim Brown and the Sphinx defeated the Bears in last week's contest a thought went through one mind—"Are the Scots in a time sequence between the Sphinx, the Keys, and the Scots, and can the Bears make a run at another title?'

The basketball tournament will be opened March 24 and on every Monday and Tuesday night. Last week Wednesday evening the Bear high school team put their prime against the Bears in a 10-point loss. When the Scot squad opened the season with an 8-7 record over North Dakota...
