Climetric Camera Catches Compton In Construction

The building crews at Compton are caught by Art Murray's camera as they put the finishing touches on the first floor of our newest dormitory.

Compton Hall Slated For Completion By Start Of School Next September

by Don Reiman

At least 101 women will be happy next year. That is, they will be permitted to complete school on schedule. However, Miss Katherine Peters, director of dormitories, indicated that it has not yet been decided who will occupy the building next fall.

The structure, which will have 50 double rooms and one single, will also be equipped with many modern conveniences. In addition, there will be such common features as ironing rooms on each floor, smokery for each floor, and kitchens adjoined the smokery. Of course, there are a few things lacking due to an insufficient of funds at the present time. Recreation rooms will be equipped for all purposes, and will be open to all the students without additional cost. There will be a large kitchen or dining room in the new building.

The floors of Compton hall are to be of ashelite tile. The walls of the rooms will be paneled, and painted rather than papered. A special feature of the rooms will be the clothes closets, which will be built into the wall and have sliding doors. This will amount to actual closet walls. At the present time, there is some discussion whether to install built-in desks, such as are found in Andrews Hall, or buy movable desks which could be switched around in room arrangement.

Operetta Viewers Will See Contrast

Those who buy tickets to see the operetta Amahl and the Night Visitors and Trial By Jury will enjoy an evening of contrasts. The twin bill will feature Gian- Menotti's Christmas television opera with Gilbert and Sullivan's satire on the English judicial system.

The story of Amahl is set on a two area stage featuring a poor shepherd's hut surrounded by the countryside and little lambs.

Plot Involves Dream

The plot involves a dream by the little crippled shepherd boy, Amahl, concerning the story of the visit of the three kings to the Christ child. All of the actions and characteristics of adults are directed by Amahl's point of view and even the theft of gold and the miracle are interpreted simply and directly in terms of a child's imagination.

The costume will feature the plain homespun clothing of the shepherds contrasted with the extravagant gowns of the three kings.

In Trial By Jury

We find Edwin Titus of his sweetheart, Angela, and falling in love with another, Angela, who has been left at the church steps, so as to be of help to her. The trouble she shows partiality to Angela, and the jury and the law do the same, but they have a little sympathy for the defendant. As the trial moves on, confusion mounts and many different ideas are expressed.

Buddy Morrow

"A step in the direction of eventually naming bands for dances" is being taken with the bringing of Buddy Morrow to the campus tonight according to Paul Davies, publicity director of the Student Senate.

He stated that the appearance of the recording artist of Night Train is in the nature of an experiment to see whether the apparent interest that has been shown in the last few years by the student body can be better regulated by the response to this concert.

Alumni Clubs Meet; Note Wooster Day

From Thursday, December 9, through Sunday, December 11, Wooster Alumni organizations throughout the world will observe the anniversary of the fire which destroyed Main Hall, the building which once housed all the class rooms of the College of Wooster. The fire occurred on the evening of December 11, 1903. This observance of Wooster Day celebrates the rehabilitation and re-building of Wooster after the fire.

During the three day period, more than 50 Wooster Clubs will be heard speakers who are former students or members of the faculty.

The clubs spread over the area from Massachusetts to Florida.

The Selective Services examination will be held Thursday, December 9, in Knaue 100, at 8:00 a.m. All students planning to take the test must bring their ticket of admission.}

Vacation Bound? Departure Day is drawing near. Remember to sign the lists in the Student Senate Room NOW!!

Summer Concert

A summer concert will feature a number of groups including the Broderick String Quartet and the American Band of the Panama Canal. This concert will be held in the Amphitheatre on the evening of June 25. The program will include music by Handel, Bach, and Mozart, as well as some contemporary American music. The concert will be free to the public.}

Woofter Orchestra Presents Concert

Wednesday, December 8, at 8:15 p.m. the Woofter Symphony Orchestra will present its first concert of the season. The program will be the second in the series given by the College. The presentation will feature Clarins Paul Parmelee as soloist and will be conducted by Daniel D. Trieze. The orchestra will open the program with the Mozart Haffner Symphony. The concert will close with "Concerto for Viol- ina" by Vivaldi, Ruth Sanderson, Leon Shullinger, Margaret Line, and Stuart Wright will be the vio- linist. The program will be closed by the "Charlirari Larghetto" for the clarinet soloist. Woodward Samuel. Clarinet Parmelee will then present the "Schumann Symphony No. 1" in E major with clarinet solos. The concert will be followed by a dance in the new gymnasium. A student orchestra present- ing "Christmas Fantasy" by Carl Goetsonen.
We, doubting Americans, complain of the gloom.

In re-examining the situation, it becomes apparent that the Comrade's statements are exaggerated.

We have found evidence that the Comrade's allegations are not supported by facts.

In conclusion, we believe that the Comrade's position is unfounded.
Swimming Squad Opens With Penn

The Scott swimming team has been practicing for several weeks just in case they had been wanting to swim. Each swimmer will be built around five returning lettermen. With three meets scheduled-ly for December, Wooster will be pressed to get in shape.

With the first basketball game coming our way next Thursday, the winter sport season will begin. The Scots will travel to Grove City College to open their schedule. The swimming team will also open their season against Fenn College of Cleveland on Tuesday.

While we're speaking of schedules, Moose Hole recently released its 1965 football schedule. Two games have been scheduled with teams from Pennsylvania; the first with Allegheny on September 25. Two weeks later, Wooster will travel to Waynesburg where they will play the first game in the history of the two schools. (The home team changes its place; this contest will be played under the lights. A change in the schedule might make this a Homecoming game for Waynesburg.

The rest of the schedule remains the same as last year's. The only difference will be that Dickinson will be replaced by Waynesburg, the Scots will play Maple Grove for homecoming game and Berlin for Dad's Day.

State Leads Nation

Justly so, the mighty Buckeyes of Ohio State were awarded the trophy this week for being the number one team in the nation. This is the second time in the history of the school that the Buckeyes have won the national honors. Paul Brown, famous as the coach of the Cleveland Browns, brought laurels to Columbus in finishing with a record of nine wins and one loss in 1940.

Intra-mural Basketball Begins

Earlier this week Kenard kennel basketball squads began their games. Several teams promise to be real threats this year on the strength of returning and experienced players from last year. Also to be felt will be the appearance of four former varsity men. Elliott Tustison will play with Third Section. Ted Hole and Bob Raffas will be with the Phi Delta, and Bill Stoner will compete with the Tri Kappa of Seventh Section. Second Section also has a good advantage in that they will field a taller team than the rest of the sections. A team one that is probably even bigger than Moses Hole's vacancy.

Question of the Wake-Up Call is it that all this talent shows up in intramurals? Moses has always cared for some taller boys—at least as compared to the rest of the rest. We must say that the rearheated gadgets are never really ousted.

Georges Rencki Speaks To IRC

Georges Rencki, Director of Polkomen Youth Campaign, will be the guest speaker of the International Relations Club on Wednesday, December 2. At the present time he is on a three-week speaking tour sponsored by the American Committee on United Europe. Mr. Rencki’s professional experience and academic training well qualify him to report on the important role which young adults are playing in the effort to unite the free countries of Western Europe.

In 1946, he founded and directed the first student organization devoted to European federation, and in 1951, after receiving his law degree, he became a full-time worker on the staff of the European Movement.

Christmas Dinner Given By Circle

The College Circle will hold its annual Christmas dinner in Hodges Hall tonight. Attending the dinner will be all the club members and their husbands. Mr. and Mrs. William Craig are chairman of the committee for the dinner arrangements; Miss Dorothy Mather is in charge of the program and Mr. Lowry will be the master of ceremonies. Following the dinner, the guests plan to go to the faculty club. This semi-formal Christmas dinner is the Circle’s only dinner of the year.

The Circle Club is composed of women and men who are connected with the college. Its present officers are: Mrs. Myron Perino, President; Mrs. Winifred Legas, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Rechheimer, recording secretary; Mrs. Warren Anderson, socia; and Mrs. Stuart Ling, treasurer.

The Story Of Dr. Walt H. Dunn

by Molly DeBull

One of the most exciting arrivals on campus this year is not a building, not an endowment, but a man. To both those who have known him in the past and those who have never seen him, the return of Dr. Walt H. Dunn to Wooster is a wonderful prospect.

Dr. Dunn is no stranger to the campus. After one term of college at the University of Cincinnati, he came to Wooster to study from 1903 to 1905. Brought here by the influence of the Campus family, he remained until he felt that he needed more specialized courses for his chosen field, the teaching of English, than Wooster offered.

He finished his undergraduate work at Yale in 1906, and with the knowledge of three educational institutions, he was immediately offered a teaching position at a small Presbyterian college in West Virginia. He had barely unpacked his luggage when an offer came from Louis Holt, then president of Wooster, to teach here.

Dr. Dunn finished the year in West Virginia and came to Wooster where he remained to teach until 1934. One interruption in his teaching career came when he went to the University of Glasgow for graduate work. He left Wooster again to be a visiting professor at Scripps College in California. During the school year of 1951-52, he returned to Wooster to teach composition and literature until 1954.

At the insistence of the president of Scripps, he finally decided to teach permanently in California. He remained there until 1952 when his retirement ended more than 30 years of teaching.

But teaching was not all for Dr. Dunn. While still an undergraduate, he developed an interest in biography which has lasted all his life. He has written a history of the development of English biography in addition to several biographies of famous men. The first biography came when he was in California. As a result of an interest in a former premier of New Zealand, he made a trip around the world which included a visit to the Pacific Islands.

Another biography was that of Donald G. Mitchell, an American novelist who wrote under the pen name of M. Marvel. But perhaps the most exciting of all was a book entitled Froude and Carlyle, a vindication of James Anthony Froude, Carlyle’s biographer and subject of a literary controversy.

Nur has biography been Dr. Dunn’s only interest. He has been co-editor with Dr. Lowry of The Notebooks of Matthew Arnold, one of the editors of the first complete edition of Milton’s works, and author of a series of lectures published under the title “Three Eminent Victorians”.

Now that he has come back to Wooster, Dr. Dunn’s present occupation seems to be that of writing his biography of Richard Blackmore, author of Lorna Doone, will soon be published. The most exciting thing to wait for, however, is the building of his new house which is finally nearing completion. Once settled permanently, he will continue his writing because he says, “I think that I have about 200 years of work still to do.”
