Caldwell Addresses Compton Service

At 10 a.m. tomorrow Otelia Compton Hall will be officially dedicated in Memorial Chapel. Dr. Robert C. Caldwell, Wooster alumnus, former ambassador to the Argentine and Mexico, and now Dean of Humanities at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will be the principal speaker. Dr. Wilson Compton, president of the Council for Financial Aid to Education, will speak for the Compton family. Ford Foundation President H. Rowan Gaither, Jr. will also participate. The Foundation presented $25,000 for furnishings in memory of Dr. Karl T. Compton. Dr. Compton was a former trustee of the Ford Foundation and president of Massachusetts Institute of Politics.

Mr. James R. Caldwell, president of the Wooster Rubber Company, will represent the citizens of Wayne County. Speaking on behalf of the women of the College is WSGA executive board president Charline Whitehouse. Dr. Howard F. Lowry, College president, will also speak. Mr. Charles F. Cellarius, the architect, will present the keys of the building to Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Robert Wilson.

Open house at Compton Hall will be held from 9 to 9:45 a.m., and from 4 to 6 and 8 to 9 p.m. tomorrow.

Gals Escort Guys To Sadie's Dance

Saturday, October 29, is the day that the tables are turned at Wooster. This is the time that the lassies escort the men of the campus to the Sadie Hawkins dance. This is also the chance for all to dress up in the garb of their favorite comic-strip characters and for the gals to further their creative abilities by fashioning a Dogpatch version of a corsage for their dates. Of course Halloween couldn't go by in Dogpatch-land without electing a king to lead the gaiety. This is the chance for each section to get on the bandwagon with its candidate.

Representing First Section is Ron Gould, a junior from Grand Junction, Colorado.

Will Lange, III, a junior geology major from Syracuse, New York, will represent Second Section under the name of "Hillwilly." Will is a member of the Geology Club, the VOICE staff, and the Mountaineering Club (something new, I hear).

Other Section Choices

Third Section has not found its Little Abner as yet, and the only press news from Fourth Section is "John Becker." But Little Abner will be found in Fifth Section under the name of Dick Wise, a sophomore from Millersburg, O. A prospective biology major, Dick is a member of the German Club.

Sixth Section will appear in the person of Bill Driggs, one of our Scottie cheerleaders. "Little Willie," a junior geology major from Cambridge, Ohio, is also a member of the Geology Club and is junior senator-at-large.

Bruce Hunt, a sophomore, is Seventh Section's candidate. A prospective history major from Newton, Massachusetts, he will appear under the slogan of "Poor Fam Hunt." Last, not least but secretive is Eighth Section, whose candidate chooses to remain a mystery.

Art Museum Shows Work of Graduates

by Lee Bruce

This year's Homecoming Exhibition in the Josephine Wishart Museum of Art includes many beautiful and interesting works of art that Wooster students have done during the past five years.

A range from realistic to abstract paintings is represented by the realism of Alice Van Fleet's vivid water color, "Still Life," and the colorful abstractions of James Kehr's oil, "Dance of Life." A number of intriguing block prints are shown which include building studies such as "Station House" by Dorothy Lyon Bushnell and "Industrial Buildings" by Mary Ellen Silk Walzansky. One very interesting silk-screen print of the Wooster campus is by Pat Taft. Also along the line of local interest is "Taylor Basement," an oil by Maud Griswold.

Other Art Works

In addition, the display contains three different treatments of the same theme, "Typewriter," in water color by Marilyn Roth. Along with this silk-screen, note paper and Christmas cards are exhibited by Jean Teague. Some of the ceramic work represented is a baked clay model of a seated figure with a banjo by Beverly Parsons and a red glaze finished abstract model of a bird by Amy Vandersall. The gallery is open daily from 8:30 to 12 noon and 1 to 5 in the afternoon. On Saturday the display may be viewed between 8:30 and 12 noon.

The Index benefit movie on November 2 and 3 will be "Doctor in the House," an English comedy about four medical school undergraduates. Kenneth More stars as the student who grandmother left him a thousand pounds a year so long as he stays in school.

SPHINX: Carol Calhoun, Jane Craig, Nancy Eales, Jo Anne French, Pat Gerber, Ann Hire, Ruth Holzapfel, Nancy Jacobs, Kathryn A. Johnson, Helen McGee, Sue Marsh, Janet Mesing, Maggie Moses, Toloa Schiller, Marilyn Troyer, Joan Zimmer.

TRUMPS: Bonnie Acton, Lana Brokaw, Doris Cree, Anne Gieser, Judy Heess, Mary Homrighausen, Marty Klippert, Judy Lippert, Muffy McKay, Judy Pennock, Edi Powers, Lyall Ritchie, Anita Rodriguez, Nancy Shea, Gay Sinclair, Judy Vixseboxse.

37th Homecoming Activities Feature Queen Suzie and Her Royal Retinue

October, the month famous on the Wooster calendar for unpleasant periods of precipitation, has at least one redeeming feature—Homecoming. This, the first really big date of the year, is a week-end packed to capacity with diversions, and annual amusements.

The first thing that comes to mind in connection with Homecoming is the Homecoming Queen. This year's Queen is Her Royal Majesty Suzie Taggart, with Maid of Honor Sue Stewart. The court this year is composed of runners-up for the title Joan Eaton, B. A. Ellis, and Charline Whitehouse.

Thursday night the Queen and her court were entertained for dinner at Mrs. Kate's tea room and taken to the Homecoming play, The Caine Mutiny Court Martial.

Tonight the Queen, her court, and those in the Queen's best graces will attend the Queen's ball, which is under the direction of sophomore Frank Talbot, in Lower Babcock.

Saturday Is Big Day

Saturday is the big day, beginning with the dedication of Otelia Compton dormitory for women at 10 a.m. in the chapel. Mr. Charles F. Cellarius, the architect, will present the keys to Mr. Robert Wilson, president of the Board of Trustees.

The Queen will arrive in style with her court in a convoy of convertibles for the Homecoming game, at which Wooster will again tangle with Muskingum. During the half, Student Senate President Virg Musser will crown Her Royal Majesty, after which Her Majesty will award the alumni trophies for the best-decorated men's and women's dormitories. Then the Scot Band, Men's Glee Club, and Girls' Chorus will unite in "Wooster, Dear Old Wooster."

Saturday night the Homecoming Dance, with sophomores Harry McClure and Murray Blackadar in charge, will be presented in Severance Gymnasium. During the dance intermission, open houses will be held by several sections.

Serenade Contest Records Coming

Last year's Men's Association Serenade Contest records will be available soon. Several things have caused the delay in getting these out. Since last year's record cutter didn't work, an inexpensive method had to be found elsewhere. This finally has been done. The last report from the record company was that the records would be ready in about two weeks.

A record contains one selection from each section, with an introduction to each song and information about the director. Winning sections are named. There is also a short history of the men's Serenade Contest.

Records may be picked up at the Senate office when they arrive.

FRESHMAN DAY

"I want some candy, frosh," will be the statement most heard next Friday, as the frosh are put through the annual paces of Freshman Day.

Wearing signs in the shape of their home state with their home town pinpointed, dinks, and all sorts of queer garb, the freshmen will be quite distinct on campus. Enough candy, gum and cigarettes will be passed out to re-stock the Union, several freshmen complained.

Sections Schedule Freshman Smokers

Freshman men will attend smokers given by each of the sections with the exception of First, this fall. There are two smokers scheduled, one for each half of the freshman class.

The upper half constitutes the second and third floors of Douglass and the lower half includes first floor Douglass, Douglass Units, Behoteguy, and Korner Klub.

The schedule is as follows:

Sunday, October 16: Third, Upper, Douglass; Fourth, Lower, Andrews.

Wednesday, October 19: Sixth, Upper, Andrews; Eighth, Lower, Livingstone.

Sunday, October 23: Fifth, Upper, Douglass; Second, Lower, Andrews.

Sunday, October 30: Eighth, Upper, Livingstone; Sixth, Lower, Andrews.

Wednesday, November 2: Fourth, Upper, Douglass; Fifth, Lower, Andrews.

Reporter Seeks Queenly Traits

by Sheila McIsaac

What does it take to be a Homecoming Queen? Well, some people think a winning smile, a pretty face, and contribution to the school are good prerequisites. You must admit Suzie Taggart, 1955 Homecoming Queen, has them. I popped in on Suzie sitting desk at Compton Hall the other night. She was enjoying a comparatively restful night answering phone calls and deliberating on her busy week-end to come. I had no mercy, however, and soon began firing almost as many questions as the United States immigration service. Most of the things I asked I already knew, because who can have a private life at Wooster and be as active as Suzie?

When asked what she liked, Suzie replied, "People." She must. The past three summers she has spent counselling in a crippled children's camp. Last year she lived in Bowman Hall, junior residential 25 or so frosh women. The activity she had there wasn't enough to prevent her steering clear of the WSGA Judicial Board presidency.

Suzie told me she has a handsome 31-year-old brother who has strayed far from their Howard, Ohio home into the overseas division of Continental Can. Co. Imps claim Sue as a hardworking member, as at one time did the Index staff. Suzie also confided in me that she participated in a Color Day pageant as a horse. Anyone who can work up from the inside of a Color Day horse to a Homecoming Queen must be quite accomplished. Congratulations, Miss Taggart!

"Nice To See You Again..."

by Hans H. Jenny

Don Burns stepped off the early morning train, still somewhat sleepy from the long ride. He had left New York the night before in order to rejoin some of his friends on the Old Campus on the Hill of the small liberal arts College from which they had all graduated three years ago. As the taxi carried him past familiar landmarks, Don was reminded of the four years which he had spent "on the Hill."

They had been good years, there was no doubt about it now. He had learned much, and he could have studied more. He had spent many a wild hour with the boys in places one did not mention to the "Administration". He had known several professors with whom he had kept up some sort of correspondence, good guys in their own right, some scholars, some teachers, some of both. He remembered romance, too, as he had experienced it for the first time in his freshman year. The warm spring evenings on the fragrant campus could not be forgotten so easily. The girl finally married someone else in her senior year, and Don thought fondly of his own family which was spending the week end with his parents.

A Joint Venture

The taxi was passing a new dormitory. The wounds which power-shovels had inflicted on the terrain were still visible, although the landscaping was charitably hiding the worst. Don remembered the letters which he had received from the President, explaining that the new dormitory was the joint venture of "local citizens" and "friends of the College." It had seemed a good idea then, to have the College get together with the local community to build a dormitory, or to build anything for that matter. It had always seemed to him that "town" and "gown" might live in closer contact with each other. A few professors used to tell him about the difficulties and responsibilities involved, but in his youthful righteousness the answer had always seemed so simple to him. Now, as he looked at the imposing new structure, he knew that it could not have been so simple.

Turning the Cheek

Don Burns suddenly realized that he and his friends had played so many pranks on unsuspecting people in town that he would not have been overly amazed had the campaign for funds been a complete failure. It pleased him to see that the Community must have decided to forgive the College whatever there was to forgive.

Don asked the taxi driver to head for the Chapel. As the car swerved precariously on two wheels to execute an illegal U-turn, Don saw himself again the leader of his Section Brothers, some of which he would presently meet to attend the Dedication of the new dormitory. How painful it is, he thought, to realize that one could have accomplished great things for the common good, for instance for townspeople. It

Non-Conformity Dances The French House

It seems that the French House, the non-conformist dormitory on campus, does not get much publicity in the press. Maybe it is because it can claim a calm and simple life. Nothing ever fell on the stairs except a girl carrying a suitcase, and when a sophomore is pinned, there is more noise outside than inside. Our fire alarms are not those tortures the other dormitories lament; we never have them when everybody is asleep, but a little earlier, when the girls are still in the showers or the bath tub (I am the fire warden;) it takes a little longer to find the galoshes but there is less danger of having your clothes catch fire. Nobody ever broke anything except the "petit coin" and within a month the maintenance men had it fixed. We detect very easily any subversive noise (non-French, all others are tolerated) on the intercom, which serves also as the heating conduit. That way we can profit also by Slim's discourses in the cellar and the head resident's spicy dreams: "No, no, not the subjunctive..."

Modern Contrivances

We have no buzzer, but we have a piano. We have a telephone in the salon, that can easily be carried into a closet when the presence of male guests prevents our appearing in negligé. Among other electric appliances we have a dozen radios, a hair drier, a vacuum cleaner, half a dozen phonographs, a popping toaster, a cornpopper, a doorbell, a dozen alarm clocks, all of them less than silent apparati.

Showers Meet SPCA Requirements

We may not have a drinking fountain or a blinking light, our "fumier" may be the room left over by the boiler, our showers the winter camp for Ohio's mosquitoes, and our garden, the repair of the campus's sun-bathers, but we are a highly democratic community. Of course, we have our little differences around the only mail box, but we are always late together at Babcock for lunch, and we always write our papers together. We have a perfect laundry service—two girls do the laundry exchange for the whole house (that is why we do not want any classes on Fridays) and a very well organized system for house-meetings. Nobody is compelled to go, but we cannot avoid it either because the president has just got

SENATE BRIEFS

by Sally Davis

The Student Senate has gone on record as being opposed to the discontinuation of Chapel announcements. They feel the trial period will not be successful especially because of the limited distribution of the Scot Calendar and the fact that there are a number of off-campus students who do not eat in the dormitories.

The judging committee for the Homecoming decorations has been selected. Helen Gooch is chairman. Her committee consists of Ed Moore, Jean Teague, Ann Geiser, Miss Fiori of the French Department, Dr. Ferris of the Religion Department, and Mr. Jones of the Speech Department.

Dr. Lowry has suggested that the Senate investigate the extra-curricular activities of the campus. The investigation would be a long-range program—probably in the form of a questionnaire. Chuck Kinzie is to talk over the suggestion with Dr. Lowry.

The Study Clinic will be continued this year if Dr. Baird has the time to give. This has begun last year especially for the benefit of freshmen. The Senate sold copies of the pamphlet, "Study Your Way Through School."

Compton Hall — A Long Climb From Bowman

by Sheila McIsaac

Compton and Hall are both old words in the Wooster dictionary, but the combination of the two is a very recent addition. After I first landed on the Wooster scene as a "prospective" in June, 1953, I grew used to the familiar "This is the site of" sign which decorated the corner of Wayne and Beall. Also as a "prospective," I had listened to the friendly tones of Don Shawver assure me that by some magic process that sign would some day turn into some dormitory. Those were some words.

I left school last June with quite an unsettled feeling. I had been assured of a room and the job of junior resident in either Bowman or Compton. Going up Beall for the last time as a sophomore, I gazed hopefully but despairingly at the hull of the building, which now graced the field that had held the "this is the site of" sign. I could only see the pea-green walls of a Bowman single. June, July, August, and the letter which told me Compton would be habitable!

Moving 96 girls into any dormitory is quite an operation, but into an unfinished Compton Hall—that's really work. To the girls it seemed they were outnumbered 15 to 1 by workmen. To the workmen it seemed they were outnumbered 50 to 1 by coeds. They whistled merrily as they put mirrors in the bathrooms, tried very hard to remember to knock on bedrooms doors, and remained

1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
2. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
3. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
4. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip . . . and Viceroy's cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

suddenly struck him, how much wasted energy he had ordered as Section President into a never-ending succession of time-honored, but senseless undertakings. A few of them stood out as especially childish, even though they were usually said to test a "man's" courage and stamina. Time and distance must have had their effect, Don mused; those activities were the things which proved to have very little value now, no lasting qualities at all, except for those who refuse to grow up. Students—A Disturbing Element

But Don did not want to brush it all off as the students' weaknesses. After all, the students do contribute more than just money to the College. If the students are often a disturbing element on a campus, it may be because the College has brought it all upon itself. Don decided in a fit of indignation over his somewhat pessimistic appraisal of things gone by that the students were entitled to a considerable amount of enlightened leadership in matters of "growing up" and "respectable citizenship." When he looked back at the four years of College, he had to come to the conclusion that far too often stuffy rules and regulations were taken for expressions of leadership. Don laughed, as the car came to a sudden stop; if one could live life over again!

A chorus of "... nice to see you again, old man ..." overwhelmed him, as he approached the entrance to the Chapel. Handshakes, fists jammed into unsuspecting ribs, loud guffaws at the remembrance of old jokes, and the weird realization that this was just not quite the way it used to be. As they entered the Chapel, they found themselves on the outside looking in, as it were. The students were crowding the pews to pay their respects to the representatives who had made the new dormitory possible. It had been feared that with parents and sweethearts in town, the students would stay away. But there was no doubt about it; the kids had all turned out for some reason, many of them with their folks. After all, a dedication of a new building is not an everyday occurrence, and much less does it often happen that a town and a college get together to finance such a venture.

As Don squeezed into a corner, a wave of pride rushed over him. As "town" and "gown" gripped each other's hands firmly, Don knew that this was really "Homecoming," better than he had ever dreamed it would be.

a very decorative Chinese tam-tam. During the house meetings, the social chairman cuts everybody's hair, the sports fans rehearse slenderizing body-mechanics while eating ice cream, and we discuss our problems such as at what temperature to keep the thermostat or what windows to open. When our little difficulties are settled we are all very glad to go back to our nice cosy little rooms with the big bunk beds. We enjoy a good half-night sleep, remembering with horror the legend that, once, a very long time ago, when we had our serenade, a girl was stampeded in the corridor (that was before we decided to have serenade-drills.)

In the morning, the waitresses going to work make the hall joyously resound, and everybody knows that a new day is beginning for the French House.

'Court-Martial' Reviewer Praises Queeg, Greenwald Performance

by Bill Whiting

The Little Theatre of the College of Wooster Department of Speech started its 1955-56 season Wednesday night with a production of Herman Wouk's The Caine Mutiny Court Martial. If this production is indicative of what we may expect from the theatre this season, I feel safe in predicting an unusually fine and rewarding year for college theatre-goers.

Laurels of the evening go to Bob Dodd, whose magnificent acting as Lt. Com. Queeg fully paralleled anything I have seen on this stage. There was no applause on the exit of Mr. Dodd in the last act, as there had been on two other characters. The reason is simple: it would have been sacrilegious. The entire audience seemed deeply moved by the sympathetic picture of an old-time navy officer who was mentally degenerating.

Performance number two was that of versatile Ed Moore as the Jewish lawyer Greenwald, a victim of most unpleasant circumstances. A master of theatrical color, Mr. Moore gave a performance that was at once arresting and constantly in character—which is a trait many actors should strive for. If pressed for adverse criticism, I could only wish that he had appeared a bit more drunk in the final scene.

Comic relief was very aptly provided by Colin Campbell as Signalman Urban. He well deserved the hand he got on his hurried and chagrined exit as a sailor suddenly confronted with the horrible situation of appearing in a court-martial.

Additional comedy was provided by Don Shonting as psychiblissfully unaware of the well-known institution of Quiet Hours. In spite of or because of all this, plus some well-directed labor, Compton Hall can shine in almost all its splendor for its dedication tomorrow.

Those of us who have spent time in Hoover, Miller, and Bowman have not yet recovered from our flabbergastation. We are just not quite used to having no worries about closet space, availability of showers, or book cases with enough shelves. We miss the excitement of falling out of the top bunk or digging up bobby pins from the cracks in the floors. However, the challenge isn't quite all gone from life. Lights that don't work, heat that doesn't turn on, and paint that isn't quite dry supply much in the way of diversion.

It will be nice to show off our dormitory. We enjoy boasting about smokers and kitchenettes on each floor, we like to look out our windows over putting greens to the distant hills, and we're certainly not adverse to letting you try out our chairs in the lounge. ## '56 Swimmers Begin Work Next Week; 7 Veterans Return

Looking ahead in the Wooster sports schedule, we find that swimming is just around the corner. It won't be long now before the candidates for this sport will be working out. October 26 will see the boys circling the track.

Called an "inexperienced team" last year, there were but four lettermen returning for action. This year finds seven lettermen and two boys with numerals eagerly awaiting the coming season. Among the returning veterans with letters are Warren Crain and Dave Dungan, co-captains, Crain being a senior and Dungan a junior. Others are Ned Wolfe, junior, Dave Swanson, junior, Dick Evans, junior, Sam Hunt, sophomore, and Bob Watson, sophomore. The numeral winners are Steve Taylor and Phil Allen, sophomore and junior respectively.

Coach Johnny Swigart feels that this year there will be more competition for the events than in the two previous years. This year's team may show the needed depth that is necessary for any good swimming team.

The average squad consists of 10 to 12 members. Each man is allowed to enter two events and a relay. Of the events, there is the medley relay, the freestyle relay, the 50, 100, 220, and 440 yard freestyles, the 200 yard breast and back strokes, the individual medley and diving.

If any of you fellows like swimming but are doubtful about your ability, try out anyway. You've got nothing to lose.

The first meet is the Ohio Conference Relays which will be held at Oberlin on December 10.

Akron Zips Tackle Wooster Gridders

A week from tomorrow, the Wooster College Scots will play host to the Zips of Akron University. Coaching the Blue and Gold is Joseph McMullen, an Ivy League graduate from Brown University in 1945. McMullen commenced the 1954 campaign successfully with three wins in the first four encounters. The team, however, slumped badly and lost the next four, including a 28-27 affair to the Scots. Although Akron is over four times larger than Wooster, McMullen's 1955 talent is limited. Graduation took five lettermen, and seven others left because of academic difficulties. As a result, only 10 veterans are back.

Heading the backfield are veterans Bob Schutzbach, John Williams, and Jack Lengyel, all top ground-gainers. Also seeing action are John Weiner, who missed last season because of an operation, veteran quarterback Tom Boggs, and sophomore quarterback Joe Monroe. Another top-flight back is Ben Kimbrough, a freshman who has netted 403 yards in 29 carries thus far this year.

The line appears to be particularly strong with veteran ends George and Bill Auten, Jim Townsend, and Gene White. Other holdovers are tackle Tony Paris and guards Mario Russo and Jerry Reeves.

Intramurals Resume Play After Rains; Phi Delts Rip Third As Jones Stars

by Mac Hazel

With the momentary lifting of the rains last week, the Intramural Touch Football League was able to post considerably more game results than the previous week.

Fifth Section continued on its winning way with victory No. 3, the third of the trio coming over Third, 18-0. Scoring all three TD's in the first half on passes from Wilson Jones to Dick Barrett, Merc Walklet, and Bill Moats, respectively, the Delts were unable to hit pay dirt in the final frame and settled for the 18-0 win.

Following their second straight win of 18-0 over Fourth, with Dick Stevic passing to Bob Andrews for a pair of TD's and sweeping end for 20 yards and the other tally himself, Eighth lost their first contest to Second, 7-6. Oddly enough Second lost a similar game to Seventh last week by the same count but came back to win this one. Eighth drew first blood in the first half on an aerial from Stevic to Ralph Gillespie; however Second tied the score when John Lamb took the following kickoff and rambled to the striped zone.

After a scoreless second half, Second clinched the win on the extra point attempt when Bob Watson completed a pass to Andy Stevenson.

Fourth won their first game of the campaign over Korner Klub, 18-0, by virtue of three interceptions. Third beat the same foe for their first win, 32-0, with Bill Jennings pitching strikes to Henry Hopper, Bob McKenzie, and Don Romig, and running one himself. Bud Campbell also figured in the Rabbis' scoring with a short run. A safety rounded out the point production for Third.

Sixth tallied once in each half to beat Douglass, 12-0, for their second straight. Fred Meyerhoefer took the ball in his own territory and rambled for the first TD in the initial half. Their second marker came on a toss from Fred Meyerhoefer to Don Nyland.

Undefeated Elevens Meet Tomorrow; Jacobs, Dingle, Excell In 21-19 Triumph

by Skip Hoyler

With the light of a first undefeated and untied campaign since 1923 growing increasingly brighter, the Wooster College Scots, fresh from a tense victory over Denison, will play host to the Fighting Muskies of Muskingum in the annual Homecoming attraction tomorrow afternoon at Severance Stadium. After a dismal morning at Granville last Saturday, it turned out to be a beautiful sunny afternoon as over 5,000 Denison alumni anticipated victory. But the Fighting Wooster Scots had different ideas and nosed out the previously undefeated Big Red, 21-19.

Big men once again for the Scot cause were halfbacks Tom Dingle and Dick Jacobs. Dingle carried 18 times for 125 yards, and Jacobs, 23 for 123. This outburst brought Dingle's seasonal offensive rushing average to 10.5 and Jacobs' to an equally lofty 7.5. The final outcome of the game, however, was determined by the magic toes of "Babe" Weiss and Dick Baragry. Three times in three attempts they split the up-rights. With all the scoring in the second and third periods, the tense final session became the thrill packed highlight of the game. Twice the Big Red moved inside the Scot 26, but the Scot line was able to hold and the threats were squelched. With two minutes left the Shipemen took over and finished the game with a first down on the Denison 19.

Baragry Breaks Ice

After a scoreless first quarter, which featured a Wooster thrust to the Denison 18, and a Big Red retaliation to the Scot 16, Wooster drew first blood for the fourth time this year on the first play of the second quarter. With the Big Red in possession, Baragry diagnosed the play, broke through to intercept a pitchout, and romped 33 yards for a score. Weiss' tie was true, and the Scots enjoyed a quick seven point advantage.

Minutes later, Jacobs and Jerry Smith pulled an Alfonse-Gaston act on a punt, and Denison recovered on the Scot 22. On the first play, quarterback Jim Click pitched to end John Burchard, who grabbed the pigskin in the end zone. It remained 7-6 when Bill Rossellit's conversion attempt went wide to the left. On the first play following the kickoff, Jacobs went off-tackle, broke into the open, and streaked down the sidelines for a 68-yard TD run. Baragry booted the extra point, and Wooster's advantage was hiked to 14-6.

With two minutes remaining in the period, Denison commenced a second sustained drive from the visitors' 31. On third down and four, Bill Haynes cracked off center for 24 yards to pay dirt. When he converted the margin was trimmed to a scant 14-13 at halftime.

Big Red Takes Lead

The homesters were on the move again midway through the third period when Marvin Smith returned a punt to the Denison 48. After moving to the Wooster 44, quarterback Dave Jones tossed an aerial to Jim Cook on the 14. Hit hard by three Scot defenders, Cook fumbled, but teammate Smith recovered on the seven. On fourth down, Haynes plunged from a yard out to give the Granville boys a 19-14 edge. Denison fans went wild, but the game was far from over.

Here the famed Scot ground attack, second in the nation among smaller colleges, went into action. After Dingle returned the kickoff to the Wooster 25 and gained eight on a trap play, Jacobs bulled for a first down on the 35. Dingle, after taking a quick handoff from quarterback Ted Hole, swept to the left, cut sharply into the secondary, and was off, a 65 yard dash for the winner. Weiss' conversion put icing on the cake—Wooster 21, Denison 19. It's Muskingum tomorrow, so everybody out!

Harriers Beat Case As Schneider Stars; Face Geneva Today

After a decisive 15-46 victory over Case, the Wooster cross country team traveled to Geneva College in Pennsylvania for an afternoon meet today.

Coach Carl Munson says that the overwhelming victory came somewhat as a surprise as the Scots completely swept the meet, taking the first five places, all in good times. Chuck Schneider, a returning letterman, was first in 24:35, followed closely by Bill Goshorn, a transfer, ineligible last year, who finished in 25:38. Third, fourth, and fifth places were swept by Bob Niemiller, a senior, in 25:45; Frank Goodfellow, a freshman, in 26:14; and veteran John Gardner in 26:28. Wooster also took seventh, tenth, and thirteenth places with freshman Bob May, senior Norm Morrison, and freshman Don Bunting.

Coach Munson said, regarding the season as a whole, that it was, "Difficult to say." But, he was most emphatic when he added that, "We are so much better than last year." He is counting heavily on his veterans, Schneider, Gardner, and Morrison as well as senior Niemiller and Goshorn. Also, as the results of the first meet would seem to indicate, there is a good deal of new blood in the freshmen who will be competing.

Munson has declined to predict the outcome of today's meet which is against, what he calls "the best team in western Pennsylvania."

WOOSTER VOICE SPORTS

In The Huddle

by Skip Hoyler

Welcome Home Alumni! The 1955 Homecoming game tomorrow between Muskingum and Wooster marks the 25th renewal of a 31-year-old Ohio football rivalry. In the series which commenced in 1916 when the Scots blasted the Muskies 47-0, Wooster has won nine, lost 11, and tied four. The Muskies, a 41-7 victor last year, have won for the past five years.

Muskingum, undefeated and untied thus far this year, could prove to be the Scots' toughest opponent. Although they are lighter than Denison, they are known as a tricky team, using reverses, quick kicks, and other deceptive plays. Runner-up to Heidelberg in the Ohio Conference last season, the Black and Magenta are making another strong bid this year. Coach Ed Sherman, beginning his 11th season, has 19 returning lettermen from a team which won six, lost two, and tied one in 1954. Fullback Mike Coleman, halfback Ted Smithers, and quarterback Joe McDaniel pace a strong backfield. Smithers tallied 10 TD's in 1954; while McDaniel's aerial accuracy was better than 50%. The line features Rudy Visnich, a six foot, three inch, 190 pounder at end, and Howard Collins, a stocky 200 pounder at tackle.

The eye-catcher of last Saturday's grid results was the sudden 21-7 pasting handed the Irish of Notre Dame by the Michigan State Spartans. The Big Green, who lost so many stars through graduation, were not even considered as top ten material in pre-season evaluation. All-American Ralph Guglielmi, the man who held the 1954 aggregation together, was being replaced by a second-string fullback, Paul Hornung. The backfield was shattered and the line looked sad. Even Coach Terry Brennan, after a brilliant first year effort, bemoaned the situation. But when the Irish reeled off three straight whitewash triumphs, the press quickly changed their minds, and Brennan became a much happier man. A rapidly developed line appeared to be among the strongest in the nation, and quarterback Hornung, although not an excellent passer, directed the team in professional fashion. The Irish were due for a trouncing, but a few were prepared for it, even from a power like M.S.U. The Irish will be favored against Purdue tomorrow, but the Boilermakers can be considered no pushover. Prior to the Michigan State reversal, the only blemish on Brennan's record was Purdue. Strange, but history has a way of repeating itself.

With the baseball trade winds beginning to blow, an interesting man to watch will be Frank Lane, the new general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. In his tenure with the Chicago White Sox, Lane made over 200 player deals. In his first trade shortly before the 1949 campaign, he secured the services of Billy Pierce, now the top American League pitcher, from Detroit. Shortly afterwards, he lured a young third-string infielder named Nellie Fox from the Athletics. In fact the entire Chicago varsity owe their uniforms to shrewd Frank. Catcher Sherm Lollar and outfielder Jim Rivera are refugees from the old St. Louis Browns; shortstop Chico Carresquel comes from Brooklyn; first baseman Walt Droppo and third sacker George Kell are Red Sox castoffs; and outfielders Minnie Minoso and Jim Busby are former Cleveland and Washington chattels. The pitching staff boasts Bob Keegan from the Yanks; Mike Forneiles and Sandy Consuegra, Washington; Dick Donovan, Milwaukee; and Virgil Trucks, Detroit.

Crystalballing the other grid activity around the nation, it's Michigan State over Illinois, Michigan to handle Minnesota, Navy in a romp over Penn, Oklahoma easily over Colorado, Rice to edge Texas, Wisconsin to stop Ohio State, Georgia Tech in a breeze against Florida State, Maryland to trample Syracuse, Southern Cal to top California, and U.C.L.A. to trim Iowa. In the Ivy League, Harvard and Cornell appear to be a bit stronger than Dartmouth and Princeton. Very close though.

artist Bird. He, too, received applause on his exit, and turned in satisfactorily with the more studied ones of the rest of the cast.

A freshman, Edward D'Arms, showed great promise in the role a creditable performance. The character seemed a little too exaggerated to me, however, to fit in of the examiner, Blakely. He should, however, guard against a tendency to garble some words at the beginning of speeches.

Scott Craig and John Buechner both did very competent jobs as Maryk, the accused, and Keefer, the novelist. Richard Hyde provided some very fine moments as the judge advocate, Challee, thus adding another plaudit to his collection.

The performance was marred by a few draw-backs, which I trust will be ironed out in subsequent playings. There was a good deal of groping for lines, and the four-man jury, though very attentive for the first 10 minutes or so, lost interest in the proceedings and took on an air of being very bored throughout most of the play.

The settings, though very simple, were very effective, and I greatly admired the rapidity of the scene shift. On the whole, Director Craig is to be congratulated for bringing a good piece of theatre to Wooster as his opening play.

Beallburg Address

by Glen Cronin

Fourscore and seven minutes ago I brought upon this corner myself, consumed in sleepiness, and dedicated to the proposition of getting to first hour on time. Now I am engaged in a survival of the fittest, testing whether that car or any car so conceived and so dedicated, can come the closest to me. I am now set alongside of the great battlefield of that contest. I have come to dedicate a portion of my mind as a final testing place for those who give their lives that I might graduate. It is altogether fitting and proper that they should do this. But, in a larger sense, I cannot fly—I cannot burrow that I might hollow this ground. The brave students, living and asleep, who struggle here, present the possibility within their power, for Wayne County's statistics to add or subtract. My professor will little note, nor long remember how long I stand here, but he will never forget that I was late for first hour. It is for us the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who drive here have thus far so speedily driven by. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us (staying alive)—that from these speeding cars we take increased caution to that cause for which they seem to give their last full measure of driving ability: that we here highly resolve that these drivers shall aim in vain; that this college, under Lowry, shall have a full enrollment, and that enrollment of the freshmen, by the upperclassmen, for the faculty shall not perish from the earth.

Committee Names Possible Projects

by Lynette Jackson

Apart from all opinions and attitudes about Brotherhood Meals, the fact remains that the money saved by the program has supported worthy projects. Those participating in the program this year will vote on which of the following projects they wish to support:

(1) On October 4, Miss Mano Singh spoke in chapel about World University Service. This organization "helps students help themselves" all over the world. Cooperating with the UN, CARE, national governments, and schools, the WUS provides housing, health services, educational equipment, refugee service for DP's, scholarships for foreign study, and emergency relief activities for students everywhere. Miss Singh, who has worked for WUS both in India and in the US, said the service means "the difference between hope and despair" for many.

(2) Another project, directly connected with students, is support of the College Cevenol in France. A school welcoming boys and girls of all denominations, races, and nationalities, the College works for peace, international understanding, and cooperation among the students, having as a main goal these same qualities among nations.

(3) A university in Japan demands our attention. Since first classes opened in 1953, the International Christian University has embraced students from China, India, Korea, America, Hawaii, and Japan. Beginning as a dream by Christian educators and developing into a goal for the National Council of Churches, the University is dedicated to "God and humanity." The students strive for international understanding and Christian brotherhood. The university is now asking for contributions toward a scholarship fund. In appreciation for support of this fund, the International Christian University gives a cherry tree to any college donating $250 or more.

(4) An endeavor which is closer to us both geographically and ideologically is the Inner-city Protestant parish in Cleveland. Through a program of worship, religious education, health education, counseling on family and economic problems, the Parish tries to make Christianity a reality to the lower income groups in Cleveland's slums.

(5) Money given to support the Save the Children Federation can do many things. Clothing, medical care, education, and care for orphans are administered to needy children in Europe and America.
