Student Carelessness Annoys Cops

Traffic Patrolmen Condemn Negligence As Major Pedestrian Accident Hazard

by Nancy McCarthy

"Since the inauguration of Wooster's three-man patrol force early in March, traffic conditions definitely have improved," reports Bill Hand, chief of the patrol. "However," he goes on to say, "the persistent negligence of the students themselves is inexcusable."

Harron Halton, exchange student from Fiske, and Andy Stevenson, Bill's two assistants, express similar emphatic views on the subject of student jay-walking. They contend that if the students are hurt it is their own fault since they continually refuse to obey instructions to cross at the crosswalks.

Straight and Narrow

Bill contributes a special plea for the use of these crosswalks which are located directly in front of Holden's main entrance and the south drive of Babcock. He adds, "that unless the students do so, we cannot possibly lend any aid. If, however, there is a large group waiting to cross at one of these crosswalks, and traffic is exceptionally heavy, especially at night, we are authorized to halt traffic and allow them to cross."

This program, first suggested by Dean Ralph Young as a solution to the traffic problem on Beall Ave., was given a short trial two days prior to Christmas vacation. Continued for 16 hours, it proved sufficiently successful to be resumed at the beginning of March.

Still Wondering

These three men with available time and an interest in the problem applied in the Dean's Office. They are on duty in front of Holden and Babcock from 11:30 to 1:30 and 5 to 7 p.m.

In the motorist category women drivers and taxicabs are generally considered to be the worst offenders. The taxi drivers appear to have learned, but our policemen are still wondering about the women drivers.

Oops!

Motorists are given one warning for excessive speed or violation of traffic signs; on the second offense they are turned into the police department. The latter is applicable if a motorist refuses to stop on a first offense.

As an example of what speeding cars can cause, two weeks ago Beall Avenue in front of Babcock was the scene of an accident. Two cars heading south were doing close to 45 mph; a third car near-

English Honorary Admits Members

The Wooster Chapter of Lambda Iota Tau, national English Literature honorary, initiated Juniors Don Buckalew, Lois Hoffman, Sheila Melsaac, Nancy Mohr, and Senior Lacy Phinizy at their April meeting last Sunday. An additional new member, Jim Jolliff, was unable to attend.

Words on Wordsworth

The initiation was held at the home of Prof. Frederick Moore. Diane Senior Thayer read a paper on Wordsworth, and refreshments were served. Membership in the honorary is based upon 18 hours of B or better in English literature, not including Freshman English.

Our camera caught this coed as did two passing cars. She'll learn, but it may be the hard way.

Wyant And Anthony Head WSGA Team

WSGA held its spring election April 20. Elected to top positions were Marlene Wyant, President of Administrative Board, and Sally Anthony, Judicial Board President.

Marlene, a Junior from North Canton, Ohio, is a member of Peanuts. She is a math major and President of Holden Hall.

Heads Judicial Board

Sally, also a Junior, is from Canton, Ohio. She is a member of Peanuts and a present member of WSGA. A speech major and active in Little Theatre, Sally is a member of Kappa Theta Gamma, the Dramatic Honorary.

New Members

Serving on the Judicial Board next fall will be: Senior, Jo Bruce; Juniors, Janet Gabreilson, Alice Hageman and Ruth Middleton; Sophomores, Gail MacDonald and Donna Phinizy.

Originality Hangs On Wishart Wall

The Josephine Long Wishart Museum of Art is currently exhibiting several types of work. Norman Laliberte has done a unique type of painting which is executed entirely with a printer's roller. His brayer paintings are both original and in a light vein. A group of photographs were taken by Leon Lewandowsky. Both men are from the Illinois Institute of Design in Chicago.

Students at Ohio State University may make things in the Craft Shop in the Student Union in their spare time. Ceramic work, sculpture, and enameled pieces are some of the results that are on display.

The Museum is open Monday through Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon. Afternoon hours are 1 to 4:30 Monday through Friday. The show will end May 5.

'Cadillac' Comes As Colorful Daze Approaches Scott

by Marilyn Troyer

The 1956 Color Day play will star Ruth McDevitt in The Solid Gold Cadillac by Howard Teichman and George S. Kaufman. Miss McDevitt, of the class of 1917, is better known to Wooster audiences as Ruth Shoecraft. Her first triumph on Broadway was in a minor comedy, Young Couple Wanted in 1939. Her real break came when she followed Josephine Hull in Arsenic and Old Lace. She has since appeared in many other productions.

Role in "Picnic"

Miss McDevitt created the role of Helen Potts and played it in the run of the Theatre Guild-Joshua Logan production of Picnic. This play and cast have won numerous awards including the Pulitzer Prize and Drama Critics award for the 1952-53 season.

Mrs. Peepers Too

She was in the road company of Silver Whistle. Miss McDevitt has done much work in radio and television and is well known to American audiences for her portrayal of Mr. Peepers' mother on the Mr. Peepers show.

The Solid Gold Cadillac is a satiric comedy about a lady stock holder who becomes a corporation president. The play originally opened at the Belasco Theater in

Capital U. Strings Bow In Debut Here

The Capital University String Quartet will present a program of three numbers on Monday, April 30, at 8:15 p.m. in the Chapel.

Play Quartets

They will play quartets by Mozart and Dvorak, and Schumann's "Quintet." They will be assisted by Miss Irene Kunzelmann at the piano.

Tickets are on sale for 50 cents at the Book Store or at the door.

Girls' Chorus Show Features Ziegfeld

Tonight's the night at 8:15 in the Chapel that the 69 members of the Girls' Chorus present their 30th Spring Concert of secular music. Opening with three numbers repeated from the sacred concert, the rest of the first part will feature folk songs from Wales, the United States, and Spain.

Anne to Eddie

As Anne Mayer plays Liszt's "Fifteenth Hungarian Rhapsody," the girls will change in 10 minutes from chorus suits to spring formals of bright pastels. The spotlight then shifts from Anne to Eddie Cantor in a scene depicting the reincarnation of Flo Ziegfeld, written and directed by Jane Vander Veer.

Eddie, played by Bucky Smith, dreams of Flo Ziegfeld, enacted by Ed Moore, coming back to life in the present day. Ziegfeld appears in top hat and tails, hears the chorus sing top Broadway tunes of the past and present, and compares the girls to those of his own day.

Broadway Beckons

Some of the solos he will hear include "Something Wonderful," sung by Julianna Chapman; "This Is My Beloved," by Priscilla Cortelyou, and Adelaide's lament from Guys and Dolls, titled "A Person Can Develop a Cold," by Sydney Coulter. "Romance" will be sung by Marilyn Eschenberg; "Bubbles, Baubles, and Beads," by Emily Krejci; "Stormy Weather," by Lillie Trent; and "We Kiss in a Shadow," by Alice Wishart.

Following the concert, a reception with an unusual motif will be held to celebrate Miss Richmond's 30 years of directing.

Old House Opens

"This Old House" will be the theme for Hoover Cottage's open house Saturday, April 28. Decorations will include old furniture and cobwebs. Refreshments and entertainment will be provided. Dancing will follow. The time is from 8:30 until 11 p.m.

Frosh Agrees With Editorial

To the Editor:

In reply to last week's editorial regarding class cuts, I would like to utter an emphatic "Amen." If given the opportunity, the students of the College of Wooster would know how to use their class cuts properly.

However, I disagree that the incoming Freshmen would misuse or take advantage of this potential privilege more so than the Upperclassmen. Most Freshmen are too frightened to stray from the narrow path of college initiation.

Teach Responsibility

I think it more wise to consider the upperclassmen's reception of this independence. But, by the time one has attained upperclass standing, he should be regarded as responsible enough to know when his presence at a given place would be to his advantage. In my opinion, unlimited class cuts would teach all of us, Freshmen and Upperclassmen, the importance of responsibility.

Class cuts would be indicative of a professor's quality: that is, if a class was poorly attended, the professor should reconsider his method of presentation or the material. On the other hand, a good professor would be rewarded by the presence of all enrolled students.

Perhaps you have inferred from previous remarks that I am in favor of granting all students the privilege of class cuts. I'm not! I believe there should be limitations on this liberty.

It seems to me that if a student can maintain a "B" average in a course, he should be considered capable of using his time to his best advantage. (Maybe more time should be spent in another subject in which he is less strong.) I would like to see the good students given this privilege.

Let's Fight!

Realizing that the final decision of this issue rests with the faculty, I advocate that those students in favor of class cuts show their interest, not by murmurs that eventually die, but by action.

By speaking to our faculty members and giving them our opinions, we of the College of Wooster can get action that demonstrates the potential democracy that could exist on this campus.

Congressional Club Invades Washington

Congressional Club met last Thursday to debate and vote on the bill submitted from the Judiciary Committee which stated in effect, that an amendment should be added to the Constitution abolishing capital punishment for any crime in either State or Federal courts.

Gene Falk presented the majority report and his arguments were debated by Bruce Hunt who spoke for the minority members of the committee. As the bill was to be an amendment to the Constitution, it required a two-thirds vote of the states to be passed.

Although the final tally showed that the bill had received a majority vote, it was defeated because it failed to obtain the necessary two-thirds.

On the weekend of April 27, 10 of the Club members will travel to Washington D.C., where they will stay for four days visiting points of interest in the nation's Capitol.

Outing Members Begin Program

With the coming of spring, the Outing Club has begun an extensive program of trips and outings.

During spring vacation 10 Wooster men pilgrimaged to the Adirondack Mountains of New York State and enjoyed four days of late winter mountaineering and skiing. Although hampered by rain and thawing weather the first two days of the trip, they enjoyed two perfect days and completed snowshoe ascents of Avalanche Pass and Mt. Marcy, New York's highest peak. They also put in a day of skiing at Whiteface Mountain.

Chuck Mann was the leader of this trip, which made its base camp at Marcy Dam, an open shelter two miles from the nearest road by snowshoe.

It's Official

Last weekend the Outing Club was represented by four delegates at the annual spring conference of the Intercollegiate Outing Club Association at Black Pond, Connecticut. The Wooster representatives were Neil Ginther, Malcolm Hazel, William Lange and Garner Odell. They were received by the forty-odd outing clubs present at the conference and enjoyed the distinction of being the delegation from the farthest point.

The Club was made an official member of the organization, and Will Lange was elected Editor of the Bulletin of the IOCA for the forthcoming year.

Paddle on George

The Club's next trip is to be on the weekend of May 11-13, when it plans to journey to Lake George, New York for the annual spring canoe trip of the IOCA. This trip will be a coed affair.

It also plans to sponsor day and overnight trips in Ohio before the end of school and to attend IOCA College Week next September during the week before the fall term begins. This event is to be held this year at Tuckerman's Ravine on Mt. Washington in New Hampshire.

Second Section Members Dance

Lower Compton will be the scene of this year's annual Second Section formal. The dance will take place at 9:00, April 28. Decorations will be in red and white, with matching flowers. Ron Johnson is the dance chairman.

ing 50 was quickly narrowing the distance between the second car and himself.

Harron, on duty across from Compton, flagged the first two cars who stopped shortly; but the third car, evidently not noticing that the preceding cars had stopped, approached, ramming the last one which in turn hit the first. All damage, which included a smashed radiator, completely demolished grill work, and a broken window, was done to the third vehicle.

But far worse than the motorist is the pedestrian situation. Among the students the women have been noted as the most frequent offenders. However, on Tuesdays, laundry day, the men are repeatedly caught for identical violations.

Conditions appear to be worse in warm weather: the most common offenses are sauntering across the street reading mail or books, students jay-walking, running across the street, and a group of girls crossing half way and then being caught in the middle.

Our three patrolmen's parting plea is, "How can we call the motorists down for traffic violations when they come back at us with complaints regarding the irresponsibility of the students?"

Co-Ed Lauds Work Camp

To the Editor:

Dirty, tired, sleepless, cold—how can adjectives describe me after one of the most wonderful weekends ever spent?

On top of that—me, a "scaredy-cat" female, washing the outsides of windows on the 14th floor of a housing development building—half inside and half hanging out!

Hard Work

Now, why did I ever do such a thing? You can blame it all on the Cleveland Student Christian Union's Weekend Work-Camp. How I wish every student could have that marvelous feeling of satisfaction and real pleasure in accomplishing something hard that 16 of us from half a dozen Ohio colleges had when we "pitched in" to wash windows for elderly couples, paint in a children's home, and fix up a shabby community house.

Times Have Changed

The miracle of the whole thing was how, after washing windows almost steadily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. my arm didn't get the least bit sore. (And how strange after doing it only 15 minutes for Mom, I feel close to death from rheumatism!)

No Fatigue

Could it be that the sincere thanks and appreciation and the friendly little chats with some lonesome folks cheered our hearts so much, filled our whole beings with so much joy that there was no room for fatigue? I like to believe that's true.

Follow Suit?

Anyway, thank you, Mr. Gottlieb, Mrs. Kennedy, Schwartzes, and Mrs. Zbornik, for giving me the most satisfying and enjoyable opportunities for a weekend that one can imagine. Maybe the rest of the Wooster Clan would like to follow suit. How about it?

Sincerely and enthusiastically,
Mary Janssen

Moats Excels With Strong Mound Job; Swigartmen Host To Oberlin Saturday

by Ken Haynam

Cheered on by the constant barking of an arden baseball fan, a brown and white collie dog, the Scots of Wooster rang up their initial win of the season last Saturday with a sparkling 7-4 victory over the Heidelberg Student Princes.

The triumph was accomplished with a combination of stellar pitching and a couple of clutch extra base blows by the Scot diamond-men as they played host to a good Heidelberg crew. This Saturday the team will entertain Oberlin at the stadium. They travel to Hiram Tuesday, May 1, for their first contest away from home.

Moats Shaky at Start

The individuals who played key roles in the Heidelberg win include Bill Moats, who went the distance for the Scots. A lack of control caused him trouble the first two innings, but he put them down in order in the third and ran into no real trouble after that, spreading out seven hits altogether to chalk up his first win of the year.

Bob Bush and Stan Totten, shortstop and third baseman respectively for the Scots, unloaded some heavy wood as they blasted out five of the eight hits for the Swigart men. These included a triple by Totten, who also played a heads-up defensive game, and a tremendous home run by Bush to pad a slim one-run lead in the late innings.

Princes Strand Eight

Heidelberg scored three runs in the initial inning from two hits and a walk and added their next and last run in the second inning when the leadoff batter circled the bases with the aid of a couple of wild pitches. After that, Moats shut the gate, and no Heidelberg batter could get past second base as the Student Princes stranded eight men.

Totten's triple cleaned the sacks in the last of the first for Wooster, and he promptly scored on a wild pitch to tie up the game. In the third inning three bases and balls, a single into center by Tom Ford, and an infield out produced two home runs and gave the Scots a lead they never relinquished.

Bush Connects

Bush iced the game in the eighth as he slammed his four-base blow over the left fielder's head, scoring behind Hank Hopper, making the final score 7-4.

Under the leadership of John Swigart, the team has displayed a nice brand of ball, and I know that they would enjoy seeing you at the stadium tomorrow when they tangle with Oberlin.

IN THE HUDDLE

by Skip Hoyle

As we wind up the baseball forecasts with the bottom trio of the American league, there is little to say. The only certainty is that neither Kansas City, Baltimore, nor Washington will finish any higher than sixth.

Most of the Athletics' fortunes lie in the left arm of little Bobby Shantz, who must return to past form. The infield is good but the catching situation is about as serious as the lack of additional mound material.

Baltimore has too little to offer in any aspect of their huge array of veterans and raw rookies. A battle with the Senators for seventh place looms.

Washington sports a few pros in Yost, Sievers, and Courtney, but the bubble bursts right there. The pitching is poor and the five young players from the Vernon-Poterfield deal have yet to prove themselves. Things were never this way in Brooklyn for Manager Charley Dressen.

Munsonmen Lose At Oberlin Track

Wooster was handed a defeat at its first track meet of the season by a hard to handle Oberlin team April 21 at Oberlin. The Yoemen took 11 and tied one out of 15 events to roll to an easy 83-44 victory.

The temperature was 39 degrees and the tract was fast. There was also a noticeable wind from the side a little ahead of the sprinters and hurdlers.

The cindermen of the home squad started out by taking the one half mile relay. The time was 1:32.4. Wooster recovered by sweeping the shot put. Dick Diehl, Stu May and Bob Rafos took third, second, and first respectively. The winning heave was 43 feet, nine inches. Oberlin again took command and won the mile with a 4:53.2. Frank Goodfellow came home with a second. But the crimson and gold thinclads didn't stop there. They went on to take the 100 yard dash in 10.2, the high and low hurdles in 15.8 and 25.5 and the 220 yard dash in 22.9.

Dingle Takes Second

Tom Dingle pulled a second in the 100, Bob Leedy came through with a third in the highs and Don Register raked a second in the 220. The string of first places was broken as John Lamb tied Jeniches for the high jump. The height was 5 ft. 9 3/4. But accustomed to their ways, Oberlin came back to take the two mile in a very nice 9:45.5. Trying desperately to make a final comeback, the Scots took the broad jump as Don Register leaped 21 ft. 10 3/8 in. and Tom Dingle took third. John Gardner, Jack Garrison, Bob May and Bill Stoops combined efforts to win the mile relay in 3:39.1. But it was far too late as the home squad pole vaulter cleared the bar at 11 ft. 8 in.

For The Girls

by Anne Marsh

Last Wednesday the WAA Board honored the members of the Sharks, Bowling and Badminton Clubs at a tea in Lower Babcock. At the tea managers for the clubs of next year were elected. The Sharks elected Anne Kelso, Manager; and Helen Gooch, Assistant. Lenore Lewton was chosen as bowling manager and Juanita Yoder will assist. Badminton will be in the hands of Sheila Welsh with Sue Crafts assisting.

Swimming Enthusiast

Anne Kelso has entered two swimming meets in synchronized swimming. May 5, she will be swimming in the Northeastern Ohio A.A.U. District Swimming Meet at Akron. On May 26 it will be the Ohio State A.A.U. Synchronized Swimming Meet in Cleveland.

Four girls have entered the Ohio Women's Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament on May 18, 19, 20. They are Francoise Mazet, Gladys Fisher, Nancy Geiger, and Gail Henry.

Tournaments in Swing

Within a week or two the Tennis and Badminton Clubs should have finished their tournaments and we should have the results.

The cabin is getting lots of business this weekend. This afternoon and evening the Outing club is having a party. The Trumps will be there tomorrow night.
