Robert Shaw Conducts Requiem Mass

Shawmagic Casts Melodious Spell

by Janie Moser

Hardly had Wooster stopped talking of the Shaw magic that had come out that he was returning. There seems to be magic in the name Shaw; those who have seen him say his magic gave life a new meaning for them, those who have not seen him are waiting for the appearance of another wonderful experience.

Visits An Honor

It is quite an honor to have Dr. Shaw visit Wooster as it is one of the two or three times in the last three sort of conducting. On an earlier visit he explained why he keeps returning. "Absolutely first rate music here, not only the enthusiasm of the students of a college situation, but an amazing and think music programs. There is no compliment paid to Dr. Richard T. Gore and to the high level with which he conducted the choir.

Last year, Conductor Shaw took his Oratorio on a tour of Europe and the Middle East and his group returned to Wooster having traveled 30,000 miles in 21 visits to 21 cities. The Choir was not the only social event. Dean Eilenberger and his wife organized another in which the Dean conducted a new vocal group associated with the Choir of St. Thea.

A Rare Ability

Any group that Dr. Shaw conducts will be the better singers who joined his College Choir; in New York, or professional music majors in the Cleveland Oratorio, or College of Wooster choir members—fed the spell of his personality. He has the rare ability to make the music transcend the feeling he has to give the group. He explains abstract ideas with the use of his hands, or by slang expressions. He can make it clear in his hands, his feet, his whole body. He can make the music absorbed in the music and be absorbed in the music. This is a very rare man who can conduct our choir tonight in the performance of the Requiem Mass.

Chemistry: Oesper Talks On Liebig

Dr. Ralph E. Oesper, professor emeritus of chemistry at the University of Cincinnati, will lecture on "The Role of Chemistry" at an open meeting of the Wooster Student Affiliate Chapter of the American Chemical Society at 7:15 p.m. Thursday, November 6, in Science Hall.

An American historian, Dr. Oesper is the first recipient of the newly-founded Dexter Award in the History of Chemistry. He has traveled widely in Europe and known for his work on foreign chemistry.

As a chemical writer, he has had over 200 of his contributions printed in the Journal of Chemical Education. He was selected to prepare twenty-four biographies in the Dictionary of American Scientists.

Lively, the subject of Dr. Oesper's lecture, has been much in the minds of modern organic chemists. His theories provide the foundation for present understanding, and his research paved the way for applications of chemistry to other fields.

Young Republicans Work for Election, Gain New Members

The Young Republicans Club on campus has been carrying out its program this semester as planned. The first meeting was led by Mr. Joe Buildley, head of the political science department, who related his experiences as a delegate to the San Francisco convention where President Dwight D. Eisenhower was nominated. The meeting was a huge success as approximately 200 students attended the club as active members.

Assist Headquarters

Young Republicans have been very active in writing letters to the Young Republican headquarters of the third and fourth wards in the city of Cleveland, Eilenberger and Nixon. They have been successful in securing housing, typing, telephoning, and doing numerous other jobs to assist the party.

Ike Day Highlight

One of the highlights of this senior year was the "Election" parade which took place in downtown Wooster. A Homecoming cake was used out by Ike Girls from the campus who were attired in red, white, and blue dresses. The day was proclaimed "Election Day" by President Dwight D. Eisenhower who was celebrating his birthday. Butter and cake were also distributed before the game on Saturday afternoon of this year.

October 7, Mr. Herbert Trin- ning_TRIANGLE_ of the Student Farm program. Last Monday even- ing, Prof. Bixler of Ashland College, gave a rundown of current foreign policy.

English Honorary Initiates Members

Lamba Iota Tax, English honorary, initiated new members last Sunday, October 20, at the home of Dr. Lowell W. Coulidge, Sue Allen, Max, Alba Bax, John Black, Jo Bruce, Louise By- man, Marjorie Deb, and Bob Mc- Donald are the newly elected members. Lambda Iota Tax is a hostess of a number of the college's socials.

GOP Throws Ball: Come One, Come All

The Young Republicans have finished planning for the "Election Ball" to be held Saturday evening, November 3, at 8:30 p.m. in Lower Commons. Kent werks, chairman, says the theme is centered around the election activities. Refreshments of cakes and cookies will be laid out by the girls of the club. Movie Boys' band will play.

An invitation is extended to Democrats, Independents and Re- publicans. Come one, come all and have a wonderful time at the Election Ball!"
Editor Finds Ignorance, Desires Intelligent Vote

For millions of Americans Tuesday is red letter day. For approximately 20% of Wooster students Tuesday will be the first time they "X" in the square opposite the name of a president. The student will then vote for whom he feels is the best choice. It would seem that at least four-fifths of that 20% will choose Ike and Nixon.

Woosterians do not follow the national college trend. According to Associated Collegiate Press and other features services, the average American college student learns very definitely to Gov. Stevenson although the average student better be prepared to carry the day.

We are not about to forecast the election results. We are about to urge all those eligible to vote to turn out this Tuesday. We are also about to request all those voting to inform themselves of the issues before voting.

It is appallingly to us to find so many students so poorly informed about the conditions of the nation, much less the world. In general turns around the Wooster campus than knew about Stevenson's hydrogen bomb program.

Our appeal then is for everyone who is eligible to go to the polls Tuesday and cast an intelligent vote. We do not merely suggest a duplication of his parents' ballots, or a vote based on some slight prejudice. Between now and Tuesday perhaps we might take a gander at some newspapers and periodicals or listen to some programs on radio in attempt to separate ourselves from some of the issues we should have learned about six months ago.

It isn't that we don't have good faith in the citizens of tomorrow. We have heard the voters of today. It's just that we wonder how well grounded our faith is.

Campuses Stage Freedom Crusade, Create International Understanding

by Peg Williams

A call has been made for a college crusade, a "Crusade For Freedom" to be used by the Campus Committee in Chapel last week as she spoke to the student body on the work of Radio Free Europe, a private American organization broadcasting radio programs to five European countries through the work of the Crusade For Freedom which enlists public opinion and private funds for its programs.

Part of this work is done through College Crusades, whereby all faculties and students of the campus are employed on an effort to inform the student in the situation in which it works. The Crusade encourages members of the College to study the situation from all angles (social, economic, political, and philosophic), for the Crusade is a national, international, and at the same time to make clear the underlying theme.

Message of Hope

When news of such college programs was announced by Mr. Frank, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, and Rumania, it conveys a message of hope to those who come from seeing that students on free campuses are aware of the problems of education under totalitarianism.

Variety of Ways

The College Crusade is carried out under the direction of the student group on the local campus. Discussion groups may be organized by international relations clubs or in courses on related topics. Educational professionals may be carried on through posters; or demotic, educational programs may be given.

The Crusade For Freedom helps with the campaign.

Increase Issue Presents Problem; Educators Attempt To Solve Riddle

To the Editor:

Those who heard Dr. J. Gachner Drachal's talk on the problem facing the colleges and universities of Ohio, in the form of population increase of "hidden proportions", realize that small expenditure of mental effort the profound effect an even more drastic increase in Wooster's enrollment would have on the program.

Before we proceed further, however, several tangential thoughts are in order. First of all, we as students should have a feeling of gratitude toward the Administration for considering the student body with enough respect to share with them some of the insights and ideas which we might have considered the "Irish" problem; secondly, there might be a few students who are not aware of the possibility that this situation is being confronted with intelligence, resolution, and a desire to be led by the real issues involved; and lastly, there should be a deep concern pertaining to where Wooster will fit into all of this, as a "Christian college" which has many unique characteristics.

27% In College

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with the typical college meeting, here are a few of the statistics presented by Dr. Kuehn in the proportions of the situation. This year in Ohio there are roughly 353,000 people of college age who are only about 102,000 actually in college or a little less than 30%. Assuming that that a\n
Institution will expand gradually, we will have in 1960 about 15% more students. It will be taken in that the percentage will be around 37%. The enrollment will be about 190,000, or almost twice that of 1955. 36,000 Conceived

By 1970 the overall college population will be as much as 712,000 and the actual student body will be about 304,000, which is the same 37% increase of ten years earlier. This means that either the present institutions will expand into three times their present size (on the average) or approximately 45 new branch institutions will have to find their way into being. Since the latter alternative looks doubtful at present it is conceivable that by 1970 Wooster will have an enrollment of 1,500.

Rex, Harry H. Krouser, Dean of the Chapel at Denison Uni- versity, will present a program on "The Future of Religion" to the campus SCA at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday, November 5, 1956.

Most fundamental will be a re- definition of man's place in the universe. This will be followed by another presentation on religious objectives which will guide the program's development. Secondly decisions about the type of student body will have to be made.

Canacova Shows Variety of Media in Art Exhibition

The art department of the Col- lege of Wooster announces the opening of a show of paintings, prints, and ceramics to be held in the Student Union, Mr. Aldo Canacova, who has won many awards and whose works show will be "Our Colorful World," is director of the Oak State Fair, 1954.

Interesting Sculpture

Of the works on exhibit are two sculpture pieces, "Grieffulness," of steel, bronze and wood; and "Madonna and Child" of rosewood, which stands four feet high.

The variety of media used in Mr. Canacova's work illustrates the development of sculptural form compatible with the variety of media. The materials he displays a feeling for the structural qualities, as well as form, balance, and rhythm. The medium he chooses for his work has generally been considered in terms of its expressive possibilities as related to the form.

From Nebraska

Of added interest in the exhibit are prints, paintings and ceramic pieces by the faculty of the Department of Fine Arts at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska. The exhibit will be open throughout November. The exhibition will continue through the month of November, Monday to Friday, 9:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.; Saturday, 9:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.

Collegians Think Republicans Win, Prefer Stevenson

By a margin of almost three to one, the Republican students feel the Republicans will win this year's presidential election. Were the students expressing their party preferences, however, the Democratic candidates would receive top billing, since the Associated Collegiate Press poll of October 22 showed that 40 per cent of the college students will vote for Democrats, 33 per cent for Republicans, and 27 per cent for Independent or other.

ACP Samples

Troy Small-Collage

Associated Collegiate Press gathered collegiate opinion on the question of whether Democrats or Independents feel the Republicans will win on November 6. For instance, a senior attending Juniata College (Huntington, Pa.) considers himself independent but feels the GOP will win the election, and then said: "I don't favor this result personally." On the other hand, "(Continued on Page Four)

Writer Takes SCA Fund To Task, Finds Collection Very Self-Centered

To the Editor:

I have been proud and gratified for the social and world consciousness that is a part of the student movement of this time. We have been listening to the voices of thousands of young people—all those who are the future, as well as those who are the present. It is not just a question of the college juniors and seniors who are going to be the leaders of tomorrow, but of every student in this country. For this reason, I am writing to you in your capacity as President of the Student Body Council, to ask you to consider the suggested changes that I have made to the proposed budget for the coming year. I believe that we can do better than this, and I hope that you will take the time to read my letter carefully.

Over every college campus, students are engaged in political and social activities, from debates to protests, from theater performances to sports events. These activities are not just for entertainment, but are an expression of our values and beliefs. We are citizens of this world, and we have a responsibility to speak up for what we believe in.

Sincerely,

few of the students classifying themselves as Republicans feel the Democrats will win.

The vast majority of students (regardless of their party or political preference) feel the GOP will win because of Eisenhower's personality and popularity. A Southern Vermont College (Dorant, Ohio) senior named simply "Bambo" of Ike's popularity, while a sophomore at Tyler College (Tyler, Texas) says "Ike is still popular enough to win by his personality."

Health Issue

In contrast to emphasis placed upon the President's health earlier in the year, very few students even mention it in this polling. And there is not a single mention of the Democratic Republican, war-peace issue, possibly indicating that college students consider it a phony and/or unimportant issue. There are a number of comments implying that Ike is in general favored by the women, although one student confounds this by saying that the women are against Ike because he is in the service.

M. Wösterman, the Democrats will win November 6 have a variety of reasons for their choice, although no single reason is mentioned very frequently. Here are some of the more interesting responses. A graduate coed at the University of Wisconsin (Laramie) thinks "the Democrats will get votes from women...because the average American is tired of being squeazed already." Said another freshman coed at Missouri College: "The public has seen what Eisenhower can and has done so I think the country's eye will be opened and Stevenson will win." The Democrats will take it because they have two strong men running instead of one strong and one weak man," says a senior at Ohio University.

Students who are undecided on the issue generally echo the feelings of a junior coed at the Rochester Institute of Technology who thinks it will be a "door race." And a graduate student at Ohio State represents another segment of undecided opinion with this statement: "Both parties are pretty much on a par in this campaign."

Munsommen Win One, Lose Three

In last week's tri-meet at Forest Hills, Cleveland the Wooster cross country team hounded Biham College 42-20. However, the boys from Case Tech defeated the Scots, 20-43. Wooster's Bill Go- dochowski won the race with the winning time of 23:20.

Case bagged all places from second through seventh with the exception of fifth. Team Captain John Gardner was the second Wooster man to cross the finish line, but was bested in the meet.

Scots Defeated

Two days later Slippery Rock broke a very four team to Woes-ter and decisively defeated the Scots, 31-9. Bob DeConcini of Slippery Rock led the field with a time of 22:06. Wooster's Bill Lo-chness came in second, full minute off his time from the previous meet to earn a respectable rating.

Akon Meet

Last Tuesday, the Scots faced Akron, in a meet that lasted longest, 21:30, two weeks before. This time, the Scots finished detainely, but last, 22:33. The added difficulty of the course is shown by DeConcini's time which rose to 27:06, over four minutes above time against Slippery Rock. DeConcini came in first with Don Gauld, the next Wostermans, coming in fifth.

Letters Provide Glimpses of Student's Life at Fisk

Last semester Jean Garrett and Eleanor Norfleet participated in the annual exchange carried on by Wooster and Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn. For those who are interested in the exchange program and for everyone in general, Ellie has picked the following excerpts from letters she wrote to her father. Further information on Fiske semester may be obtained in the registrar's office.

...everyone has been so friendly. They don't just say hi, but ask you to come to their rooms and really want you to. Our double was fulled every minute last night. The girls are so relaxed in mannerisms, and there seems to be a constant threat about of "Hi. They all have a kind of slang like "you" for sharp and "heavy" for the Phi Beta. I have to keep stopping them for definitions.

Tonight was a Bohemian dance. We were whatever we wanted to wear. What an evening! I wish you could have been here. We went to the International Student Center dance. They had a combo playing South American and African music with panos and congo drums. The rhythm was terrible, and just about everyone looked professional to me.

At 10:30 we piled over to the co-op for more dancing. It's in the basement of the gymnasium, and it is huge. I never saw so many people just there to dance. There may be only 250 boys at Fisk but the fellows at the medical school, Moharry, across the street and Tennessee State more than make up for it. They were so into about dancing with us.

Everything is done in a very natural easy way. Instead of asking for a dance, they just take your hand wherever you are and away you go without any idea who the person is. No formality on the dance floor. Then on to get hamburgers for 12c and coffee for 7c and home again singing loudly down the street you. When the mains come marching in."

Scots Trip Akron In Final Minutes; Dingle Carries 74 Yards To Clinch Win
by Charlie Banning

Wooster’s Tom Dingle became the man of the day as he ran 72 yards for the deciding touchdown of the Wooster-Akron game last Saturday. With less than five minutes of playing time remaining, Tom Dingle took a pitch from freshman quarterback John Papp and proceeded to dart through the Akron defenders to pay dirt.

The Scots opened the scoring when Bill Little of Wooster recovered a Zip fumble on the Akron 22. From there quarterback Papp handed off to Tom Dingle for 13 yards, then Tom took it over from the nine. The Scots fumbled the ball away on the 3-yard line.

Boggs Passes

In the second quarter, Akron’s Tom Boggs hit Limited for 14 yards for the TD. The score was 7-0 as the second quarter ended. In the third quarter, Zip Ben Kimminger, finding a big hole in the Wooster line, rambled 31 yards for Akron’s second TD of the afternoon. On the fourth and last play of the third quarter, Dingle passed toLimited for 12 yards.

In the fourth quarter, the Scots came to life as Sue May recovered a Zip fumble on the Akron 30. Two plays later, freshman halfback Bob Wachtell carried the ball for 19 yards for the TD. The extra point was kicked wide with a right to point advantage to the Zip.

Then as time was running out, with less than five minutes left to play, Tom Dingle made his all decisive run. The extra point was made and final score read 20-17.

Scots tally second to Michigan State

On Lansing Lake near Lansing, Michigan, last Saturday, the Scots tallied their second place by defeating the host, Michigan State, in a four school regular.

Final score in the meet was Michigan State 64, Wooster 27.

Wooster has won the first two games.

The races were sailed in twelve foot Penguin-type boats.
