Shakespeare's "Romeo And Juliet" Opens Wednesday At Little Theatre

Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" will make its second appearance on the Wooster stage to heighten Color Day festivities. The play, starring Gordon Wood as Romeo and Kib Byers, who will play in the role of Paris and Dave Davis as Mercutio, will be presented in Scott Auditorium on May 8, 9, 10, and 11 at 8:15 p.m.

Queen's Weekend Begins With Dinner

Preparations for Color Day weekend are coming into the home stretch as the fateful day draws nearer. After the Queen's Ball, the court will be held in Upper Holden on Thursday, Lyall Ritchie and her court will gather for a ball in the hour before greeting the Color Day play. "Romeo and Juliet," the only other play in this year's Color Day program that will be repeated, is the play that those attending the coffee hour will be last year's queen, Louise Byers, pages, Queen's Business Manager Paul Randall, and General Chairman Run Rollay.

Queen's Ball

Friday night will find the Queen's Ball in its last days, from 9 to 12. Arrangements preceded by the direction of Paul Ran- dall with the help of Murray Blackstock and Joan Baker in the decoration department Color Day dignitaries and representatives of campus organizations will also attend with their dates.

Senate Sponsors Ice Cream Social

Scoop Of The Year

Jim McClelland and Muriel Ridlon, who will be crowned Queen and King of the 1957 homecoming court, have been selected by the Student Senate as co-chairmen for the annual ice Cream Social, to be held in Miller Dining Hall, May 25. This year the program will take place on the north parking lot behind Taylor Hall and in the cage if bad weather develops.

Carolyn Kolbe, Freshman, was appointed WSGA representative to the Social Board in place of Ginny Wengler who has served for the past year, she was appointed by WSGA chief Judy Visvebus."
Is It Worth It?

Tonight, most of the College community will gather in the Chapel for the Annual Men’s Serenade Contest. The Serenade has become something of a tradition at Wooster, a tradition which means a great deal to many of the people on campus. Since the first of the year, several sections have been practicing regularly in preparation for the contest. Since spring vacation, all of the sections have been singing nearly five nights a week in order to be ready for tonight.

When the evening is over, each section will have performed four songs. One section will have "won." The others, regardless of their position at the finish, will be disappointed and perhaps, for a time, seem to be out of the fun. But the fact that they have worked hard to achieve a goal, each differing song, is the chief pride of the sections and the basis of the group, and they all fear to go too far in the long course of practicing. Each member of the listening audience can sit back and enjoy an evening of good music, and judging by the band on the religious quality, there is no question but that the Serenade Contest is, in itself, a good thing.

But, and this is an important but, is it not possible that the Serenade Contest has become a distant and unimportant thing? Is it not possible that what was an easy-going, enjoyable competition has become a fight to the finish, no-holds barred type of activity? It is not possible that we as men in the sections have placed a tremendous amount of unjustified emphasis on an event that was conceived to be an enjoyable one?

There is little doubt that both the pressures on each section to produce competitive performance are tremendous. In many cases it is impossible for a section to repeat high quality music each performance. This year’s competition has evolved into a do-or-die affair which becomes a burden rather than an enjoyable experience for the section members. Many, in the wake of producing the serenade has encouraged squabbles and bickering among the men rather than drawing them together.

Consider, too, the fact that, at this point, most sections have had to resort to drastic measures in order to make the serenade rehearsals regularly, to say nothing of the tremendous amount of time spent by the section members. Consider, too, that the contest section has had to resign themselves to the thought that they were not invited to preform.

There is no question, but that the Serenade Contest is a very serious matter and will paint this out in the opening paragraphs. We do feel, however, that the present overemphasis on the Serenade has destroyed much of the enjoyment. It is our contention that the men on campus need to do a little honest reflection and consider passage of rules which would limit the length of time that a section could practice in preparation for the contest.

We do not advocate the elimination of the Serenade Contest. We do advocate a proper perspective on the subject. It is our contention that we now have too much of a good thing.

Senators Gather For Weekly Meeting:
Discussion Ranges Under Prexy Bailey

by Stu Awbrey

Amidst the cries of "Where is everybody?" the Center Kauser crowded came together at 7:30 p.m. on Monday. At the end of the secretary, Ann Gunnery, rushed into the room breathlessly uttered an extensive request for work out for the the last meeting. President "Center Bailey" comment to his officers and students about the importance of the next section's meeting.

Immediately following, matters Bob Britkon (Junior class) and Nancey Redd (SCA) and all of the old members who had returned to Center Kauser from their final duties to the alumni back to the college campus. The most important committee was appointed to determine a better plan for all of next year's Woosterians through the chairmanship of the Career Week Co-chairman centered around nominations for the Academic Board. The Woosterian was designed to keep students from being bored and in school, but the matter was

Linksmen Sport Winning Record

The golf team had just one match last week and emerged victorious in that engagement. Last Friday they traveled to Lima to battle the Wayne University golfers and won. Although the match was played on a course beyond one's total control, the team scored 390, which was well below their opponents' score of 425. The next match will be against Case Institute of Technology, which is scheduled for next Tuesday. The team is in good shape and is expected to do well in the upcoming matches.

Kenarden Softballers Start League Play; Phi Dels And Kappa Phis Lead Action

With the onset of fine spring weather the Kenarden softball league got off in good style the past few weeks. This year there are two sections, A and B, with five teams each. The A section is made up of the Phi Delt's and Kappa Phis, while the B section consists of the Kappa Phis and Omegas. The matches are held on the fields adjacent to the campus.

The Scots are well off in each of their respective sections and are now approaching some big contests of the year. Beginning this afternoon the track squad will be up to its neck in meets. Capital was the opponent today, and following in quick succession will be Hiram on Monday, Oberlin on Wednesday, and Akron is to be met on Color Day afternoon. There will be no meets against Baldwin-Wallace and Denison and will be met in tough encounters after the Color Day meeting, and then on Saturday, May 23, the team will be traveling to Delaware to compete in the conference meet.

Faculty Administers Scholarship Tests

High school students from schools in Wayne, Holmes, and Tuscarawas counties will take part in the Ohio State Scholarship Tests to be held on the Wooster Campus tomorrow. The tests will be held in almost all of the campus buildings, and college faculty will administer the tests.

The examinations will cover specific subjects in mathematics, social studies, English, languages, and bookkeeping.

From the schools in these three counties which will participate in the tests, many of our Wooster students have come.

Schools represented on campus include the Apple Creek, Big Prairie, Dalton, Millersburg, New Philadelphia, Orrville, Ritman, Shreve, Smithville, Stone Creek, Bucyrus, and Ulrichville, and Wooster.
