Dr. Wilson Donates New Wooster Inn

Although a definite date has not yet been set, construction is expected to start before the end of the year on the Wooster Inn. The Inn is a gift of Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Wilson in memory of his father, who was professor of mathematics at the College from 1900 to 1907. Dr. Wilson, a member of the class of 1914, is chairman of the Wooster Board of Trustees and chief executive officer of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

Open to Public

The Inn, to be located on the southeast corner of Wayne Avenue and Gasche Street adjoining the golf course, is to provide accommodations for alumni, parents, and friends of Wooster and will be open to the general public. There will be lodging space for 32 persons; a dining room, seating 50, which will look out upon the golf course; and two private dining rooms.

The first floor will contain a public lounge, an alumni room, four bedrooms, and a manager's suite. On the second floor will be located 12 bedrooms and two bedroom apartments. Situated in the basement will be a golf office, locker and shower rooms, a snack room, and a billiard room.

This Is History!

Of the Inn, President Lowry said, "The gift of Dr. and Mrs. Wilson is an event in the history of the College. It will provide facilities that the College has long needed, a place that should make possible entertainment for alumni and friends in an attractive setting. This new gift and the building it makes possible are simply further instance of a loyalty and devotion to the College that Dr. and Mrs. Wilson have shown over the years."

The cost of the Inn will be in excess of $400,000.

History Honorary

Members of the History Honorary met for their first meeting Monday afternoon and plans were made for the annual fall picnic. This year the affair will take place in Zoar, Ohio, which is an old 19th century German co-operative Christian community. The society, under the sponsorship of Miss Kaslo, has invited all eligible new members to attend.

254 Students Win Academic Honors In Second Semester

According to an announcement made by the Registrar's Office, 254 students gained academic honors during the second semester of the school year 1956-57. Of these, 159 are returning upperclassmen.

Class I. The following students have received no grade below "A—" in any studies the second semester 1956-57 in the College of Wooster:

Sophomores: Nancy Koontz.
Juniors: Janet Gabrielson, Richard Tignor.

Seniors: Philip Allen, Doris Lehman, Nancy Mohr, Anne Pasek, Bruce Roth, Margaret Williams, Christine Wright, Robert Tobey.

Class II. The following students have received at least eight credits in "A—" and the remaining credits in "C—" or better for all studies the second semester 1956-57 in the College of Wooster:

Lists Get Longer

Schreiber Elected To Academic Office

On Tuesday, September 10, Dr. William Schreiber, Head of the German Department, was elected Vice-President of the Germanic Section of the Modern Language Association. It is possible that his position might lead to a higher office in this particular section and in the Association as a whole.

Dr. Schreiber is on a sabbatical leave this year. Upperclassmen may recall that he was elected "Faculty Parent of the Year" by a vote of the students for last year's Parents' Day weekend.

Departmental Travels

The Modern Language Association held its annual convention on the University of Wisconsin campus at Madison from September 8 to 11. Other faculty members attending the convention were Dr. Charles Adams of the Spanish Department; Dr. Thomas Claesens of the English Department; and Dr. Thayer, Professor Emeritus of the Department of English.

The proposed Wooster Inn will end motel hunting for frantic families, and give alumni a chance to live on the campus during return visits.

Faculty Welcomes Fifteen Members

Fifteen new members have been received into the Wooster faculty this fall. All members are instructors in their particular fields except Dr. Earl Wiley, visiting professor of the Speech Department, Homer B. Reed, visiting lecturer in psychology, and Clarence C. Nixon, in political science.

Professor Wiley has served as the head of the Department of Speech at Ohio State for many years and will serve here in the absence of Mr. William C. Craig, who is on leave at Union Theological Seminary in New York. Dr. Wiley was graduated from Dartmouth and received his M.A. degree from Ohio State.

Still More?

Mr. Reed is a graduate of Indiana University and has a Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago. Mr. Clarence Nixon is a graduate of Jacksonville State Normal (Ala.) He attended Alabama Polytechnic and received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago. He has been head of the Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University.

Miss Peggy Bridges, a graduate of Carson-Newman College, who also studied at the University of North Carolina, and Mr. David Moldstad, a graduate of Hiram College, Brown University, and the University of Wisconsin, are instructors in the English Department.

Mr. George Yaney, history instructor, is a graduate of Rensselaer Polytech, and the University of Colorado, where he re-

Party Acquaints Grads' Offspring

Quizzes on facts about the college will break the ice for 59 sons and daughters of Wooster alumni at a get-acquainted party on October 8.

The second and third generation students, all members of the class of '61, will get together in Lower Galpin at 7:30. Refreshments will be served. The freshmen represent 79 individual alumni, with 13 claiming parents from the class of '30.

Democratic Senator Addresses Campus; Church Of Idaho Speaks On Civil Rights

by Bob Carter

On Sunday, September 29, and Monday, September 30, the college community will have an opportunity to hear one of the newest members of the United States Senate, Frank Church of Idaho. Senator Church's visit is being sponsored by the Institute of Politics, headed by Mr. Gordon L. Shull of the Department of Political Science.

Band Rehearses New Formations

Beginning his ninth year as director of bands, Dr. Stuart Ling has in store for the stadium audiences a series of shows based on the music of George Gershwin. All home and away shows will follow the Gershwin theme and will contain many favorite tunes which have become standards in the popular field.

The Scot band will inaugurate something a little different this season—a new fashion in formations. Almost all field formations will be symmetrical designs rather than pictures of an object. It is hoped that such designs will be as understandable to a person sitting on the 10-yard line as to those on the 50.

From the freshman group were chosen the players to fill the gaps caused by graduation, transfers, and academic conflicts. The final breakdown by classes reveals 22 freshmen, 24 sophomores, 11 juniors, and 12 seniors. This is the first time in recent memory that the sophomores outnumber the freshmen in the band.

One new face will appear in the ranks of the MacLeod Las-

Fifteen Freshmen Win Scholarships

This year 50 National Presbyterian College scholarships have been awarded to students throughout the country. Out of the total number of 50 scholarships, 15 have been won by Freshmen who have just entered the college. To qualify for a Presbyterian scholarship, applicants are required to be members of a Presbyterian church for one year prior to filing the form. It is necessary to have been ranked in the top third of their class at the end of their junior or next to final year in secondary school.

Wooster Residents

On October 22, 1957, the candidates for the 1958 awards will take a qualifying test which will be given in every secondary school which chooses to administer it.

The 15 Presbyterian scholarships awarded to Wooster Freshmen went to William Cool, Marilyn Dell, Kathryn Doob, Kenneth Hoffman, Barbara Huddleston, Barbara Jenks, Karen Kinkel, Jeanne Leick, Martha Maxwell, Wayne Myers, Kennalee Ogden, Ruth Otto, William Reinhardt, Frank Richardson, and Mary Sherman.

Senator Church, a Democrat, will address three groups while on campus. At 7:30, Sunday evening, in the chapel, the Senator will speak to the Student Christian Association on the subject "Civil Rights: the Moral Dimension." Monday, during chapel, his topic will be "Civil Rights: the Political Dimension."

Youngest Member

Senator Church was elected to the Senate in November 1956, and at the age of 32 became the youngest member of that body. After having captured the Democratic nomination in a battle with former United States Senator Glen Taylor and one-time Presidential candidate Henry A. Wallace, Senator Church triumphed over the Republican incumbent, former Senator Welker. Senator Church's margin of victory, nearly 50,000 votes, was considered rather surprising in view of the otherwise sweeping victory scored in the state of Idaho by the Republican party.

Well-Planned Campaign

The consensus of most observers was that the result was more a rejection of Welker than an endorsement of Church. It was felt that Welker could have spent more time "mending his own fences." Senator Church, in contrast, carried out a well-planned campaign, lashing out at what he called Welker's "disgraceful record," refused to become involved in Adlai Stevenson's stand on the H-Bomb, foreign policy, and other issues. He won in the face of charges from right-wingers that his "Castle of Americanism" had been made a house of hospitality for left-wing principles.

A Boise lawyer, Senator Church was for two years state chairman of the Idaho Young Democrats, was the keynote speaker at the state's Democratic convention in 1952, and as a sixteen-year-old schoolboy won the American Legion's national Americanism oratorical contest in 1941.

The Long Look

There are many problems facing the administration, faculties, and students of the small colleges in America today, and the College of Wooster is no exception. These problems involve the usual list of complaints; compulsory church, compulsory class, compulsory chapel, etc., etc., ad nauseum. These problems are important and deserve consideration. But, too often we become involved in these conflicts and lose sight of the real purpose of our being at a place like Wooster.

We are here to get an education, and if not, then we are wasting a good deal of time and money. Since the gaining of an education is our real purpose, then the problems that we have mentioned are only important as they interfere with this purpose.

The phrase, "to get an education," is misleading and needs qualification. Education has two phases: first, gaining knowledge, and second, learning how to use this knowledge. Somewhere, sandwiched between these two phases we find Wooster College.

The purpose of the College, then, is to expose us to this knowledge (which already exists) and teach us how to use our knowledge in the fullest possible way. In this light we can see ourselves as students coming to college, being exposed to a small fragment of the existing knowledge, and emerging as mature thinking individuals who are able to use our knowledge in all its relationships to society. This is a very pretty picture, or at least it ought to be. Somewhere along the line, however, the machinery bogs down. Now we are back to the problems which we mentioned earlier. These problems and their more basic "parents" are the monkey wrenches in the works.

This, then, is the reason that it is important that these problems be faced and solved, as they are hindering us in the achievement of our real purpose in its fullest sense.

However, these problems are not going to be solved overnight, and while they still exist, the machinery is still running, even at a reduced speed. It is still possible for us, as students, to learn a great deal. We can still gain from this college as much as we are willing to put in.

Perhaps, if we think of our Wooster experiences in these broad terms we can gain a clearer and more realistic understanding of the position and importance of the many problems which confront small colleges today.

Age of Innocence: On the day preceding the run-out, a freshman was heard to remark, "Gee, I sure wish I could get in on that!" He did... Upperclassmen also suffered on the annual mid-morning melee. So p h o m o r e Nancy Brown, while parading frosh around the campus, managed to cut her foot badly enough to require 10 stitches. But the Class of '60 is staunch—she was ready for the SCA dance the next evening.

The Passing Scene: An upper-classman helping at the Freshman mixer was trying to get the men and women together for a dance. He was more than stymied by a stubborn frosh male, who hauled out a picture of his wife and three children.

Chapel Committee

The Senate last Wednesday selected a new foursome for the chapel committee, which will work with Dean Tausch. Janie Thompson, Bruce Riddon, Kent Weeks, and Mag McKirachan were selected. Students should not be surprised to detect an Asiatic influence creeping up somewhere in chapel this year, for seniors Rigdon and Thompson were both in the Orient studying last year.

Great Scot Key

Harry Bradley is to be congratulated on the Scot Key, which is bigger and better than ever. And note that the Freshman Directory is out on time this year. The word is that the all-important College Directory will be available in several weeks, which is earlier than other years.

Did you ever wonder what they are saying over that telephone on the bench at the football games? Is Stretch Hoff being called by his girl to remind him of the date time Saturday night? Is Coach Shihe receiving instructions from his wife on what groceries to pick up after the game? Or is Food Service taking orders for half-time snacks?

None of these, we are told, for the phone is manned on the unseen end by coaches Bill Robinson and Jim Ewers, who spot mistakes and openings on the field. They relate their findings to the men on the field in such a manner.

New Board Member

The nomination of Pat Eaton to the Academic Board brings the group to full strength for '57-'58. Paul Reeder is chairman and the other members are Vic Sapio, Denny Barnes, and Peg Blumberg. The Board is the academic end of an imaginary Senate teeter-totter, which has the Social Board on the opposite end. They seek ways of helping students pass courses and also methods of supplementing the curriculum, this of course being from the student point of view.

Head High—Flies Die

We are told that flies do not carry the Asiatic flu. This is fortunate, for between the horde of flies on campus and the lack of the vaccine, we might be in sorry shape. Remember, keep your head high—the flies will die.

Student Relates Experiences At CCUN; Seminar Lacks Midwest Representation

To the Editor:

Many college students spend their summer vacations having new, exciting, and educational experiences. This summer I was fortunate enough to be able to leave my job for one week to have just such an experience at Finch College in New York City. I attended a conference of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations (CCUN) which is an organization to promote education for the United Nations among college students. As I was really a "self-appointed, unofficial" representative of Wooster's student body, I should like to inform you briefly about my experiences at the CCUN, with which our own International Relations Club is affiliated.

Schedule Includes Tours, Meetings

My busy schedule at this conference included many meetings, discussions, lectures, and studying, as well as tours of the U.N. building and a talk with the Egyptian officials at the Egyptian Consulate. Among the many distinguished speakers of the week were Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Mr. Clark Eichelberger who further enlightened us about the accomplishments of the United Nations.

Sole Representative from Ohio

The Midwest was poorly represented at this conference, compared to the many students there from the East, the South, and the West, most of whom received financial backing from their schools in order to attend. It was not long before I realized that I was the sole representative from the state of Ohio, and furthermore, that Wooster was the first college from our state ever to have one of its students attend the CCUN. I must admit that I was rather ashamed of the laxity of the Midwest in keeping informed on world affairs as compared to other sections of our country.

In a small world such as ours today, events that take place in Egypt or China should be of the utmost concern to all of us. I think it therefore behooves all of us to keep well informed about world affairs. One excellent way to keep up on foreign relations is to attend meetings of the IRC. Here one can hear excellent speakers, discuss vital issues of the day, and learn more about accomplishments of the United Nations in furthering the cause of world peace.

Sincerely,

Ginny Wenger

Thompson Presents Key Question During SCA Retreat At Camp Luz

by Carol Riemer

Thoughtful consideration of a number of campus questions was the keynote of the SCA Retreat held at Camp Luz on September 14. About 50 persons participated in the day-long retreat including Dr. Lowry, Dean Tausch, Dean Young, and Rev. James Blackwood. From the Religion Department were Dr. Anderson, Dr. Baird, Dr. Smith, Mr. Tait, and Mr. Robert Voelkel, also Religious Coordinator on campus. Mrs. Tait and Mrs. Baird prepared the meals which stimulated enthusiastic reports as well as provided nourishment for the heated discussions which followed.

Janey Thompson presented

one of the key questions in her talk which grew out of her experiences as a delegate to the Lake Forest Conference held this summer in Illinois. Her concern was the relationship of the Wooster SCA to a wider national group. This presents a problem because the Wooster group is non-denominational whereas the U. S. Christian Council, an inter-denominational national group, is based on denominational representation.

Discuss Solutions

Several solutions were discussed, although no definite decision was reached. One alternative is to associate with other non-denominational groups such

Up and Down The ROCK

by Sally Wedgewood

"Kinda good to get back to the old trough," quoting without the permission of the artist. So here we are at the beginning of a new academic year with its birth and rejuvenation, its new faces, its old ones, and the omission of so many others. There is a new crop of dinks and new strange creatures under them, new clothes, new courses, and new housemothers; but still there are the same professors, the same food, the same rules and regulations, and the same liquid autumn weather.

Advancement?

At this time of the year the thought is always in our mind: this year, will the new elements on campus combine with the old to produce any startling religious, academic, or social advancements? Or will the slow decay of several campus institutions continue? In our time we have seen Bermuda shorts allowed, the Sailing and Jazz Clubs burgeon, "Miss Peach" begin in the "Plain Dealer," three new juke boxes installed in the Shack, two new women's dormitories erected, and several new styles of dinner-tickets instituted. All of these are advancements, more or less. However, on the other hand, we have seen the folding of one social club, the growing distaste for I.S., the decline of interest in WCW, the weakness of the campus electrical system, the absence of "Peanuts" from the "Daily Record," and the omnipresent sheltered thought flourishing at this small Ohio college.

Hopes for This Year

Our hopes for this year will include such large subjects as a decision on Chapel, church and class attendance, and levity in the campus' attitude toward smokers. We can't try to set the world on fire, for we aren't reformers, and besides, as seniors, we discover in ourselves a decided feeling of futility toward action. We will leave change to newer blood, and hope that continued awareness be granted to us. We are standing squarely behind the Class of '61, and wish them the best of luck.

We really sound too advanced in years even to lift a pen, don't we? Maybe next week you'll find that we have. We'll see you then.

as those found in other church related colleges.

A second possibility is that of working through various denominations. In any case the group felt that our Wooster SCA needed to feel itself a part of a larger frame of reference. Re-evaluation of the Wooster-in-India program as one method of doing this is one of the goals of SCA this fall. Because of the increased expenses of the Wooster-in-India representative this program involves a financial problem which needs to be considered by the SCA as a whole.

In their talks at the evening vesper service Bruce Hunt, President of SCA, and Mr. Voelkel reviewed the main issues of the conference and suggested the discussion of these and other issues in small study groups as part of this year's SCA program.

Popular Culinary Centers Create Fight For Tickets

by George Spelvin

Here is a brief rundown of the situation which newcomers to the campus are discovering in the way of eating habits and which the old hands already know:

Kenarden Hall: famed culinary center of years past and still the most popular eating place in Wooster. This is the past home of three male meals a day, before the more dignified days of coed dining, where food feuds raged day in and day out and where a proper young Wooster miss would dare not set knife and fork.

Race to the Intestines

Now crowded Kenarden has been reduced to what might be referred to as "squat and gobble," inferring quite naturally that digestion is little more than a food-consuming contest. Not even the slowest eater escapes this traditional race to the intestines.

Miss Eve Richmond Publishes Members Of Women's Chorus

The following girls have been selected by Miss Eve Richmond as members of the 1957-58 Wooster girls chorus:

Autocracy Dines

Babcock Hall is where the decorum is opposite. Consumption is an art of three forks and Sunday demi tasse. It is rumored that tickets for this hall are sometimes sold for a price on the campus black market. The only worry in Babcock is how to eat correctly under the eyes of the Head Resident, who apparently frightens freshman men and delights senior women at her refined table.

"Hall of Silence"

Hoover Cottage: some accord this as the best food on campus. Past years have made this staid small hall famous as a dining "hall of silence." Freshman women look beautiful here early each morning (to be sure, they look beautiful all the time to everyone. That is, until they become sophomores). Hoover, along with Holden and Babcock, comprise the Big Three, to which most strive to obtain admission.

Indigestion

Holden: the female bastion of the campus, which is adorned with no less than two digestion centers. Properly, on top is Upper Holden, complete with pretty wallpaper and abundant sunlight, and properly, in the cellar is lower Holden, where all campus exiles are sent to the dismal dungeon for the regular three-month or what-have-you stint.

Conclusion: if unhappy with your present dining situation, smile and take your clobbered choice in lower Galpin on the next disastrous signup day. Fight for the invaluable tickets to the Big Three, lose your choice and end up in the lower regions. Only two requirements: (1) for the administration: pay your food bills, (2) for your stomach: eat. You're on your own.

Music Room Open For Music Lovers

The Music Room, for the information of all new students, is located at the west end of the Student Union. Established with funds donated by Andrew Carnegie about 20 years ago, the original Music Room began with a Capehart record player and a core collection of records. The purpose of the room was to provide an opportunity for the entire community to listen to fine music, not only for those enrolled in the Conservatory.

Student Is Head

The room is under the supervision of a faculty committee, this year headed by Miss Helen Kaslo, which appoints a student head operator to supervise the maintenance of equipment, and to set up a schedule when the room will be open for record listening. At these times a student operator is always in charge. The head operator is George Hover, whose schedule will soon be posted on the Music Room door and published in the VOICE.

Capehart Replaced

Since the original equipment and collection has been surpassed by hi-fidelity and long-playing records, the Capehart has been replaced by modern facilities. Students as well as faculty members should feel welcome to use the room, not only for their personal listening enjoyment, but for the enjoyment of special records which they want their friends or classes to hear.

Students Choose Representatives

On Thursday, October 10, Wooster students will have the opportunity and the responsibility to vote for their candidates in the Student Senate election. Eight offices will be open for election. They are for Senators to replace Bob Brinkert; Senior Male Senator, Ralph Morrison; Junior Senator at Large, Dick Spies; Junior Male Senator, Dick Dannenfelser; Sophomore Senator at Large, Dave Bowser; Sophomore Male Senator, Bill Frey; and Freshman Senator at Large and Freshman Male Senator, both now unoccupied. Petitions for these offices will be available at the Senate office in Center Kauke on Monday, September 30, and will be due back in the Senate office no later than 4 p.m. on Friday, October 4.

New, Dynamic Senate

Holdovers on the Senate include President Dale Bailey, Veep Stu Awbrey, Treasurer Bill Lomicka, and Women Senators Jan Borgia, Jonnie Gurney, and Alice Hageman. Stu Awbrey promises, "The new and dynamic Senate will be moving toward more philosophical goals and will definitely be a force of student opinion of the campus of the college."

Dunham Reviews Summer Events

Miss Aileen Dunham, Head of the Department of History, will present her interpretation of the summer's news events to an open meeting of the International Relations Club to be held Wednesday, October 2, at 7:30 p.m. in Lower Babcock. Miss Dunham's talk has become a prominent feature of the college year and is especially welcomed this fall because of the far reaching importance of recent world events.

Visiting Diplomat

Mr. Faisal F. Damluji, visiting Iraqi diplomat, will speak in the Chapel Monday, September 30, at 8:15 p.m. concerning his views on movements and events in the Near East. Mr. Damluji is touring this country under the auspices of the American Friends of the Middle East. This lecture, sponsored by IRC, is open to all.

In presenting these and other programs throughout the year IRC hopes to fulfill its purpose of bringing international viewpoints and perspectives to Wooster students.

Gilbreth's Comedy Comes To Campus

Comedy in generous portions awaits those who attend "Bells on Their Toes," this week's Senate movie to be shown in Scott Auditorium at 7:15 and 9:15 (no admission charge). Jeanne Crain, Jeffrey Hunter, Edward Arnold, Myrna Loy, and Debra Paget star in this movie based on the book by Frank B. Gilbreth Jr. and Ernestine Gilbreth Carey. The further adventures on Mrs. Gilbreth and her 12 children are told in this sequel to "Cheaper by the Dozen."

First Cinemascope

"Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing" was the first movie of the year and the first Cinemascope one shown at Scott Auditorium. There will be seven more wide-screen pictures shown this year. Admission is 10c to help defray expenses.

Congressional Club Convenes Monday; Officers Speak

The first session of the 49th Congress of the Congressional Club will be held this Monday, September 30, at 7:15 p.m. in the Statistics Lab.

The Honorable Speaker Mr. Paul Reeder will give his State of the Union address. After the opening words of Mr. Reeder, the Club will adjourn to Executive Session where states and committees will be chosen by the representatives.

Visitors Welcome

Congressional Club members are elected by the body and only those members are permitted to speak on the floor, but visitors are welcome.

Officers for this year in addition to Mr. Reeder are Clerk, the Honorable Kent Weeks, assisted by the Honorable Ron Rolley.

Scot Gridders Open 1957 Campaign By Whipping Ashland

Display Balance, Power In 34-0 Romp; Dingle, Papp, McClung Head Onslaught

by Bob Engstrom

The 1957 football season of the "Fighting Scots" opened Saturday under dreary skies with Wooster finally overpowering Ashland for a 34 to 0 victory. Although it had been raining earlier in the day (too, too typical Wooster weather) the playing field was in fine shape. The 34 to 0 defeat by the Scots soundly clipped the wings of the Ashland Eagles, and made the series record with Wooster 2 to 16, Ashland winning 2, Wooster winning 16. Actually this was not a conference game for Wooster because Ashland is not in the Ohio conference.

Dingle in Form

Tommy Dingle was his usual best, accounting for 2 of the 5 Scot touchdowns. Dingle keeps grinding out the yardage in spite of the numerous attempts by other teams to knock him out of the game. No matter in which direction the play is going, Dingle usually has someone coming at him hard and fast. Such is the plight of an ultra successful football player.

Both quarterbacks, Jim McClung and Johnny Papp, accounted very well for themselves in the game Saturday. Their strategy kept Ashland on their toes, and usually kept them going in the wrong direction.

Scot Line Tough

Marion Zody, Ashland's 215 pound fullback, couldn't seem to penetrate the Scot defenses, and was nailed on practically every attempt to get across the line. The Scot line worked like a perfect machine, against the touchdown hopes of Ashland.

The Scots scored in every quarter. Lakewood's own Johnny Papp drew first blood in the game by plunging over in the first quarter for the first T.D. Bill Washburn, a frosh from Akron, made good his extra point attempt to make the score Wooster 7, Ashland 0.

Wims Intercepts

With only 5:40 of the second quarter gone, Ashland found themselves in possession of the ball, but sitting on their own 23 yd. line. Ashland's quarterback, Tommy Brown, attempted a pass to Pete Easterday but fate, in the form of Lu Wims, had other ideas for the pigskin. Wims, a freshman end from Akron, latched on to the ball in a beautiful interception, and ran it over for the T.D. Washburn again made the extra point attempt good, and the score remained Wooster 14, Ashland 0.

Later in the second quarter Tommy Dingle cut loose with one of the finest displays of running that Severance Stadium has probably ever seen. Dingle started his jaunt on Ashland's 46 yard line and didn't stop till he hit pay dirt. This run was even more spectacular than the famous Dingle run which pulled the Akron game out of the fire last year. He spun past three linemen at the 45, twisted and then faked the deep man beautifully. He picked up a block on the 30 yard stripe and angled off toward the north corner of the field with three Ashland Eagles clawing at him but to no avail. Washburn again connected on his third attempt to make the score 21 to 0 in favor of Wooster.

Dingle Scores Again

Dingle connected for his second T.D. in the third quarter after making a diving catch of a McClung pass on the two. On the next play Tom bulldied into

For The Girls

The WRA, which used to be the WAA, but now is the Women's Recreation Association, is underway. The fall sports are starting or have started. A tennis tournament is being directed by Barb Henry in Holden. Archery meets beside Babcock on Monday and Wednesday at 4:15 p.m. Hockey has the same schedule but meets behind Wagner. Sharks had tryouts this past week and are ready to start practicing. Fencing will start tomorrow morning at the gym.

Under the guidance of Jane Craig, President; Lenore Lewton, Vice-President; Sarah Weimer, Secretary; and Dorita Weaver the WRA board has been doing other things, too. A retreat was held before classes started to plan for the year; the Freshmen were introduced to the organization at an informal outdoor meeting, and refreshments were sold at the opening football game.

Brain Trust Aims For Winning Year

As the Scot footballers have entered into another year of competition and have shown plenty of potential for the coming year, let's take a look at the men responsible for molding the team into shape.

Shipe at Helm

Head coach Phil Shipe returns for his ninth year at the helm of the Scots. While at Wooster his teams have compiled a record of 42 wins, 24 losses, and four ties, and have perennially been among the contenders for the Ohio Conference crown. A graduate of Ohio Northern, he coached at Ada, Fremont, and Defiance high schools before coming here. In the spring Shipe coaches the golf team and his squads have never finished below third place in the conference meets.

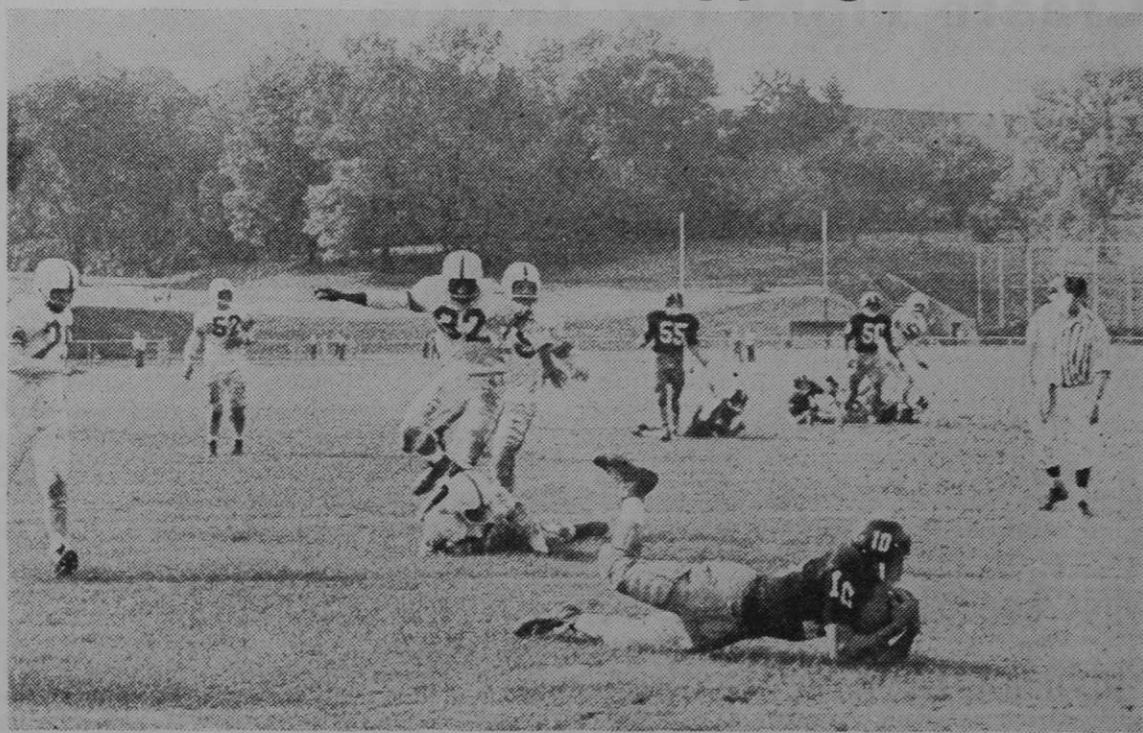

Swigart Advises Backs

Taking care of the backfield is John Swigart. This is his 32nd year of coaching at Wooster. A fine back while attending Wooster, John has spent much time passing along his knowledge and skill to the Scot runners. His time is taken up largely by the Scot varsity sports as he is head swimming coach in the winter and in the spring takes over the reins of the Scot baseball squad.

Ewers New Line Coach

The newest member of the Scot coaching staff is line coach Jim Ewers. Jim graduated from Wooster in 1954 after a term which saw him as quarterback, captain of the football team, and captain of the basketball quintet. After graduation he received his masters degree at

by Art Humphreys

With one game safely under their belts the Scot gridders will take on the Kenyon Lords on Saturday afternoon in the second home contest of the year at Severance Stadium. The Scots will be eager to make sure that the Lords are not taken lightly as they don't want to have a repeat of last year's upset 13 to 12, down at Gambier.

Coach Shipe was pleased with the team's showing in last week's win over Ashland. He emphasized that it was a fine team victory but had praise for the defensive unit especially. That this praise is well-grounded is further pointed up by the fact that statistics showed that the Eagles were held to but 30 yards gained, 15 by rushing and the same by passing.

Reserves Show Well

In addition to commending the defensive game, Shipe was also pleased with the running attack, except that there will be work on better ball-handling during the week, and said that this week's contest would see the Scots pass more to open up the defense. The fact that the Ashland game was played under the two platoon system gave the coaches plenty of opportunity to see many of the players in action, more than would have been the case had the rules limiting substitution as will be the rule in the upcoming games for the rest of the season. Many of the Freshmen showed well under competition, and this was a comforting fact to the coaching staff. Providing the opposition Saturday will be a Kenyon squad that is more experienced than their team of last year. Fourteen returning lettermen will form the nucleus of the team that will be starting its second year under the split-T attack, and these returnees now have the knowledge to make the formation click.

Experienced Veterans

At quarterback will be one of the best in the conference, Joel Holmes, a fine passer and punter. Flanking him on the left will be Brian Donahue, probably the team's best defensive back. In the line the team will be led by center Fred Zolakar and captains Keith Brown, converted from halfback to end, and John Beese, guard.

This will be a hard-fighting Lord squad so the Scots cannot afford to let up at any moment, but I don't think the team has to be told not to take them lightly after last year's turnaround!

Tom Dingle makes a beautiful diving catch on the two-yard line of a Jim McClung pass to set up the Scots' fourth touchdown.

the end zone to make the score Wooster 27, Ashland 0.

In the fourth quarter, McClung from the 40 yard line hit Evans on the seven yard line. Ashland had Evans all bottled up before he got the ball and interference was called against Ashland. Evans dived over for the last T.D. of the game with Bill Gallagher making the extra point good.

Ashland gained a net of 15 yards and five first downs.

Wooster gained a net of 195 yards and 11 first downs. Both Ashland and Wooster fumbled nine times, Wooster losing it three times, Ashland losing it four times. Wooster quick-kicked three times for a total of 103 yards. Ashland quick-kicked five times for a total of 220 yards.

Wims' First T.D.

There were quite a few freshmen who showed great promise. McClellan, the hard hitting back from Fostoria, turned in a terrific performance. Bill Washburn clicked for three of the extra points; Lu Wims came through with his first T.D. In his first college game, Bill Clay, the end from Lima also showed great potential.

Bob Whitaker and Gary Grimes each plucked a pass out of the waiting arms of an Ashland receiver. Ends Moe Cotton and Art Hoff both looked in top notch shape.

Strong Line

It is really hard to single out individual players because everyone turned in a good performance. Wooster's line is just as strong as its backfield this year, and with the depth that Wooster has, the team should be strong contenders for the conference title.

Mr. Bruce Hansen, biology instructor, is a graduate of Monmouth College, with an M.S. degree from Wisconsin. He has studied at the University of Illinois, the University of Chicago, and most recently at Ohio State University.

Instructor in chemistry is Thomas Ferington, a graduate of Buffalo University, California Tech, and Princeton.

Miss Wanda Sammons, a graduate of Kansas State University for both graduate and undergraduate work, joins the Spanish Department. At Kansas State she was an assistant instructor in her field.

Four Wooster graduates are returning to teach. Mr. Charles McClain, a graduate of Cornell University in music, where he was an assistant, returns to serve in that department. Mr. Robert Voelkel is a new instructor in religion and a coordinator of the Danforth Foundation program. He graduated from Union Seminary with a Bachelor of Divinity degree. Joining the Department of Speech after taking his M.A. at the University of Illinois is Mr. David Batcheller. Mr. Jim Ewers has taken advance work at Ohio University and has been working for several weeks as coach on the football program.

Concert Bill Offers St. Olaf's Choir

The 22nd season of the Community Concert series was announced with the opening of the membership drive which will run from September 25 to October 2. During this time, students on the campus will be contacted by the dormitory and college representatives.

Four concerts have been planned for the '57-'58 series.

It has been officially announced that the world famous St. Olaf's choir from St. Olaf's College in Northfield, Minnesota, has been signed for one of the season's concerts.

Ohio University, coaching freshman football while studying, and then for two years he was head coach at Fredericktown high school.

Dick Stefanek is our assistant line coach. Doc was a bulwark in the Scot line while at Wooster and graduated in 1956. Last year he came back to help Rick Forzano and this year returns to lend his support to Jim Ewers.

Bill Robinson is a student assistant coach this year. Bill was a fine athlete in high school and entered Wooster last year after serving in the armed forces. He will be a great help to the line coaches and also the other coaches in the coming campaign.

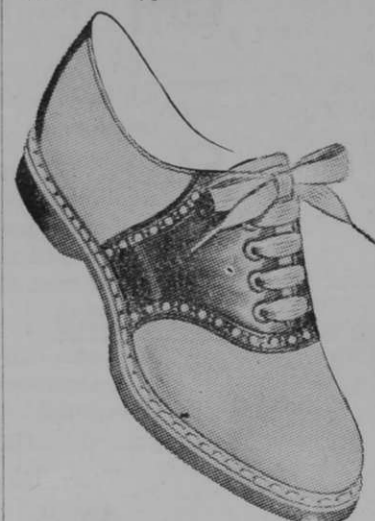

All in all, the Scots have all they could ask for in the way of coaching material, and this provides a firm basis for building a team to compete for the conference championship.

Baton Featured

Dave MacMillan will again be Drum Major. Gail Winkelvoss, the talented twirler from Mercer, Pennsylvania, will again be featured batonist. Headed by Dick Hersh, experienced piper from Dayton, the Scots will have its largest pipe corps in history. Other members of this hard-working group which adds so much color are Lynn Stanohpe, Julia Jerabek, Paul Reeder, and Greg Seaman.

The 1957 edition of the Scot Marching Band will appear at all of the nine football games this season. This includes home games against Ashland, Kenyon, Muskingum, Akron, and Oberlin. It also includes trips to the Ohio Wesleyan, Denison, Wittenberg, and Capital contests.

Summer Uniforms

Another innovation by the marching Scots this season will be a "summer" uniform. Needless to say, the heavy woolen tunics are much too heavy for a hot September or October afternoon. The latest abbreviated uniform for such days may not be the most authentic, but it will certainly be more comfortable.
