Fund Campaign A $3000 goal has been set for the Alumni Campaign sponsored by the SCA and the school. In a departure from past years, the money will be evenly divided between the two campaigns. The Student Senate and the Alumni Association felt that it would be better for the campus at large if there was a joint interest in the Alumni Campaign. Anyone interested in a joint interest in the Alumni Campaign should make arrangements with either President Frerichs or Paul Barrett, telephone 2934.

The next Federal Service Exam will be held on Saturday, January 10, 1958. Applicants should apply by December 24, 1958. Application forms may be obtained in any person in Mr. Barrett's office. Mr. Ruthe, the Federal Recruiter, will conduct the interviews or applications, or they may be left at the Office of the Registrar.

Salaries start at $400 or $450 a year, and some men with additional training may start at $550.

Ferm's Publication Off the presses recently is a new edition of Professor Ferm's college and university text book on the history of philosophy. It has been selected in the series of paper-back editions on the history of every department of knowledge. The book, "An History of Philosophical Systems," will be published in April.

Dr. Ferm is editor of this work and a former University of Wisconsin graduate. Ferm's earlier book, "The Greek Riddle," which has already gone into its second printing, is one of the most popular books of the series.

VOOSTER VOICE

15 Years Young

On Nov. 13, 1883, the University Voice appeared for the first time. Novel and useful as it was, it was not available.

In 1886, the Voice was a four-page publication containing literary contributions, literary reviews, and poetry by students. W. E. is credited with being the "firstborn" of these "proprietors," one of whom printed:

"And then I said, 'Prof, you know what you can do with this 15-page'"

Welcome To Chaos

To the Girls of Wagner:

You have heard that now you are part of the campus, that in the phone system has finally reached you. You will however, soon discover that the one phone system on campus is the only thing that was not in comparison to the mechanical and operative mess you have just been:

You:

The rest of the campus.

Election Post Mortem

By this time most of you have forgotten last week's elections. It only remains for the jubilant Democrats and chagrined Republicans to look back on the things they did right - and wrong. It serves us right to have been bombarded year after year with the same old same old. And as far as I can tell, it's going to continue at least until we get a new campus administration.

On the other side, in spite of the overwhelming Democratic victory, there was no jubilation. Even the students themselves were not too excited about it. What I should have expected was a repeat of the 1960 election. It didn't happen. It's possible that the lack of excitement was caused by the fact that we have no middle-term or long-term administration. Almost everywhere the Democrats quelled their opponents in paperwork, door-to-door campaigning, and propaganda. The Republicans, however, were unable to do the same.

There is a labor problem. Walter Reuther is the most powerful figure on campus right now. This is due to his association with the GWU in wage shape, being philosophically Marxist. Mark Bolding and Elmer Thorp, on the other hand, are interested in labor rights and many other aspects. A labor strike could be a relief to the campus bureaucracy and cat and bat, but would cause a lot of trouble for the rest of us.

To the Voice:

To the Voice:

To the Voice to celebrate its diamond jubilee and to mark the fact that for almost two-thirds of its life this newspaper has been received by the students, each and every one of you, we are moved to extend our congratulations to the oldest college university magazine in the nation. It is our hope that this milestone mark the beginning of a new era of growth and progress.

Cheers for the Voice of Yesteryear

In 1933, the 50th Anniversary of the Voice, the following article was written by the editor, Professor Robert C. Hastie.

The Voice is the oldest college newspaper in the United States. Founded in 1883, it has been published without interruption since that date. The Voice is the official newspaper of the University of Iowa, and it serves as a forum for the expression of the opinions and attitudes of students on campus, as well as a means of communication between the campus community and the outside world.

The Voice is owned and operated by the students of the University of Iowa, who elect a board of editors each year to manage the newspaper. The board of editors is composed of five members, who are elected by the students. The board of editors is responsible for the content of the newspaper, and it is the only body with the power to make policy decisions for the Voice.

The Voice is published weekly during the academic year, and it is mailed to all subscribers. The Voice is also available online, and it can be read on the university's website, as well as on the newspaper's website, which is located at voice.uiowa.edu.

The Voice is a student-run newspaper, and it is funded by advertising revenue, subscription fees, and contributions from the university. The Voice is also supported by the university, which provides funding for the newspaper's production and distribution costs.

The Voice is dedicated to providing a platform for the expression of diverse opinions and voices, and it is committed to fostering a culture of free speech and open inquiry. The Voice is committed to providing accurate and fair reporting on the events and issues that affect the University of Iowa community, and it is always striving to improve the quality of its reporting and its editorial content.

Do You Think for Yourself?
Do you find yourself feeling like you're being pushed into a predetermined path? That's okay! Everyone has moments like these, but it's important to take a step back and think for yourself. Here are a few tips to help you do just that:

- Reflect on your own values and beliefs. Ask yourself what matters most to you.
- Challenge assumptions. Don't assume that everything you hear or read is true. Ask questions and seek out information from a variety of sources.
- Consider multiple perspectives. It's easy to get caught up in one way of thinking, but it's important to consider multiple perspectives to gain a more complete understanding of a situation.

Best Wishes,
President of the University
