Point of View

Mr. A. R. Burn, the first professor to join the Wooster faculty through the Scottish Professorship, has added a lot of flavor to the campus this year.

His frankly pro-socialized medicine lecture enlightened the Political Science course of comparative government. He is currently grading exams on this subject, and students have learned a lot about the theory and practice of modern politics. His lectures are informative and easy to follow, making it a pleasure to learn about these complex topics.

The Scottish Professorship was established to bring Scottish professors to the United States to teach and conduct research in American universities. It is a valuable program that promotes exchange of knowledge and cultural understanding between the United States and Scotland.

Second 'Thistle' Even Finer

Report Reviewers Hopkins

By Angene Hopkins

Wooster's poets, story-tellers, and essayists offered the Thistle almost 100 entries from which to choose selections for the 44-page Color Day Issue. The result is an even finer magazine than the number published last Fall for Homecoming.

The spring issue is even more colorful and varied than the Winter's, offering a wide variety of poetry, art, and music. Students have poured their hearts into the magazine, and the result is a beautiful, well-rounded issue.

Library Studies served as an editorial advisor and editor, and the magazine is distributed to all members of the student body.

The result is a product of hard work and dedication, both from the students and the faculty. The magazine is a testament to the power of creativity and collaboration.

Happy Birthday

Seventy-five years ago on this day, the world was introduced to Margaret, the first alumna of the Wooster Class of 1923. Margaret was a visionary and a leader who paved the way for future generations of Wooster women.

Her contributions to the Wooster community are still felt today, and she continues to inspire us with her passion for education and innovation.

One of the most time-consuming extra-curricular activities of college is writing letters home. No one grades you on your punctuality, and no one cares if you write them in a timely manner. However, I couldn't think of a better way to spend my time than to write letters to my family.

Dear Mom and Dad,

I have written the same letter each week since my first week at Wooster. It seems like a never-ending task, but it's something that I look forward to each week.

The letter always starts with a description of my week, detailing what happened on campus and in my classes. I try to make it as personal as possible, sharing my thoughts and feelings about the things that have happened.

I also try to include some news from home, such as updates on family members and friends. I try to keep the letter as light-hearted as possible, even though I know that some weeks may be more challenging than others.

I hope that this letter finds you well and that you know how much I miss you. I can't wait to see you soon.

Love,
Dave Danner

Students Show Creativity

We realized that there was a need for a forum for students to express themselves and to share their ideas and experiences. Thistle was created to be that forum. It is a space where students can share their thoughts and ideas, and it is a place where students can learn from each other.

We hope that this letter will provide a space for students to express themselves and to share their ideas and experiences.

Dear Reader,

Thank you for your contribution to the student body. We would not exist without the students who contribute to Thistle. We thank you for your support and we look forward to seeing more of your contributions.

Anononymously Million Expands Centennial Development Fund

As an anonymous million dollar gift was received in April, bringing the total to more than $3 million already raised for the Centennial Fund, the Wooster Voice reports that these funds are also part of the building projects already under way for the Centennial year of the College.

Dr. Howard F. Lawry also states: "No building program, however ambitious, can be completed without the prime of the college, and while funds have been raised, it has left a part of which is still in the planning stage. The increase in endowment and other funds during the past year, for example, two new professorships have been established. In next year’s operating budget the Trustees have set the amount of $460,000. This represents operating income beyond receipts from tuition and earnings on investments.

Library Plans

Architects will be named as soon as practicable in the next few weeks, and hopefully the Trustees will announce them before the new academic year opens. One of the Penn State architects will be the architect for the Andrews Memorial Library. The appropriation which has been made by the State for the building will be used to help the Wooster library. It will be called the W.W. Andrews Memorial Library.

The new library will be on the top floor of the new building, which will be connected with the old. It will be a fine new building and a great help to the college.

New Dorms

A most eagerly waited building is that of the new dormitories. As a matter of fact, Dormitories have always been popular accord to the students. Dormitory life is not always easy because of the daily life and strict rules, but the students usually find it a place where they can relax and have fun. The new dorms are being planned to accommodate the growing student population and provide a more comfortable living environment.

The new dorms will be located on the west side of the campus, near the new library. They will have a total of 500 beds, with each room accommodating two students. Each dorm will have a common area, a lounge, and a kitchen. The dorms will also have a variety of amenities, such as laundry facilities, a fitness center, and a study area.

Moore Legend Draws To Close As English Prof Completes His Forty Second Year Of Whirling Olive

Mory Dick? or Mraz's Great Love for this Classic also made the book and man reel on the campus.

Adviser and Adviser

In conference with one of his English major students.

Typical scene is Mr. Moore:

Moore has referred to the making of a day, the way in which heatty meals of more than 500 for a gathering of students and faculty.

"Firstly, what are some of the key benefits that this experience, there, there, or elsewhere, have to offer? Even if you have known that of them, they have to understand the fabric of your own world and self," he said.

"Life, like a dome of many环ed marble, Stains the white radiance of eternity."
The Faculty Relations Committee at its meeting Wednesday recommended that the faculty reconsider its change in examination policy.

In a three-hour meeting Monday night, the SFC proposed an alternate note period examination policy, explaining that the policy is designed to give students more assurance that they can pass exams under the circumstances that they are facing. The policy, which is a change from the present policy, states that students will be excused from exams if a member of their family is admitted to the hospital.

Dean Tatschak illustrated this by saying, "If in the 15 years that I have been Dean, only once has a student come to me to report a death and been willing to give me the information necessary for punishment."

The SFC's decision is not binding on the faculty because the examination system is a faculty matter and they are responsible to no one for the policy they make. The faculty may examine the system they now have, they may accept the SFC examination system, or they may even come up with an entirely new policy.

The faculty will meet in special session next week to reconsider its action and the SFC may make the final decision.

In other business the SFC heard two reports pertaining to work that concerns them. The first report submitted by Don Mayer, president of the Student Worker Student Aid Fund, gave a tabulation of the growth and earnings of the group invested in the SWSAF. The group eventually hopes to build the principal of this fund to such a size that a faculty member might be permitted to attend Wooster on the strength of dollars on hand, rather than on vote. Larry Weir, chair of the Student-Warden system committee of the Students Council, was also there to present the work of his committee up to the present time.

"Diary Review"

More than any battle chronicle, "The Diary of Anne Frank" expresses the horror of war, the joy of sharing life together, and the desire to have the world understand what is happening with the outside world. Entertainment must be manufactured, tem- peratures must be checked, and hunger must be endured. The plot is simply the day to day happenings of these people in the secret far at the top of a warehouse. But the changed situation of the day to day existence is all the dramatic force needed.

The racial situation which has driven these incompatible people together and their fight against the unseen enemy behind the trap door, is the backdrop for individual personalities that come to the fore. As Anne puts it, "The mean Anne comes to the outside and the good Anne stays on the inside. This is every- one's problem. Shall it be their better natures or their worst in the face of prolonged and increasing war and violation?"

In propaganda, it's false to assume, and its fear and horror magnified by each minute detail of living in the face of danger. Anne Frank's take is that "The Diary of Anne Frank" is not a play. It is a novel which has driven these incompatible people together and their fight against the unseen enemy behind the trap door, is the backdrop for individual personalities that come to the fore. As Anne puts it, "The mean Anne comes to the outside and the good Anne stays on the inside. This is everyone's problem. Shall it be their better natures or their worst in the face of prolonged and increasing war and violation?"

The SFC, with this acceptance, will review their comments on the proposal.

College Receives Noyes Souvenirs

The Alumni Association has received several historical articles from Mrs. William D. Noyes of Seville, Ohio. The collection includes lace notes of Professor O. S. Gregory, a catalogue of the Athenaeum Library, the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary issue of the Wooster VOICE, and other historical papers.

The souvenir issue of the Wooster VOICE contains a summary of the history of the College of Wooster to 1892 as well as biographical sketches of the presidents of the college up to that time. The most interesting singling most valuable item of the collection is the degree given to Emily Noyes, the first coed graduate of Wooster. The degree is in the form of a foon with a basket of flowers preserved and will be framed for future display.

Students Tackle Senate Positions, Publication Jobs

Besides waiting tables, editing the Daily and sitting desk, there are other pressures which are not financial.

In addition to all other elective positions on campus is the office of Senate. The Senate is an important leader. The President is confronted almost daily with requests for the deans in directing Senate activities. He is constantly on call to the deans and faculty and must maintain the prestige of being a student leader. The Senate holds six representatives of the students.

In addition, the president of the Board of Directors is an executive committee, and his duties are to take questions from all the schools and work on the Senate faculty committee. His other work is to help elect student executive to the faculty committee.

Various other committees, such as those concerning the religious life on campus or the Christian Education building, also provide opportunity for the president to fulfill his duties. The president must be constantly in touch with all the other, inquiring of the planning of other Senate activities.

Senate Meets Bi-Monthly

The bi-monthly meetings of the Senate are conducted by the president, whose duty it is to cover the major issues such as the housing system, class offerings, and the purchasing of expensive equipment. The major issues are discussed. The Senate members must all be well informed on campus terms that they are able to acknowledge cross-sections of opinions.

The main task of the Senate president is to approve the curriculum for the student at the college. The Senate is also responsible for the Senate operations of the Senate, which includes the orienteering of all new students, the Senate's firefighting, and the Senate's socializing activities. The Senate members must all be well informed on campus terms that they are able to acknowledge cross-sections of opinions.

Speaking around the nation, Robert Price, Governor of New Jersey, has expressed his concern over national and interna- tional problems. O.J. States Rights Governor has said, "States Rights as a slogan is no answer to Little Rock and is no answer to empty stomachs." When an individual becomes na- tional in scope and interest, ac- tion by the local government is imperative. It is my feel- ing that we need to get back to the idea of the state nearly self-sufficient and competitive but if it is to be a competitive state, it is to be a competitive state.

When Meyner spoke to a group in New Orleans, he had this to say about Civil Rights.

The Supreme Court de- cision stands as a fact of Amer- ican life. It cannot be made to disappear either by open defen- sion, or by ignoring it, or by any other method. To deny this fact would be to transform the American people from a law-abiding democracy into a lawless on- e.

Meyner said: "For inspiration, for guidance in the ex- tension of Civil Rights as a prob- lem by the Federal Government, states, and local municipalities, there is no thinking not the South, but also of the North, where this extension of the pres- ence is still practiced."

When Meyner spoke to the students, he said: "As we leave the courts to the courts, we are in the responsi- bility of being the human rights of our country, our country, our own."

On Honor System Study

"There can be no question that someone has said the student opinion about the possibility of an academic honor system on the Wooster campus. This question, it is thought, had been discussed at least twice in the past year and was the subject of a roundtable discussion at the Student Senate on Tuesday, April 25.

The discussion centered around the possibility of an honor system being implemented at Wooster. The main points of discussion were the reasons for or against such a system, as well as the potential benefits and drawbacks.

Peacock, Miller, Malay, Stine Plan Junior Year Abroad

Wooster will continue its on-ground study program for the school year of 1956-57. The students are Stine, Malay, Peacock, and Carl Miller.

Beavis will study her junior year at Simmons College in the Philippines where she will continue her studies in religion, philosophy, and literature. The topic for her independent study project is the Effect of Western Societies on Traditional Societies.

The project will be in England next year, studying at the University of London. She will take courses in history and literature, and continue her research on the evolution of the English language. She will also be involved in the International Student's Union and many other organizations. She plans to travel extensively in Europe and the United States during the summer after her junior year.

The purpose of these committees is to examine the possibility of a comprehensive and uniform system for recognizing academic excellence. The committees were created in response to concerns raised by students, faculty, and staff. The committees are composed of representatives from across the campus including students, faculty, and staff.

The committee is composed of student representatives from all years of the college and includes faculty members from across the curriculum. The committee is responsible for examining the impact of an honor system on the campus community and recommending changes to the current academic policies and procedures.

Scots Forum - Perspective on Exam Rule

P.S. I don't really expect you to reply. Do you?

PERSPECTIVE

Dear Professor,

Have you ever thought of your studies being graded on a wrong end of a telescop? Any matters of primary importance to you were treated at such a distance and in such a manner which rendered them physically impossible to view with any clarity in the proper focus.

And furthermore, our relative values of the components of the problems treated beyond any and all re-organization. As a matter of fact, any foreign objects introduced and treated as irrelevant to mundane confusion? Then does the result in quality, fortune, or the initial rejection of a necessity?

Method and Madness

This is my impression of two aspects of Wooster's problems and the solution of madmen and flummoxers in approaching these same problems.

There is no mathematical formula equating to answer this question which will enable us in this college community to know how to handle these problems. The far easier essential to any approach to an answer that is either practical or ideal is that the question be presented with some semblance of clarity. The presentation of the problem in itself is not enough.

The method of approach must be understood and not just handed down from on high. A method and method of organizing the problem must be presented and developed. (This is what we are discussing.)

Superimposed on every problem, there is an inability to have an infallible theory which recognizes method, personnel and automatically presents the solution to every problem which arises.

Slippery Issue

The change in faculty policy seems to reflect this awkward thinking. It is an instance of "dwarfing" the matter with an avalanche of "maybe" if it is small enough and skipped by fast when there are many other things going on, it won't be noticed. The entire article in the voice consisted of a transcript of the faculty meeting with no explanation whatsoever. It was even difficult to discover what faculty member had what to release.

In Death or Pain

Essentially the faculty voted that college students should be excused from exams and other requirements which faculty or students who are present the television and radio programs will be allowed to make the program a part of the community.

Thinclats Remain Undefeated With Three Wins Last Week

The Wooster tipsters continued their winning ways by downsing three Ohio Conference foes during the last week. The first of these foes was the Big Red from Dayton, who won 13 of 15 first places to post a 92-35 victory.

The outstanding star of this meet was Roger Romer, who established a new record when he heaved the iron ball to a new shot put mark of 27 feet, 6 inches.

Following this victory, Denison the Scots traveled to Muskingum where they won one of their most impressive victories of the 1959 campaign. There was no one outstanding performer in this meet for the victory was truly on all team effort. Although Wooster picked up nine first places, the Scots seconds and thirds made the difference.

Two of the most important firsts that Wooster took came in the first and third meets of the week.

After starting off with a victory over the Scots, the Wooster mile relay team wrapped up the SMAC meet by winning the event in an excellent 3:25 clock.

Emulsified with this decisive victory over the Muskies, the track team then took a trip to Taylor with a 1-1.5 half mile meet.

With Sam Gottfroid, they were able to continue their winning ways on Saturday when they took a strong Akron trip on Color Day. The meet would prove to be an interesting one with many possible second place breaking performances.

On Friday and Saturday, May 20-21, the Scots will have another big meet to Oberville for the Ohio Conference meet and the indoor meet. The Scots hope to equal this finish and possibly improve it.

Thimbells, Victory, established a new record for the well-balanced Scots.

Netters Win Three; Each By 5-4 Score

Improving with each match as the season progresses, the Wooster College tennis team fashioned last week end with three straight Conference victories in four days. Capital, Muskingum and Oberlin all fell to Jim Evans' Scots by 5-4 margins.

The match with Capital, held at first, to be one-sided contest for the Scots as Fred Hess, Russ Gallaway, Ron Rollie, and Chuck Noss won their matches to give the home team 4-0 lead. Then the college from Columbus rallied to win the next two matches and bring the scores 4-2 closer together in the scoring. Victory for Woos-ters was insured, however, as Hess and Gallaway capped the first doubles contest.

The following day the local booths were still in the form of Muskingum when the Scots went home with the first and second singles but Gallaway won the third. He won the first set 6-2, 6-0, then Rollie set the tone for the second doubles by winning the second set 6-2, 6-0. Again, the position in the final match on the doubles, Hess and Gallaway won both halves while Noss and Rollie were defeated. Ron Rollie and Rollie capped the third doubles match, 6-2, 6-0.

In the middle of May, the Scots entered the Ohio Invitational Tournament held by the Otters at The Ohio State University.

Last Monday the Scots entered into the College of Delaware and were beaten by the Otters 9-2. Ken Hess, Gallaway, Miller, and Hess swept the first four matches with the outcome 4-0 lead. Each member of the team was asked to re-serves to give them valuable experience. Larry Rahn and Noss will take up the second team to play the match for the Scots. This victory gave them their fourth match and the conference tour-

Swigartmen Take Three To Extend Victory String

In last week's baseball action, the Scots ran the winning skew to five games and their overall record to eight wins in nine contests. Mr. Allman fell to the first day of Saturday's doubleheader by score of 4-3 in innings and 6-0. Rob- bert LaBore, the Scots' tenacious third baseman, was the hero as he knocked in all the runs with a two-run single in the opening inning. Bill Ash- ley, who topped the Scots with two hits and drove in three runs himself postmarked the Black and Gold in the finale. Against Hackley on Tuesday, Tom McConville gave up just five hits, but the Scots had to be content with the ninth inning to break up 5-5 tie. Mr. Union jumped on Scots starter Ron Bab for three runs in the fifth to win the first game. A bases-loaded double by tom Bab was itself the runs, and Bob Hackley walked with the sails full to force in another. In the last half of the same inning, Jim Dennison fell off with a single, stole second, and scored on a perfect throw. Bill Bab's one base blow to get one back. In the second, Ron Bab got on as hit batsman, stole second, and hit Bab's second run on a single by Dennison.

Rollay Successful

The Scots finally tied it up in the seventh when Bill Thoms, stolen second, stole second, moved to third on a wild pitch, and tagged himself home on a fly ball to the center to tie the game at three. Rollay, set to put one on the bank, hit his fourth double of the season which had led off with a walk. It was a true double for the Scots as well as the winning run had already crossed the plate and could only get on one.

In the second game, Ashwalt outscored the Scots 8-5 as they failed to reach third base, and that was a big difference. The Scots' starting right-hander struck out six and walked two but in pitching his third triumph against one setter, he had difficulty on the shoulders, and in single and two in the fifth.

The Scots Extended

Hiram hurler Jack Mummery started off the Scots two runs and five of them came in two innings and he etched his name in seven runs. The Scots jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the second as Bob Whitehair singled and scored the leads with the bases loaded to drive in two. The Terrains, however, parked away of the Scots lead and felt the score in the seventh with Bob Nobbing with the bases loaded with a bolt (and appendicitis) hitting a line drive to center.

In the ninth, Tom McConville led off with a single and scored on Jim Dennison's follow-up double. With the out, Bob Whier walked and Ron Miller tripled both the bases loaded to give the Scots 9-4 lead. The Terrains, how-

WOOSTER HOSTS AKRON TOMORROW IN FOUR SPORTS

SCOTS HOPE TO REPEAT LAST YEAR’S FOUR WINS

Tomorrow afternoon, the Scots will be hosting rival Akron for the first time in four years. Last year, the Black and Gold were victorious in all four events.

Scots are favored in golf, basketball, gymnastics, and tennis. For anything is liable to happen, one might as well throw the books out the window. The golf, tennis, and track events are slated to begin at 1:00 and the baseball game of 3:00. In all four sports, the Scots have compiled respectable records, thus far this spring.

Golf

Golfers are in Ohio Conference golf last year, the Scots last participated. While sound through graduates, the team comprised of sophomores and freshmen. Akron has taken their losses this year, but they have improved steadily, and with Marlow, Boyd, Cox, Faul, Dennis Murphy, and Al Stevenson are the top three men, with Feen usually playing in the first spot. Mt. Pleasant, Bill Sylve, and Tom Edes are the other three, likely to face the Scots.

Tennis

Both the Scots and the Zips suffered 9-0 postponements at the hands of the same opponent, Kentucky, however, the two teams failed to lose to any of the other men's opponents. Junior Jack Feyden and Doug Smith and Sophomore Danny Berkowitz, the only two who are known to the team around which Coach Joe McCourt is building his team, are the only two freshmen playing their first four matches, the rest will have taken two matches and perhaps two matches. Others who will be placed on the court are Corbin, Marv Bishop, John Connells, and Herb Stein.

Track

Akron is undefeated so far in dual meet competition, but has been unable to come out on top in any of the indoor meets so far. This has come over Odessa, Ashland and Marietta, and bases at Muskingum and Ohio Wesleyan. Coach Tom Finley has four standout runners in the squad. Howard Shum Ford, Mary Ommen Lee and Alan Suter, all out in the hundred, Bob Gill in the half mile and Bob Marlin in the miles. We led the conference record when we took first place in the 300 and high hurdles at the invitational meet last week. A 15.2 second time in the high and a 5.4 second time in the low in the indoor competition this week. We entered a leg of the in a hurdle multipart during the meet with at least 10 days away, and it is not sure whether he will be able to perform.

Adams was second to Lee in the 300 while and has taken up much of the style covered by the three. Adolph has the high jumps, and has cleared 6 feet by this time. Harris is the main threat in the dashes, and has to his credit a double win in the 400. Bob Gill is defending champion in the outdoor mile and will probably be in his best shape yet for tomorrow’s meet. In addition to the Gill, who wins the mile for the Freshmen. Jim Kirk has been the big man for Akron in the shot put and discus.

Baseball

The Zips, with hopes are built around one southpaw Dave Young. In most cases the pitching in the conference last spring was typical of the strength of the conference in athletics with 56 out of 58 innings. Although the Scots east him at first, Van Vlaminck is still expected to be out there with the right, but if coach John Swigart will probably give the right-hander Bill Ashworth the pre-eminence. The Zips lineup. On the batting side of the ledger, another, Dan Lom- bard and second baseman Bill Burnet are the big men, Lombard has two home runs to his credit andBurnet has hit six the Zips have played. Butcher ranked high in batting last year, but has had a rough time of it so far. For this spring. He did, however, hit two out of four at second. We were second to four of his points to victory over Oberlin.

The Scots were scheduled to meet Akron in golf and base- ball on Zip territory prior to the contest. The game, a golf match (see the story on page 11) was won by Wooster, 10 to 4, 1/2. The baseball game, how- ever, was postponed by rain on three successive days and finally had to be cancelled, because it could not be rescheduled.
