Queen Ellie

"It was a genuine surprise," smiled 59-year-old Queen Eleanor Evans of Washington, D.C. "Everyone has been so very helpful to me," she said as her Bakeoff rooters followed her around the city to meet her numerous admirers. Ellie has been the subject of many stories and articles in the local and national press.

Ellie is a native of Enid, Oklahoma, and has been a member of the Washington elite for the past two years. During her tenure as Queen, Ellie has visited every state in the Union, and her presence has been felt in every corner of the nation.

Ellie is a graduate of Harvard University, where she majored in English literature. She is currently working on a novel about the life of a Hollywood starlet in the 1920s.

Ellie is a member of the National Geographic Society, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and the National Women's Press Club. She is also a member of the Women's Auxiliary of the White House.

Ellie is a devout Catholic and a member of the Church of the Holy Name. She has been active in the church's various charitable organizations, including the Children's Hospital and the Washington Free Clinic.

Queen Ellie's reign as Queen of the Shoos has been marked by her dedication to charitable causes and her commitment to the welfare of the community. She has been a tireless worker for the betterment of the city, and her efforts have been recognized by the community, who have named her "Queen of the Year."
Serenade Substitutions
The Men's Serenade Contest is dead—at least for this year. In its place in succeeding years will be determined annually by each MA cabinet.

The coeds particularly will miss the harmonious male voices singing to keep the choral singing tradition. One substitute might be a similarly staged serenade by the women's social clubs. This event, competitive on no-nonsense basis, as decided by the club members, could be organized and produced by R.O.C. A strengthening factor for the contest is that it required practice and sustained attention of the student body at a time other than the October pledging period.

A second suggestion would be a glorified "All-College Sing" in which interested clubs, dormitories, and sections would participate. This event, by the heterogeneous nature of the campus population, would appeal to any student who could come under the jurisdiction of the Student Senate or under a central steering committee composed of representatives of the participating groups.

Serenade Contest has been a healthy tradition. It should be revived and continued on the campus in some form.

SCOTT'S FORUM

Ratatatatat....spilt.....songs....booommmmmm....thump! An unsuccessful Cape Canaveral attempt! Not at all; just the hum of an ordinary day at Severance Hall, now in the throes of a 13-month renovation program.

The Voice wishes to take this opportunity to express its appreciation for the many students who have been under torture in connection with this phase of the Centennial Building Program: for the students who must study and attend classes in the temporary dormitories; for the students who must juggle classes and studying; for the builders who must continue to work while competing with hurrying students for the latest edition of refreshments; and for all the students, in the temporary dormitories, who must continue to work while competing with hurrying students for the latest edition of refreshments.

We mean the pro who, when calmly lecturing to his second-hour organic class, must suddenly raise his voice several decibels in order to reach the first row of students over the sudden noise of airhummers. We are talking about the man who must conduct his giant analysis labs in the midst of disorders, with rawhewl falling in the equipment and build- ing-shaking roars joggling his balances. We praise the courage of the professor who daily risks life and limb on floors pad- tured with holes just waiting to snatch an unsuspecting leg or swallow a piece of equipment accidentally dropped. Honor goes to these men and, of course, to their students, who slip and scrape, who fall and rise, who work and get learning, who work and get learning, who work and get learning.

"The Great Sebastian"
by Barbara Frederic

"The Great Sebastian" is written as a vehicle for Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne. It is a delightful invitation for the mind readers whose act is a fake as the constricted plot in which they are involved. It is a "quivering charlatan" and Rod, "the delirious faker." They find themselves mind reading their way out of political situations and tight "plot" situations in Prague, Germany only with their "rudes" where "quickly" means "key." The play, with all its inconveniences of acts and scenes, is a background for a great theatrical use.

A notation on the program states, "With us on some occasions and otherwise simply to entertain." There are many ways one can discover a man and yet grow more ways to do so.

"The Great Sebastian" makes absolutely no attempt at appeal to your intellect. For effect you must see it, the same must be seen.

The most important question concerning the Little Theatre, that is, whether we are ready for a college community of something simple to entertain. The question is now to be answered.

Any good art form must be a balance of the necessary elements which constitute the work. The college plays may be quite amusing but without something being laughable — and that, unvarnished laugh — from the College faculty.

Wooster's production of "The Great Sebastian" was complicated with a cast too large for the stage, a great number of unnecessary players, and an only adequate set. At times the result resembled a junior class play. Judith French and Don Stauffer as Erie and Rod Sebastian face a major difficulty at the outset. They are not Lunt and Fontanne, and unfortunately the play, as a tour de force for synthesis of talent, is not perfect for the college's talent and resources. Miss French and Mr. Stauffer can in no way carry the play without its distinct demerits.

You do see with some degree of proficiency. Mr. Stauffer's moment of intensity, that his facial expression was of such quality that I would have been content to watch him all evening. The same can be said for the role of Mr. Ramsey.

One of the true values of the Little Theatre production was the opportunity it presented of the Brothers of the Great Sebastian" gave the Wooster audience glimpses of many new faces. Here is the chance to see different faces in such opportunities so that any theatre program can be kept alive. Unfortunately many of the roles are so unimportant, or limited in the abilities of the line players. However, their efforts are necessary in developing that interest that can participate in the Little Theatre program to the benefit of the entire campus.

Homecoming Activities Fill New Colonial College Inn
by Ann McKechnie

"Homecoming activities were held at the College during which the new Wooster Inn will be filled to capacity," said Mr. Robert Ramsey, manager of the Inn.

A breakfast was held for Parents' Day Weekend, and Color Day Weekend, and Comprehensive Dinner Weekend.

In addition to Robert E. Wilson, primarily serves alumni and gives them a chance to see the College, although it is open to the public. The next event is more formal.

Several dedication ceremonies for the Inn will be held on Sunday, October 10. The dedication will be held on the Inn space in the Inn, the group will be followed by those friends of Mr. Wilson's who helped in the building.

The Inn will be closed to regular inn patrons until Sunday after church on Sunday.

Space is limited in the Inn. Those desiring to have a private bath, and the day's special menu with 84 guests. Private dining rooms seating from 18 to 30 guests will be available.

This series of events from Friday through Sunday is open to the public, and there will be a special dinner menu.

Several events are scheduled for the Inn, and the group will be followed by those friends of Mr. Wilson's who helped in the building.

The Inn will be closed to regular inn patrons until Sunday after church on Sunday.

In the living rooms, which is the present of the Inn, there is a separate dining room for private dinners. The menu is limited to a fixed menu of 18 courses.

Interior decorating was superintended by Mrs. Alice Hughes and Mr. Coleman Cleveland. The decor in early influence is keeping with the architecture of the Inn. All bed rooms and public rooms are furnished in a manner that creates several ornamental points in the living rooms. The rooms of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are painted red, and there is some service silver.

Several other events are scheduled for the Inn, and the group will be followed by those friends of Mr. Wilson's who helped in the building.

The Inn will be closed to regular inn patrons until Sunday after church on Sunday.

Woosterians-of-India
Return To Annual Meal
by James Griffin

A glance at the schedule of events reveals that Wooster-in-India is also contributing to the gentility and hurley-burley of Homecoming Week. To start the ball rolling and put retail past to India, spoke in Ohio in the morning. Tomorrow is highlighted by a reunion of 10 former Wooster-in-India representatives. All Indians who are interested in the WII program are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to speak with the past representatives. The informal get-together will take place in the Union Club Room from 11 to 12 noon.

Plan Sunday Dinner
On Sunday, Oct. 18, Jack Dickson, the latest returning representative to India, will lead the Maineville, Ohio, on Sunday evening all on campus are invited to take part in the annual Wooster-in-India dinner at 5 p.m. in Lower Knoke.

A tip of traditional Indian dials, curry, sweet & spicy, will be served and eaten in an Indian manner. Since John Leader is the head chef, everyone can look forward to the flavor of North India cooking.

The speaker at this year’s dinner will be Brindaban Chaubey, an Indian student who attended Ewing Christian College while still studying here in the States. The dinner may be brought to the door.

Secretary Sparks Campaign
The WII Foundation in Ohio begins Monday, Oct. 19, with the chapel address by John Buthler, WII representative. On Tuesday evening, the speaker will be Mr. Malhar Jagesh. Press Secretary at the Indian Consulate, who will speak during chapel.

Mr. Jagesh arrives on campus Saturday for a four-day stay. He will begin his campaign on Monday and it is hoped the students will be able to meet and talk with him.

Dormitory Directives Serves in Dual Role

Miss Kathy Peters, Director of Dormitories, has been praised by students for her ability to balance the interests of the residents, the administration and the College. Peters will retain her post as resident advisor of residence halls.

The Board's action concerning Miss Peters, stated President Lowery, "recognizes the unusual ability of the individuals responsible for the planning and construction of College buildings. These individuals have responsibility to students who have worked with them to make their College experience a meaningful one. MISS Peters has administered in a manner that will share the satisfaction of her College in her new assignment.

The following year the resuming of Hidden Hall was in June, and this became her major building project at Wooster. Working with the Board and Grounds Committee of Board of Trustees, Miss Peters has had a leading part in the renovation of Maclay-Dawkins, Campus, Andrews, and Wooster Dormitory buildings and the old Arnold Lodge and Douglas Hall.

A native of Cincinnati, Miss Peters had completed a major in child psychology at the University of Florida. Her marriage and home management Florida.

For several years, Miss Peters was active in a firm specialty in remodeling, equipping, and furnishing of Church buildings. Immediately before that, she was the Girlfriend of the President, and before that, she was with the General Electric Company.

Miss Peters left Goodyear to enter the Wooster College faculty and labor management in Florida. After retiring from labor management in Florida, she returned to the College and has now completely

Scotts Night Watchmen Guard Wooster Campus

Two campus personalities who have been around for a long time but who are not well-known are Bill Wagner and Bill Rutter, both of whom have been at Wooster for about 13 years, while Rutter has been with the campus for 18 years. They are both nearly a lifetime here at Wooster.

In the summer of 1961, Bill Wagner and his wife moved to Wooster to work as the college’s night watchmen. Their job is to keep the campus safe and secure, ensuring that all is well at night.

Bill Rutter, on the other hand, has been at Wooster since 1963, working as the maintenance supervisor. His role is to oversee the campus’s maintenance and cleaning operations. He is responsible for ensuring that the building’s systems are functioning properly and that the campus is clean and tidy.

The couple’s dedication to their jobs has earned them the respect and admiration of the Wooster community. They are often seen as the “face of Wooster’s security,” and their presence is reassuring to students and faculty alike.

VOLUNTEER PARLEY INVITES DELEGATES

This year, the Volunteer Parley is calling on delegates from the United States and Canada to represent their countries. The event aims to promote multicultural understanding and foster international goodwill.

The Volunteer Parley is a unique initiative that brings together volunteers from around the world to exchange ideas and experiences. It provides an opportunity for delegates to learn about different cultures and to share their own knowledge and perspectives.

The Volunteer Parley is open to all volunteers, regardless of age, background, or nationality. It is a great opportunity to meet new people and to make meaningful connections.

The Volunteer Parley is an event that brings together people from all over the world to celebrate their differences and to learn from each other. It is a chance to build bridges and to create a more connected and understanding world.

The Volunteer Parley is an event that celebrates diversity and encourages understanding. It is a chance to learn from others and to share your own knowledge and experiences.

The Volunteer Parley is an event that promotes peace and understanding. It is a chance to build friendships and to create a more harmonious world.

The Volunteer Parley is an event that is open to everyone. It is a chance to meet new people and to make meaningful connections.

WCW Commences Broadcast Schedule
On Oct. 18, WCW, the campus radio station, will begin its 11th broadcasting year. The station is located in Taylor Hall and is under the direction of Mr. Win- ford B. Logan.

WCW will continue its non-commercial programming for the 1963-64 academic year. The station will originate a variety of programs of classical music, inter- esting talks, music for children, and panel dis- cussions. The station will also be a broadcast- ing outlet to educational programs from other countries.

The new WCW features this year is the broadcasting of the Viceroy horse races on Sunday night students' radio and television studio. This series was recently presented with Mr. Logan, head of the music department. There will also be a weekly program re- titled "Objective" which is presented by the American Chemical Society.

Scotts Dump Denison, 22-15 As Papp Scores 16 Points

By Tom McGinnis
House Man! Three wins in a row and a share of the Ohio Conference lead for Coach Phil Shippe's come-from-behind Fighting Scots.

Training by scores of 7 to 5 and 15 to 4, the never-say-die-Scotts did it again last week.

Lade from Wooster, sparked by backcourt Johnny Peppeck's 20 points, 19 rebounds, clutched back to cap- ture their 15th win of the season. The triumph over the Big Red of Denison 51-38 marked the second consecutive football fans in Denison Univer- sity's Duck's Field last Saturday afternoon.

The weatherman also came through in the clutch, providing the undefeated 'Scots with a perfect 6-0 perfect for the season.

The victory was a major step in the 1963-64 season of Coach Eddy Zepplin's Fighting Scots.

Under the terms of a 30-1-1 record compared to Denison's 1-5-1, Scotts have held the lead in the Ohio Conference, and in their last two league contests. Saturday's victory over the Big Red (29-1-1) and tonight's over the Granville team, 31-14, gives Scotts a 5-1-1 half of the league.

Favored Akron Out To Spoil Scot Homecoming

Strong Passing Attack Features John Stone

Returning home to Severance Stadium at 2 p.m. tomorrow after two straight Saturdays at other schools, the Wooster Scots will face a rugged Akron team that has been heating some of the most powerful squads in the Ohio Conference. The annual Akron game has always been a big one for the Scots, since many of Wooster's players come from the Rubber City and play on their high school football team with or against the Akronites. Year after year his head coach Jim McMullen and his staff turn out a strong team.

Sports 3-1 Stale

This year's team has lost only to Ohio Wesleyan, while beating Heidelberg, Mount Union, and mighty Muskingum. Led by dual-quarterback John Stone, the Zips are the third best passing team in the conference, averaging 117 yards a game through the air. At the ends are lettermen Bruce Mack and Tom Adolph. Rock Mullins and Paul Marzwick are at the tackles. The middle of the Zip line is well experienced with Ron Fice, Joe Roth and Jim Smeds.

Third, Seventh Still Unbeaten In Kenadren League Action

Posting another victory in last week's action, Third Section, with a perfect 4-0-0-0 record, remained ahead of the nine team field in the intramural league. The program entered its last two weeks of competition.

Seventh, adding its 11th and 12th straight wins over a three year span, remained in close contention.

Third's victory at the hands of a scrappy Eighth Section squad was a 12-0 decision.

Wimbish, Jones, Senior Debators, Defend Schools

Two Wooster Session will tackle a pair of debaters from Cambridge University Tuesday evening at 8:30 in the Chapel. Christine Jones and Nancy Wimbish will attempt to defend the status of American education by taking the negative position on the propositions. "Resolved that the American High School is the cradle of American greatness."

Cambridge Affirmative

Taking the affirmative side of the topic will be the two Cambridge debaters, Miss. Julian Greenfell and Roger Warren Evans. Christine and Nancy have been active in debate through their college career. Christine was awarded the Perley Bowser speech prize in her freshman year for being the most outstanding speaker in her class.

Miss Greenfell spent three years at King's College, Cambridge. He is interested in politics, journalism, and the theater. His future plans include going into British politics or television.

Mr. Warren Evans received a B.A. degree from Trinity College, Cambridge. His interests include politics, law, and folk music, and he plans to become a university teacher.

The Cambridge team is debating on an almost nightly schedule across the eastern half of the country. The tour began on Oct. 1 and will end two weeks before Christmas and will have 37 speeches.

The team is debating at five Ohio schools in as many days. Besides Wooster the team is going to the University of Akron, Oberlin College, Ohio Wesleyan University and Bowing Green State University.

Drumhills Coordinator

Mr. Garbe, Drumhills Coordinator of the Department of Speech, is the organizer of the debate at Wooster. He worked through the Institute of International Education in bringing the program to the Hill. The last similar debate here was two years ago when two men from Oxford University included Wooster in their tour.

They include "Resolved! that the American policy in the Middle East has been in the best interests of the Arab nations" where the Cambridge debaters are taking the negative side, and "Resolved! that the Commander Whitehead does not adequately represent the British way of life," where the English men have taken the positive positions.

Everyone is invited to attend the program.
