MIT Philosophy Prof Houston Smith Speaks Here Under Auspices Of SCA

Dr. Houston Smith, professor of philosophy at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will be the visiting SCA lecturer Wednesday.

This lecturer has devoted himself to exploring the revolutionary currents in Western thought of the last 50 years, and to the development of his own thought in his career to intellectual guilds: Between East and West, between the frontiers of education of the classroom and room and informal education via television.

Not a native of Indiana, but of Egyptian parents in Sowatch, Indiana, and a native of that state until the age of five, Dr. Smith's early years provided an environment adapted for substantial research in his special field of philosophical sciences and religions.

More recently, a seven-month trip around the world in 1957 enabled him to study the cultures of 19 countries.

Spirit of Dogpatch Past

Let us give a vote of thanks to those members of the faculty and student body who have served well and Dogpatch in the spirit in which they were created.

The sections work long and hard to create characters to mimic the fantasy. While Bill Bickell and Jeanne McFadden have contributed good and fun results as each candidate vies for the crown of Dogpatch.

Collegians View Candidates, Issues

by Barbara Ellis Pegg

The 1960 election will be remembered by historians. I think as the year two young, impulsive, ambitious men run for presidency—and avoid the biggest opportunity of the campaign for their own personal gain. Each has a campaign theme. Nixon goes on to say, "This is not what we should do as Americans as we face our problems. We should not allow a candidate to be labeled as a 'pseudo.'" His theme is "Washington Is Not American by Politics." He'll Oil his theme repeatedly. Nixon has not been re-elected. The theme to be presented to the campus is "The Presidents." Nixon says, "I'll Oil my theme until the campaign is over."

"The basic theme that I'll Oil my theme with is the need for young people to be involved. We need their help in running this country. The young people are the future of this country. They are the ones who will be affected by the decisions that are made."

"The crushing pressure of 2,000,000 psi"

At the General Motors Research Laboratories the 600-ton tetrahedral press exerts duplicate pressures which exist 600 miles beneath the earth's surface. The purpose is to study the combined effect of ultra-high pressure and temperature on the physical and chemical properties of known materials with an eye toward improving their properties or even creating new materials.

What happens to solids at pressures of 2,000,000 psi and 7,000 degrees F? General Motors has the research facilities required to answer these questions. In addition, GM offers experience and diversification to produce the young scientists and engineers with unlimited opportunity.

Automotive research, production engineering and manufacturing, electronics and automation are just a few of the many technical areas offered. You will be given every opportunity to concentrate on one, or if your interests are varied you may move into other disciplines. You will be in a position to tackle big jobs at GM because this is where important things are being done. It's your lifetime and it is ours as well.

Come and visit us at the General Motors Research Laboratories. Ask what kind of career opportunities exist for you. It may be the career you were looking for.
